Preface

In 1968 we interviewed relatives, made a few searches, and distributed to our family a short “Fisher-Thornton Family History.” We had managed to discover and record our Texas and Oklahoma Fisher ancestry back to the Iowa Quaker Cephas Fisher, born in 1812 in Ohio, with parents somewhere in Pennsylvania. We had also identified several generations of our other Fisher ancestral branches, including the Long, Kelly, Van Tassel, Davis, Harp, Hartman and other families. At that point, we left off the research to concentrate on raising our children.

In 1976, we obtained the newly-completed “Isaac Thornton (1817 - 1906), His Descendants and Some of His Forebears,” by Beatrice Thornton Keeling and Wanda Willard Smith, which traces the Thorntons to the English immigrant Hosea Thornton, born about 1695.

In 1992, we resumed the Fisher research when our daughter, Laura Armer, discovered the genealogy of Cephas Fisher Sr. of Ohio, in the Mormon ancestral file. We soon established our connection from Cephas Fisher Jr. and began to locate and study additional sources in the Mormon family history catalog. We learned that our Fisher line had been studied before and was known back to Thomas Fisher and wife Elizabeth Huntley, in the early years of the Pennsylvania Colony. We began a new study and resolved to produce a new Fisher family history, documenting not only our Fisher relatives of the present and recent generations, but also telling the story of who our Fisher ancestors were and how they lived. We decided to include basic information on the Thorntons, but to leave the Thornton story to the Keeling-Smith book.

In the Mormon family history catalog, we discovered genealogies done by William Logan Fisher in 1839, T. M. Potts in 1895, Anna Wharton Smith in 1896, B. F. Cummings in 1898, Pauline Leslie in 1960, and Thelma Fisher in 1978 which addressed the genealogy of the early Fishers of Pennsylvania. Pauline Leslie seems to have been the first to work out the descendancy from Thomas Fisher to the Ohio Fishers. We first studied the source records, verified that the descendancy from Thomas is provable, and scoured the records for details to take the story beyond the previous works. Then, in checking the ancestry proposed for Thomas, it became obvious that no one had correctly identified his parents.

After several years of painstaking study, I believed in 1996 that I had found Thomas Fisher’s parents, who would be our ancestral immigrants, and produced the first edition of this book. I ruled out some of the published assertions and narrowed the possibilities for the ancestral connections. I now have accumulated much more information and have a better understanding of who Thomas Fisher might have been. I have removed most of the information that turned out not to be relevant to my line, and placed it in “The First Fishers of Pennsylvania.” For those who may want to see the larger collection of research notes, see “Searching for Thomas Fisher of Chester County, Pennsylvania.”

In other volumes, we have shared all the old photographs we could locate for these families; and produced histories of the Francis Standfield, Samuel Standfield, and William Huntley families of Pennsylvania.

As promised in 1996, we have placed the completed results of our research in the Latter Day Saints (Mormon) Family History Library, at the Clayton Genealogical Library in Houston, Texas, and other places. The Mormon library catalog can be consulted at any of the numerous Mormon churches which have Family History Centers, or at the Mormon library at Salt Lake City, Utah. We now have a website which contains all of our findings and books, at www.cephasfisher.com.

Descendants and Ancestors of Cephas Fisher Jr.

Introduction

Cephas Fisher Jr.

Cephas Fisher Jr. was my grandfather's grandfather. In the 1960s my grandfather told me of his childhood memories of his grandfather, who died in 1895. He said his grandfather had an unusual name, Cephas, and came from a Quaker family that used "thee" and "thou" in their speech. That sparked an interest in our family history which I have pursued ever since. I chose Cephas Fisher Jr. as a focus point, researching his descendants down to my generation, and then his ancestors as far back as possible. In 1996, I put together what I had found as the first edition of this book. This edition brings the story up to date. -- J.L. Fisher

Our Fisher ancestors were Quakers (Society of Friends) for many generations, as early as 1713 and possibly as far back as the 1600's when the movement was being spread by its English founder, George Fox. Quakerism persisted in our family through Samuel Fisher (1857-1930). Living relatives have described to us the Biblical speech and Quaker beliefs of Samuel and his father, Cephas A. Fisher Jr. Although we have learned that there are cousins in Ohio and elsewhere who are still Friends, Cephas Jr. was the last adult member in our branch, and Samuel was the last in our direct line to be raised in a Quaker family. It is in large part due to the Quaker associations that historians, genealogists, and family chroniclers have left a rich body of documentation concerning our family. The numerous meeting records which we have located are testimony to the devotion of generations of Fishers to the Quaker way of life. The work ethic and values of the Quakers are still to be seen in our family, several generations removed from the last affiliation with the Friends.

Our ancestry is provable through many generations. Starting with my father, Woodford Pascal Fisher (1911 -1990), whose family is contemporary to this book, was born in Alfalfa County, Oklahoma, and married Dorothy Berneice Kelly, born in 1915 at May, Oklahoma. Woodford was the son of Florance Clinton Fisher Sr. (1886 -1967), born at Jewel City, Kansas, and Grace Minett Long (1890 - 1969), born at Crawfordsville, Indiana.

Florance was the son of Samuel Fisher (1857 -1930), born in Clinton County, Indiana, near Frankfort, and Effie Van Tassel (1863 - 1912), born at Tipton, Indiana.

Samuel was the son of Cephas A. Fisher Jr. (1812 -1895), born in Clinton County, Ohio, near New Vienna, and Mary Hoskins (1822 - 1870), born in Clinton County, Ohio.

Cephas Jr. was the son of Cephas Fisher Sr. (1780 - 1863), born in York County, Pennsylvania, and Rachel Stanfield (1785 - 1840), probably born in Greene County, Tennessee.

Cephas Sr. was the son of James Fisher Jr. (1744 -1823), born at East Caln in Chester County, Pennsylvania, and Jane Atkinson (1753 - 1829), born in Bucks County, Pennsylvania.

James was the son of James Fisher Sr. (1714 - 1775), born near Kennett, in Chester County, Pennsylvania, and Alice Standfield (1713 - 1788), born near Lurgan, in the north of Ireland.

James Sr. was the son of Thomas Fisher (ca. 1690 - 1747), birthplace unknown but possibly Chichester Township, Chester County, Pennsylvania, and Elizabeth Huntley, (1692 - ca. 1762), born in Birmingham Township, Chester County, Pennsylvania.

Thomas was a son of immigrants from the British Isles.

Thomas (Sr.?) obtained the Fisher land in Kennett/Pennsbury, Chester County Pa in early 1701, 12 years before Thomas Fisher & Elizabeth Huntley were married, suggesting that there was a Thomas Sr. who came by March of 1701 (or who possibly obtained the land through an agent while still abroad).

The Fisher Line of Descent

Twelve Generations Plus

The ancestral line may have come from the Fishers of Dronfield, near Chesterfield in Derbyshire. Thomas Fisher of Dronfield (b. abt 1575) married Margerie Abney Jan 14, 1600. Their son Robert was born Jun 4, 1613. His son Thomas, born Mar 27, 1642, married Helen Raworth Apr 20, 1663, and had children who appear to be namesakes of the Chester County Fisher children. Thomas, youngest of the children of Thomas and Helen, was born Sep 24, 1685, when his father was 43 years old. He may have been (II.), Thomas Fisher of Chester County. The lineage:

- I. Thomas Fisher (m. Helen Raworth, 1663) ? b. (1642, Dronfield, Derbyshire)

- II. Thomas Fisher (m. Elizabeth Huntley, 1713) b. ca 1685, British Isles or Colonies

- III. James Fisher (m. Alice Standfield, 1736) b. 1714 Chester Co., Pa.

- IV. James Fisher (m. Jane Atkinson, 1775) b. 1744 Chester Co., Pa.

- V. Cephas Fisher Sr. (m. Rachel Standfield, 1803) b. 1780 York Co., Pa.

The Migration

In order to give a general picture of the migrations of our Fisher family, in 1996 we constructed the following timeline from the records.

In 1682, John Fisher of Lancashire was the first Fisher to arrive in Pennsylvania. In 1996, we thought that other researchers had connected our line to this family, but the sources were found to be in error.

By 1698, about 5 Fisher families had immigrated to Pennsylvania. We have not been able to connect to any of them with certainty, other than Thomas Fisher of Chester County.

In March of 1701, Thomas Fisher (Sr.?) received a joint land grant, with Thomas Robinson, signed by William Penn for land "near the Brandywine," which was surveyed in eastern Kennett Township (now Pennsbury). The survey matches later deeds of our Thomas Fisher. This was found after the 1996 edition of this book.

In 1713, Thomas Fisher (Jr.?) married in Concord Township, Chester County, then moved a year later a short distance westward across the Brandywine Creek to Kennett (Pennsbury), where all his children were born and the three oldest were married.

In 1741, Thomas moved his family to East Caln (now the West Brandywine part), Chester County.

In 1762, Thomas's son, James, moved westward to the central Pennsylvania back country, near Harrisburg. He settled at Newberry, York County. James' son, James Jr. married at the nearby Warrington Friends meeting house, and lived at Monahan, in the same area. Son Cephas was born there in 1778.

In 1789, at the end of the Revolutionary War, Cephas left York County, Pennsylvania with his father's family and a number of other Quaker families, and started down the Appalachian Trail. They checked in with Quaker meetings along the way, first at Hopewell, Frederick County, Virginia and then at Westfield Meeting in North Carolina in Guildford/Surry County near the Virginia border, and on to Greene County, Tennessee where they settled. Cephas married in Greene County in 1803. James and son Cephas then went with their families in 1804 to settle in Highland County, Ohio, near East Monroe. There James Jr. lived the rest of his life. Cephas lived all his adult life in the same area, not far from East Monroe, at Lees Creek, Clinton County, Ohio.

About 1851, Cephas's son, Cephas Jr., married in Ohio and moved near Frankfort, Clinton County, Indiana where son Samuel was born.

In 1868, Cephas Jr. and family moved to Henry County, Iowa, where Cephas stayed until his death.

In 1880, Cephas Jr.'s son Samuel went to Jewell County, Kansas and married there. He moved back and forth between Iowa and Jewell County, Kansas, then moved from Iowa to Helena, Oklahoma by covered wagon, about 1897.

In 1907, Samuel's son, Florance Clinton Sr. married at Enid, Oklahoma and raised his family at Haskell and Morris, Oklahoma.

In 1931, Florance's son, Woodford Pascal Fisher Sr. married at Medicine Lodge, Kansas and lived briefly in Oklahoma, Missouri, Louisiana, and east Texas before settling in Mexia, Texas where he remained until his death in 1990.

In 2010, the surviving children of Woodford Pascal Fisher Sr. all live in Texas.

Some Early Fishers

The earliest known record of a Fisher family in England is that of Henricus Piscator (fisher), at the time of William the Conqueror. Robert le Fyscer and Margary le Fischere were in Buckshire in 1273. William the Fisher lived at Thele in 1289. There were four recorded Fishers in Yorkshire in 1379 (Ibota Fischer, Alicia Fyssher, Willelmus Fysher, and Hugo Fysscher).

John Fisher, Roman Catholic scholar and theologian, Bishop of Rochester, was beheaded by Henry VIII and is now Saint John Fisher. He came from the East Yorkshire Fishers at Beverly.

Mary Fisher was a zealot Quaker who went to Barbados and arrived at Boston in 1656 aboard the “Swallow,” being the first Quaker to arrive in America. Her trunk of books was burned on Boston Commons, by order of Governor Endicott, and she was sent back to Barbados. She gained notoriety in 1660 by traveling to Adrianople, Turkey and attempting to convert Sultan Mohammed IV to Quakerism.

Another well-known English Quaker was Samuel Fisher, a Baptist minister from Kent who converted in 1655. He was arrested in London in 1658 for publishing Quaker tracts, and went to Rome in 1659 to attempt conversion of Roman Catholic cardinals and friars. He died in White Lion Prison in Southwark in 1663.

A John Fisher, an early Quaker in Yorkshire, signed a petition to Yorkshire members of Parliament in 1678 for a more fair treatment of the Quakers. Some of the Fishers of Pennsylvania seem to be linked by associations with signers of the petition. Two signers were the brothers George and Thomas Hutchinson, who emigrated and settled in New Jersey. In 1689, George Hutchinson’s daughter Mary married James Standfield of Marple near Philadelphia, an uncle of our ancestor Elizabeth Huntley Fisher. A John Fisher from Barmstone, East Yorkshire came to Bucks County about 1700. He was a son of John Fisher and Sarah Hutchinson of East Yorkshire.

William Dollarhide, in “British Origins of American Colonists, 1629-1775,” cites statistics showing that most (but not all) of the early immigrants to Pennsylvania and Delaware had roots in the North Midland regions of England, including Cheshire, Lancashire, Yorkshire, Derbyshire, and Nottinghamshire. Our Fisher immigrants may have had similar origins. Even Joseph Fisher, who came from Dublin County in Ireland, was originally from Cheshire. A large Fisher family at Dronfield, near Chesterfield in Derbyshire, had a Thomas Fisher, son of Thomas, whose children seem to be namesakes of the Fisher children in Chester County, Pennsylvania.

Only one of the earliest Fishers who settled along the Delaware River (Denis, of Salem, West Jersey), is known to have come from the south of England (Chichester and Portsmouth, in Hampshire). Anyone studying the early Fishers of Pennsylvania should consult “The First Fishers of Pennsylvania and Adjacent Counties,” by J.L. Fisher. The following is a summary of some of the families covered in that volume.

The Mersey River Fishers (North Cheshire & South Lancashire)

A Thomas Fisher came to Pennsylvania aboard the “Vine” in 1684 from Walton-On-The-Hill near Liverpool in Lancashire, as a servant to the Quaker Henry Baker. This immigrant has been studied as a possible relative of the Chester County Fishers. Thomas, passenger on the “Vine,” may have been the one born 7 April 1668 at Garston, near Walton-on-the-Hill; orphaned at age 10. His parents could have been Thomas Fisher and Catharine Dwarrihouse Fisher, who were married at Garston (in Childwall Parish) near Liverpool and Walton, in 1657. The Bakers settled in Newtown and Makefield Townships in Bucks County, then Henry’s son Nathan Baker moved to Concord Township in 1706, where our ancestors Thomas Fisher and Elizabeth Huntley were married in 1713. Nathan Baker’s land in Concord adjoined that of Francis Chadsey, an uncle of Elizabeth Huntley Fisher. One of Thomas Fisher’s fellow servants on the “Vine,” John Hurst, was taken up by Francis Standfield, grandfather of Elizabeth Huntley Fisher.

Joseph Fisher, a major “first purchaser” of 5000 acres of Penn’s land in Philadelphia, came from Stilorgan in Dublin County, Ireland but was “late of Elton, Cheshire,” on the banks of the Mersey River opposite Garston, Lancashire. Joseph arrived with wife Elizabeth and children Moses, Joseph, Mary and Martha on the “Lion” of Liverpool on 14 8M 1683. Joseph Fisher left a Philadelphia will in 1714. Joseph Fisher Jr. of Dublin Township, Bucks County, left a Philadelphia will in 1717 naming wife Mary and daughters Isobel, Martha and Mary. In the neighborhood of Stilorgan, Elizabeth Fisher married Thomas Robinson, both episcopals of Carrickmaine, in 1672 (possibly the same as Thomas Robinson who joined our ancestor Thomas Fisher in a land warrant in 1701 in Kennett, Chester County Pa.)

John Fisher of Springfield (the one in north Philadelphia County) left a will in 1716 naming wife Katharine, sons John and Joseph (land in Upper Dublin Township), eldest daughter Mary Regen and youngest daughter Sarah. Possibly related to the Joseph Fisher family from Ireland.

George Fisher came from Cork, Ireland in 1685, as a servant to the surveyor Jasper Farmer (Captain/Major), and is presumed to be the same George Fisher who bought a “kitchen and half-lot” in the city of Chester in 1688. It is not known if he was related to George Fisher who was on the Nottingham tax list for Chester County in 1729. Any descendants are unknown.

The Delaware Fishers

John Fisher came to Philadelphia in 1682. He had a wife Margaret Hindle Fisher, and children Thomas, John, James, Annie, Sarah, Rachel and Alice. Attempts have been made to connect this family to our ancestors of Chester County, but research shows that the supposed connections were in error. John and Margaret settled in Sussex County, near what is now Lewes, Delaware.

William Fisher of Sussex County was a probable son or relative of John and Margaret Fisher, not mentioned in John’s will or the family memoirs. William owned land jointly in Sussex County with Thomas Fisher, son of the immigrant John. William and Thomas had numerous connections at Lewes and were referred to as “the two Fishers” in the estate settlement of James Standfield in 1699. Although James Standfield was an uncle of Elizabeth Huntley Fisher, our ancestor, a family connection is unlikely. In early Sussex County court records, “William Fisher” was sometimes styled “gentleman” or “Esquire,” of Philadelphia, and sometimes as “planter, Sussex County,” presumed to be William Sr. and William Jr. William “Esquire,” who had a wife Rebecca and son Elias, died in 1725. A son John probably belonged to William Jr. William does not seem to appear in any Quaker records.

Adam Fisher of Kent County was probably born at Rappahannock, near the border between Virginia and Maryland. His father died in the 1670s, leaving a widow Susannah and children Adam and Susan Fisher. Susannah married Robert Bedwell of Rappahannock, a widower with children Thomas, Robert, Henry, Mary, and Elizabeth Bedwell. About 1680, Robert and Susannah moved to Kent County, Delaware. Their first land there was on St. Jones Creek (aka Dover River). This could be a relative of Adam Fisher who married Dorothy Cutberd at Rotherham, Yorkshire May 21, 1666. Records of Sussex County, Delaware include: “Susan Fisher, daughter-in-law to Robert Bedwell of Kent County, died in 8th month 1683. Adam’s will was probated 18 May 1725, in Kent County. Named in the will were wife Mary Molleston Fisher, sons John, Adams, Joseph, Molleston, and Isaac; and daughters Susannah (Edmonds) and Sarah (Morgan). (Not named was another apparent daughter, Mary Walker.) Witnesses were John Newell, John Sipple, and Abraham Morriss. In 1698, Thomas Fisher (son of the immigrant John Fisher) acted as attorney for Richard Williams in a land sale. Richard Williams witnessed the will of Thomas Fisher (son of the immigrant John) in 1713. Richard Williams Jr. was made a ward of Adam Fisher in 1704. In 1701, James and Hercule Coutts, trading partners of James Standfield (uncle of Elizabeth Huntley Fisher), testified in a case against John Williams concerning the death of Thomas Williams (assumed to be parent of the orphaned Richard Williams). Adam Fisher’s widow seems to have remarried, to -- Little, and died in 1748. Adam Fisher does not seem to appear in any Quaker records.

North Midlands Fishers (England)

A John Fisher came to Philadelphia in 1700 from Pardshaw Crag, in Cumberland, northwest England, settled in Philadelphia County, and may have had a wife named Sarah. Children are believed to be Sarah, John, Hannah, Love and Mary.

A John Fisher of Barmstone, in east Yorkshire, came for a visit about 1700 and lost all his possessions to pirates as his ship prepared to depart for England. He remained in Bucks County, and had many descendants, who are well-documented. He married first Mary Hough Janney, daughter of John and Hannah Hough and widow of Jacob Janney, and had a daughter Mary. Children of second wife Elizabeth Scarborough were Robert, Sarah, John, Elizabeth, Hannah, John, Deborah, Barak, and Katherine. A conjecture by B. F. Cummings in 1898 that our ancestor Thomas Fisher was of this family, is disproven by the Hull meeting records of Yorkshire, which show the death of that Thomas in 1735.

South Midlands Fishers (England)

William Fisher came from Ross, in Herefordshire, in 1684. Children of William and wife Bridgett Hodgkins were William, Mary, Sarah, Samuel, and Millicent. William Jr. and wife Tabitha Janney had children William, Thomas, Elizabeth, and Millicent. Descendants have been identified in "Genealogies of Pennsylvania Families." (See also Philadelphia wills for William Sr. (1728) and William Jr. (1734).)

Denis Fisher, a shipbuilder, and wife Susannah were married in 1666 at All Saints, Chichester in Sussex. They had a son George, born in 1667 at St. Thomas, Portsmouth in Hampshire. Denis purchased 500 acres on Monmouth River, N. Jersey, in 1684. He died in Salem Township in 1690. His will names wife Susannah, children Henry, Elizabeth and John; grandchildren Susannah Fisher, Henry Fisher, and Elizabeth Fisher. They do not appear in the Quaker records. Sussex County, Delaware records include: "Susannah Fisher, wife of Denis Fisher, midwife for Norton and Rachel Claypoole, 11th month 1683."

Thomas Fisher, son of Thomas and Helen of Dronfield, near Chesterfield in Derbyshire, was born in 1685. His siblings James, Susannah, Samuel and Elizabeth Fisher could have been namesakes of some of the Fisher children in Chester County, Pennsylvania. The Dronfield Fishers can be traced in the parish records from Thomas and Margerie Fisher of Dronfield, married in 1600. No record has been found to prove that they were ancestors of the Chester County Fishers.

Untraced Fishers in Pennsylvania

A William Fisher was a charter member of the Pennypack Baptist Church in north Philadelphia; baptized in the Pennypack Creek in 1687.

A William Fisher acted as attorney for Elizabeth Andross (Andrews), widow of Thomas Andrews of Philadelphia, when she bought a lot in Thornbury Township, Chester County, in 1695.

Francis Fisher, a mariner from Bristol, England, made many trading voyages to America in the late 1600's and called at Philadelphia on at least one occasion.

A John Fisher served on a coronor's jury in 1698 at Chester, when John Barnstill of Newcastle was blown overboard from a ferry going from Chester to Philadelphia. Other jurors were Phillip Roman, James Browne, William Clayton, Nathaniell Lamplugh, Robert Carter, John Kinsman, Thomas Varnon, James Hendrixson, William Hewes, John Hendrixs, and James Baylis. He may be the same as John Fisher, a hatter who lived at Chichester with wife Barbara, who died in March 1701. (Note: Fishers Corner is between Chichester and Concord.)

John Fisher of Kingsessing, Philadelphia County, left a will in 1725. He may have been part of the Sussex County, Delaware family. He left a wife Sarah, sons James and John, and daughters Martha (Bonsal) and Sarah (m. Joseph Taylor of Philadelphia in 1716, then John Thomas). John is the supposed father of James and John Fisher. When James died intestate at Kingsessing in 1729, his estate was administered by his brother John. They are not mentioned in the Quaker records.

Some Delaware River Episcopal

Jonathan Fisher, an Anglican Episcopal, lived in Philadelphia and has not been traced.

A William Fisher died in 1714 at Burlington, N. Jersey. His will names "cousin John of the Episcopal Church of Burlington, of which I am a member." His will names children Edward, David, & Ann. Executor was Dr. John Roberts Esq. He may be the William who, in 1700, had purchased 225 acres in Burlington from "Peter Bose of Marcus Hook alias Chishopen, County of Chester."

A William Fisher purchased, in 1691-94, land from George Hutchinson of Onanicken, in the "Burlington (New Jersey) Town Bounds on the Delaware River."

A William Fisher from Ulster County, New York purchased land in 1696 "with widow Sarah Farre of Springfield Township, Burlington County (N. Jersey)."

Maryland Fishers (All Probably Episcopal)

Alexander Fisher was taxed in 1680, in Dorchester County, Maryland.

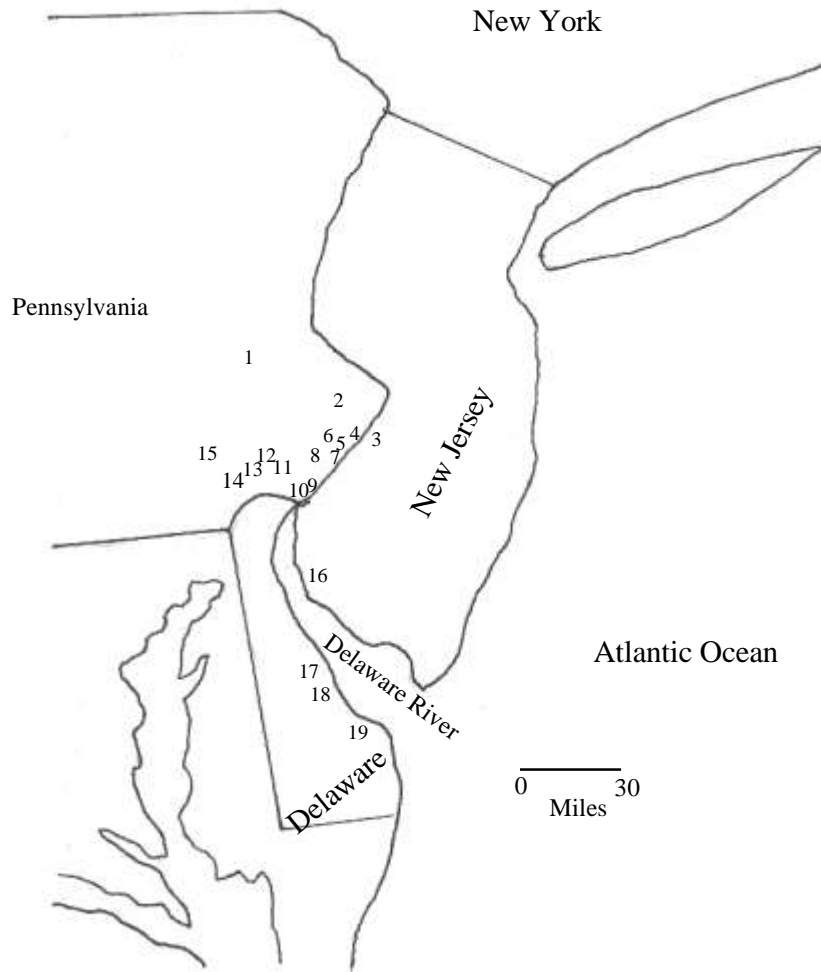

Edward Fisher, a cooper, was taxed in 1682 in Dorchester County, Maryland at Fisher's Landing. Edward Fisher married Frances Willis, widow of Richard Willis, 1 Aug. 1699, Md. Thomas Fisher of Sussex County, son of John the immigrant, once acted as attorney for Edward..

Mary Fisher was transported by William Peirce of Cecil County, Maryland before Nov. 1681.

Samuel Fisher was transported to Maryland by John Edmondson before Nov. 1680.

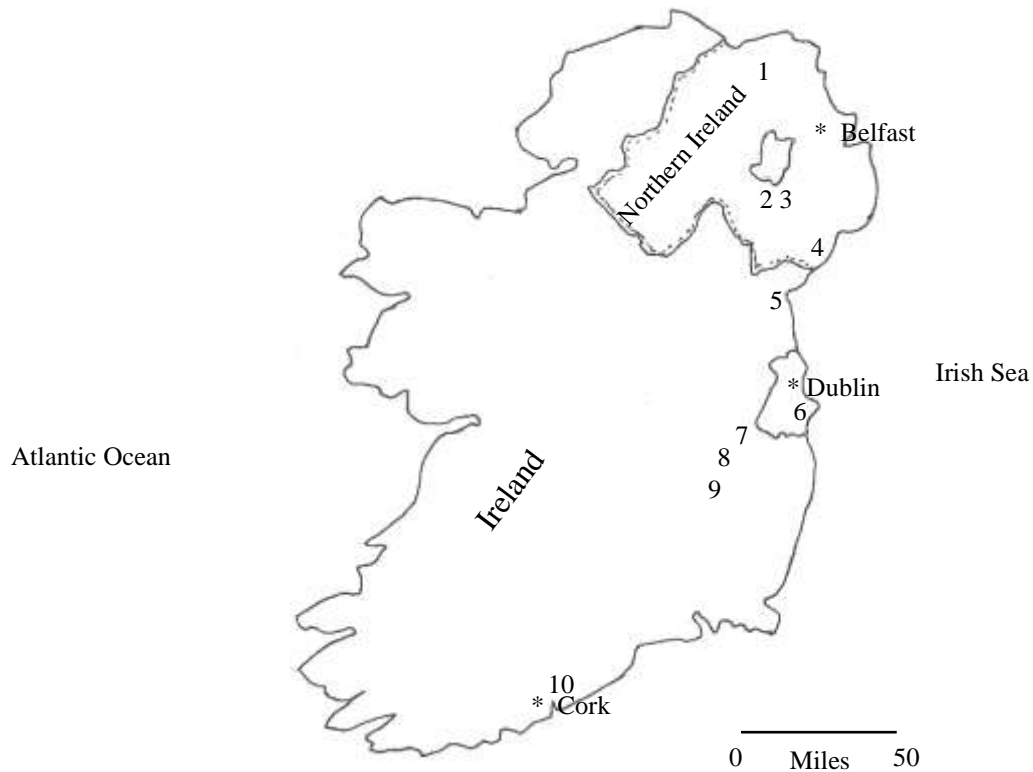

Thomas Fisher, gent., was taxed in Talbot County, Md., Threshford 1685, Long Range 1688.

William Fisher was assignor of lands in Cecil County, Md. in 1680.

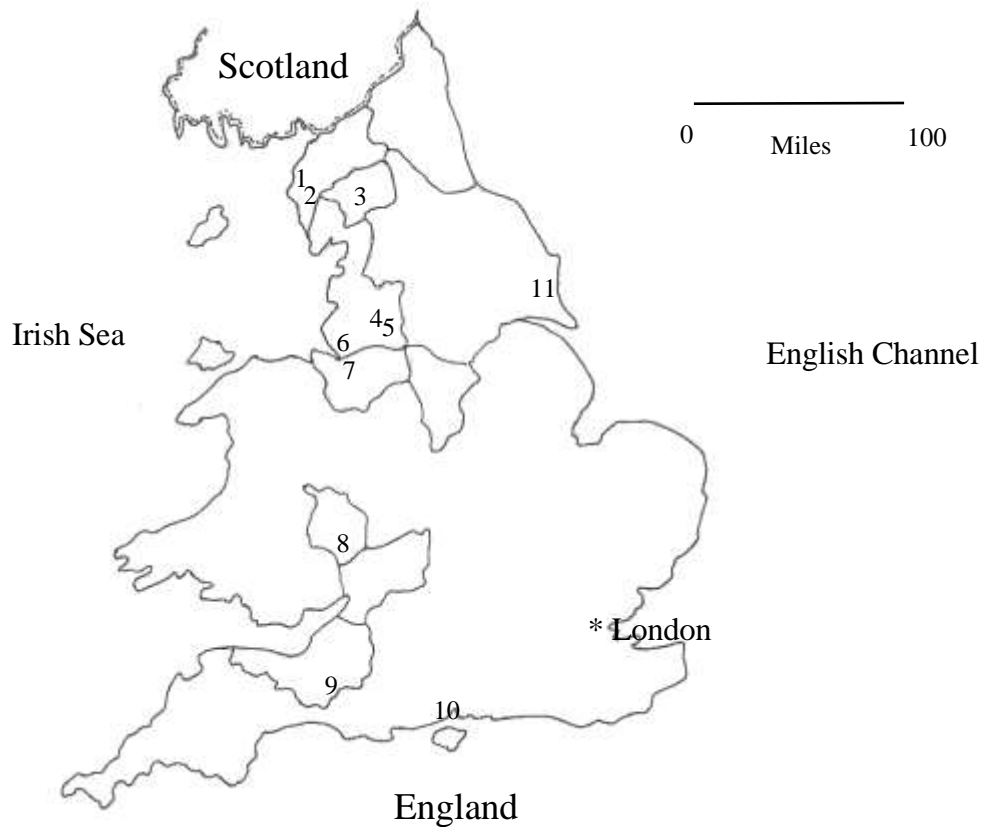

Fisher Immigrants to the Philadelphia Region by 1701

1. Buckingham Township – John Fisher from Cumberland, 1700; died here in 1765.
2. Falls Township – John Fisher arrived from Pardshaw, Cumberland, 1700.
3. Burlington – William Fisher & cousin John Fisher, by 1696.
4. Philadelphia & County – Joseph Fisher from Stillorgan Parish, Dublin County, Ireland, 1683.
5. Philadelphia – William Fisher from Ross in Herefordshire, 1684.
6. Philadelphia – John and Katharine Fisher lived in Springfield Township, Philadelphia County. He died in 1726.
7. Kingsessing, Mouth of Schuylkill River – John & Sarah Fisher, by 1684.
8. Marple Township – Francis & Grace Standfield from Cheshire, 1683.
9. Chester – George Fisher, town lot in 1688.
10. Chichester – John Fisher died here 1701, wife Barbara.
11. Concord Township – Thomas Fisher & Elizabeth Huntley married at Concord Monthly Meeting, 1713.
12. Thornbury Township – William Fisher was agent for Elizabeth Andross land purchase here, 1696.
13. Birmingham Township – William Huntley here by 1691.
14. Kennett Township – Thomas Fisher & Thomas Robinson land, 1701.
15. East Caln Township, Thomas Fisher died here, 1747 (In part now West Brandywine Township)
16. Salem & Allowayes, “Monmouth River” – Dennis & Susannah Fisher came from Portsmouth, Hampshire & Chichester, Sussex, here by 1683.
17. Kent County – Adam Fisher & mother (Susannah Fisher Bedwell) here by 1680, from Rappahannock, Virginia.
18. Cedar Creek, Sussex County – William Fisher, wife Rebecca, here by 1693.
19. Lewes, Sussex County – John & Margaret Fisher from Marsden & Clitheroe, Lancashire 1682/3 to Philadelphia & Delaware.

Irish Points of Immigration to Pennsylvania

1. Ballynachree, Ballymoney, Antrim – Joseph Wilkinson, Quaker son-in-law of Thomas Fisher of Chester County Pa. came from here, 1730.
2. Lurgan – Alice Stanfield, Quaker daughter-in-law of Thomas Fisher of Chester County, Pa. came from here, 1728.
3. Belleniskrannell, Parish of Segoe, County Armagh -- Henry Hollingsworth was born here, 1658. He immigrated to Pennsylvania in 1683 on the same ship as Joseph Fisher. He surveyed the tract of Thomas Fisher and Thomas Robinson in Chester County, Pennsylvania in 1701.
4. Donnahlong, County Down – George Harlan, Quaker, formerly of Monkwearmouth in Durham County in England, lived here before immigrating to Pennsylvania in 1682. His sons became close neighbors of Thomas Fisher of Chester County, Pennsylvania.
5. County Louth – Mary Fisher, Quaker, sister of Joseph Fisher of Stillorgan in Dublin County, married here in 1659, to William Archer.
6. Stillorgan Parish, Dublin County – Joseph Fisher, Quaker, son of William and Margaret Fisher of Elton, Thornton le Moors Parish, Cheshire, married (1) Isobel Newmarch, & (2) Elizabeth --, lived here before immigrating to Philadelphia in 1683.
7. County Queens (Leix), Rosenallis -- Martha Fisher, Quaker, sister of Joseph Fisher of Stillorgan in Dublin County, married here in 1665, to Robert Turner.
8. Durrow, County Kilkenny -- Thomas Paine, who witnessed the will of Thomas Fisher of Chester County in 1747, immigrated from here.
9. County Queens (Leix) –William Pim, who witnessed the will of Thomas Fisher of Chester County in 1747, immigrated from here.
10. Garankeanesfeake, Cork Bay – George Fisher immigrated to Pennsylvania in 1685 with the Jaspas Farmer Family from here.

Early Fisher Immigrants to Pennsylvania and Nearby Regions

1. Cumberland, Pardshaw – John Fisher, Quaker, emigrated from here to Bucks County, Pennsylvania, in 1700.
2. Cumberland, Kentmere – John Fisher, Quaker immigrant to Pennsylvania from Marsden and Clitheroe, may have been born here, the son of Nicholas Fisher.
3. Westmoreland – John Fisher, Quaker immigrant to Pennsylvania from Marsden and Clitheroe, may have been related to the Westmoreland Fishers.
4. Lancashire, Clitheroe – John and Margaret Fisher, Quakers, emigrated from near here in 1682/3 to Philadelphia, then settled in Sussex County, Delaware.
5. Lancashire, Marsden -- John and Margaret Fisher, Quakers, were members of Marsden Monthly Meeting when they emigrated from near here in 1682/3 to Philadelphia.
6. Lancashire, Hundred of West Derby near Liverpool – Thomas Fisher emigrated from here in 1684 with the Quaker family of Henry Baker. The Bakers settled in Bucks County, Pennsylvania.
7. Cheshire, Elton, Thornton le Moors Parish – Joseph Fisher, Quaker, was born here in 1635, son of William and Margaret Fisher. Went to Ireland by 1659 and emigrated from there to Philadelphia in 1683.
8. Herefordshire, Ross-on-Wye – William Fisher, Quaker, emigrated from here in 1684, to Philadelphia.
9. Somersetshire, Horsington Parish – John Fisher from here was indentured in Bristol in 1684 for passage to Pennsylvania.
10. Hampshire, Portsmouth and Sussex, Chichester – Dennis and Susannah Fisher emigrated from here by 1683 to Salem County, West New Jersey.
11. East Yorkshire, Barmstone – John Fisher from here has been associated with John Fisher of Bucks County, Pennsylvania who immigrated in 1700. Evidence shows that this may not be right.

Descendants and Ancestors of Cephas Fisher Jr.

I. Thomas Fisher Sr.

Thomas Fisher married Elizabeth Huntley, daughter of William Huntley, at the Concord Quaker meeting in Chester County, Pennsylvania, in May of 1713. Elizabeth's father had died in Kennett Township on the west side of Brandywine Creek in 1708, at which time she and her widowed mother, Mary Standfield Huntley, had moved to the east side of the Brandywine to stay with relatives. Mary had three married sisters in Birmingham and Thornbury Townships, in the Concord Meetinghouse area. Thomas is assumed to have been living with a Quaker family in the same neighborhood, but his parents were probably not in Pennsylvania. Thomas and Elizabeth had children William, James, Elizabeth, Susannah, Samuel, Francis, Thomas and Mary. This chapter addresses the search for the origins of Thomas Fisher.

The earliest record in Pennsylvania concerning the Chester County Fishers is their land application in 1701. On March 6, 1701, William Penn convened his land office board at Shippen's estate house in Philadelphia to consider requests from four applicants -- Thomas Fisher, Thomas Robinson, Peter Taylor Sr., and Samuel Robinette. They were the only applicants considered that day. One certificate (a warrant for a survey) was signed for Taylor, one (jointly) for Robinson and Fisher, and one for Robinette, all for land in Chester County. Peter Taylor came from Sutton near Macclesfield in Cheshire. His land was in Upper Providence in Chester County, adjoining land of Robinette and facing that of Robert Robinson, who came from Morland Parish in Westmorland in northern England. The Robinettes came from London. It is possible that Thomas Fisher came from the same area as Peter Taylor, Thomas Robinson, Robert Robinson, Samuel Robinette, or the relatives of Elizabeth Huntley. (A tract in Bucks County was also conveyed by deed from the sons of Richard Thatcher to Samuel Beakes on the same day as the warrants discussed here, as well as a deed from John Scarborough of London to Adam Harker of Neshamina in Bucks County. Any relevance is unknown.)

Thomas and Elizabeth moved across to the west side of the Brandywine, and settled on the 1701 land grant, which was at the east end of Kennett Township in what is now Pennsbury. They moved their Quaker membership to Kennett (Newark Monthly Meeting) in the spring of 1714.

Thomas Fisher, co-warrantee with Thomas Robinson of the Kennett property in Chester County, was the earliest proven ancestor of my own Fisher family. The historian Gilbert Cope listed Thomas Robinson as a non-Quaker. He could have been a non-resident landowner, or one of them may have changed faiths after the 1701 land partnership. It would seem unlikely that a Quaker would have joined a non-Quaker in a land application. The Quaker Thomas Fisher who took over the land in Kennett is presumed to be a son of the Thomas who obtained the land in 1701, although it is possible that there was only one Thomas, considerably older than his wife Elizabeth.

The only clues that might lead us to Thomas Fisher's origins are the 1701 land grant, the family given names, neighbors of the Fishers, and Elizabeth Huntley's relatives. The problem of tracing either Thomas Robinson or Thomas Fisher is due to the unavailability of records which are usually found for most families in early Pennsylvania. No land board minutes have survived for the first half of 1701, in which the residences of the applicants would have been mentioned; no Quaker record has survived noting the arrival of either of them; and Thomas Fisher's 1713 marriage certificate was never copied into the Concord marriage book, as was the normal procedure. Passengers on the first ships to arrive in Pennsylvania are fairly well known, but arrivals after 1686 are recorded less completely, in some of the Quaker records and land records. Thomas Fisher may have come around 1700, shortly before applying for land, but neither Thomas Robinson nor Thomas Fisher were necessarily resident in Pennsylvania at that time.

Numerous immigration possibilities were studied, and every clue indicates that Thomas Fisher's family were English. The immigrant may have come directly from England, or from the English settlements in Ireland or elsewhere. The studies include the Fishers and Robinsons of Dublin County in Ireland; the Bakers from Walton near Liverpool who brought over a servant named Thomas Fisher; the Fishers of Lancashire and Westmorland; and new in this book, the Fishers and Robinsons of Bristol and Derbyshire.

* The Family Legend ****

My grandfather, Florance Clinton Fisher Sr., told me that his Fisher ancestors had come from Ireland, leaving behind an estate which lay unclaimed for many years. In a letter dated March 1959, I once described the conversation as follows:

“We talked about our family history all week-end. Grandpa said the Fisher family in Ireland had a huge estate which was left unclaimed somewhere down the line. Now, it can be claimed if one of us could have our family traced and prove we are the heirs. Grandpa's great uncle tried to get it once, but had no money or education, and gave up.”

The “great-uncle” would have been one of the brothers of Cephas Fisher Jr., born in Ohio about 120 years after the supposed immigration of the Fishers in 1700. This interview started my study of the Fisher genealogy, but I have not been able to prove the reliability of the story. The family memory may have been due to the fact that our ancestor Alice Stanfield Fisher, daughter-in-law of Thomas Fisher, was born at Lurgan in northern Ireland.

Other than the 1701 land warrant, no record has been found for Thomas Fisher (of Chester County) until May of 1713, when he married Elizabeth Huntley at Concord Monthly Meeting.

The Robinson/Fisher land warrant of 1701 reads as follows:

“William Penn Absolute Proprietary & Governor in Chief of the Province of Pensilvania and Counties Annexed ... At the Request of Thomas Robinson and Thomas ffisher That I would grant them to take up three hundred Acres of Land near Brandywine Creek in Such manner as Shall hereafter be agreed on These are to require thee forthwth to Survey or cause to be Survey'd to them the Sd Number of three hundred Acres of Land not yet Survey'd nor concealed nor Seated by the Indians and make Return thereof into my Secretaries Office. Given under my hand and Seal at Philadelphia the Sixth of ye first Month 1700/01. Wm Penn. To Edward Penington Surveyor General of the Province of Pensilvania and Territories.” (Note: Concealed lands were those reserved for the proprietors.)

It is assumed that the Thomas Fisher of the 1701 land grant would have been the father of the one who married twelve years later and lived on the land grant, which was located in Kennett, Chester County. Thomas Fisher was a member of Concord Monthly Meeting (Quaker) by the time of his marriage to Elizabeth Huntley in 1713. No trace of any siblings or parents of Thomas Fisher has been found in Pennsylvania. Records show that the 1701 land tract of 300 acres was re-surveyed for Thomas Fisher in 1739, and found after more accurate measurement to be 200 acres, lying in the eastern part of Kennett Township in Chester County, which is now Pennsbury Township:

“The above described Tract of Land Situate in Kennett Township in the County of Chester was Surveyed in pursuance of a Warrant from the late Proprietary dated the Sixth day of March 1700/1 granted to Thomas Robinson and Thomas Fisher for 300 acres & surveyed by Henry Hollingsworth on the 10th day of December then next ensuing and called about three Hundred Acres, But being Since Resurveyed according to the ancient lines and bounds thereof is found to contain two Hundred Acres and the Allowance of Six pCent per Centred.”

The earliest tax record available shows that both Thomas Robinson and Thomas Fisher were landowners in Kennett in 1715. Neither the origin nor the fate of either Thomas Robinson or Thomas Fisher the elder is known. Neither of them can be found in the Quaker records of the area.

A possible clue to Thomas Fisher's origins might be found in the ancestry of Mary Webb and/or "George Brown of Birmingham (Chester County) late of Great Britain," who stood up in Concord Meeting with Thomas Fisher and Elizabeth Huntley on the same day in 1713 to announce their marriage engagement. The meeting recorded the accomplishment of the two weddings by May 6, 1713. George Brown and the Webb family came from near Bristol in Gloucestershire. George died in Middletown Township, six years after his marriage.

Some Webb/Brown/Fisher records:

Richard Webb marr. Elizabeth Iles Nov 1643 at Westbury-on-Trym, Gloucestershire (north side of Bristol).
Richard Webb, while still in England in 1686, received a Warrant from Penn for 500 acres in Pennsylvania.
George Brown, son of George, was chr. 16 Oct 1693 at Westbury-on-Trym, Gloucestershire.
Richard Webb from Gloucester Qtrly Meeting to Philadelphia, 1700, settled in Birmingham, Chester Co.
6th of 3rd month 1713 Mary Webb, dau of Richard Webb marr. George Brown, Concord Monthly Meeting.
6th of 3rd month 1713, Thomas Fisher marr. Elizabeth Huntley, Concord Monthly Meeting.
23 May, 1741, Deed of Sale, Thomas & Elizabeth Fisher, 81 acres in Kennett to William Webb Jr.

William Penn arrived on his second voyage to Pennsylvania in 1699, aboard the "Endeavor." While in Philadelphia, he granted the 300 acres in Kennett, Chester County "near the Brandywine" to Thomas Robinson and Thomas Fisher, then returned soon after to Bristol, England where his wife Hannah was staying with her parents, the Callohills. Two of the Penn sons were born there, recorded in the Bristol Monthly Meeting records. At that time, relatives of a Francis Fisher were members of the same meeting, but were probably not related to Thomas Fisher. (Bristol emigrants generally went to Maryland or Virginia.)

Some of the first land claims in Kennett predated most of the now existing land records, but are sometimes mentioned in later records. The first land purchases in Pennsylvania were made in England in 1681, with the exact location of such land often to be assigned later. The purchasers sometimes never emigrated. They sold the land for profit, through agents in the colony, or deeded parts to heirs and associates. The first known survey in Kennett was in 1686, for Francis Smith. The land, a 500-acre purchase and a 200-acre Old Rent tract, was on Pocopsing Creek, at the northeast extreme of the original Kennett boundaries and only about a half-mile northward from the land that would later be taken up by Fisher and Robinson.

In 1699 William Penn granted a warrant to his daughter Leticia, for 30,000 acres – taking in the greater part of Kennett (excepting the east end near the Brandywine) as well as part of New Castle County and all of the present township of New Garden. This land, called "Letitia's Manor," was then sold off in parts. The Fisher/Robinson land was just to the east of this.

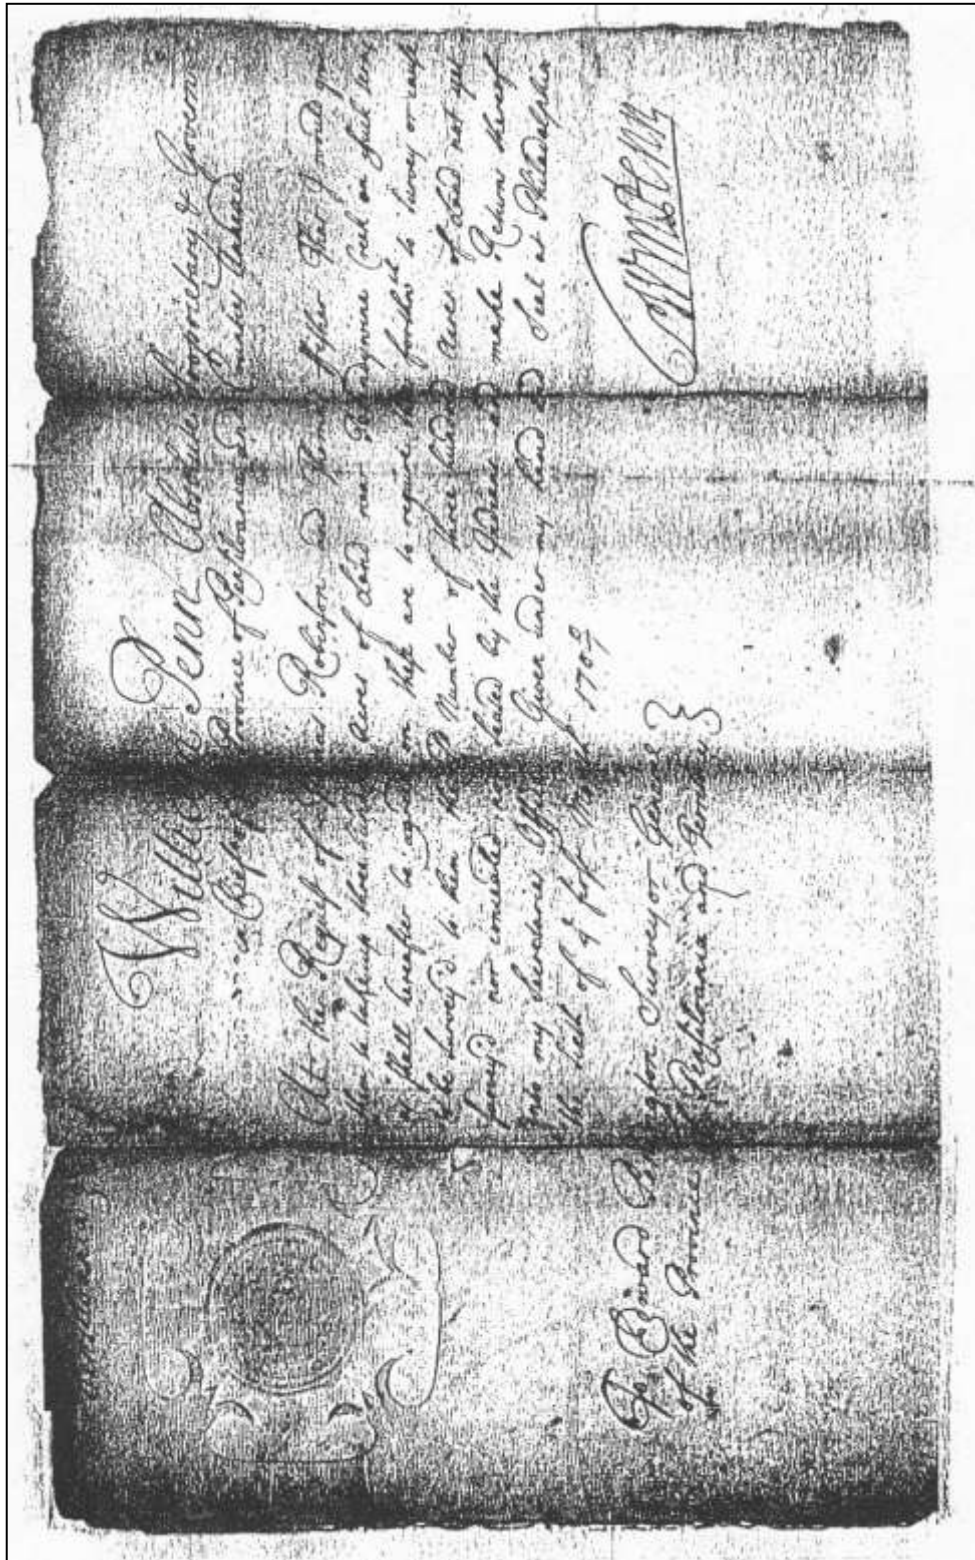

The Robinson/Fisher tract was granted at Philadelphia under William Penn's "Old Rights" provisions for purchasers, requiring a purchase price and an annual quitrent payment. In 1739, the Fishers had to pay 3 pounds 1 Shilling & 4 pence, to clear the 38 years of arrears accumulated at 1S per hundred acres per year, for 200 acres. There is no indication that this was a "first purchase" made in England or Ireland, and no first purchaser headright land for masters and servants is mentioned.

In December of 1700, a tract of 515 acres in Kennet Township, Chester County was granted by warrant from William Penn to James Wallis, a seagoing merchant of Bristol, England. A few months later, William Penn granted the warrant dated 6 March, 1701 for 300 acres adjoining on the east side of the Wallis tract, to Thomas Robinson and Thomas Fisher. Henry Hollingsworth, formerly of Ireland, surveyed the Wallis tract 27 March, 1701, and the Robinson/Fisher tract 10 December, 1701. The 1701 Robinson/Fisher warrant was for a tract already staked out and claimed by them, and the survey was made in December of that year. The land may have been claimed or occupied for some years before 1701 by Thomas Robinson and/or Thomas Fisher. The Wallis survey refers to the adjoining "land of Thomas Robinson."

The Robinson/Fisher survey of 1701 is now lost, but Thomas Fisher's resurvey in 1739, pursuant to a patent, survives. The resurvey shows that the tract was in the Township of Kennett, Chester County, in the part that later became Pennsbury, north of the old Kennett Quaker meeting house that was built in 1710. The tract, estimated by Henry Hollingsworth in 1701 to be 300 acres, was found to be only 200 acres at the time of the 1739 survey. The new survey was done "according to the ancient bounds," which if correct means there was simply an error in the original estimate. But it appears that the top of the Wallis and Robinson/Fisher tracts were lopped off in 1714 and given to Ezekiel Harland (75 acres from the Wallis tract and 100 acres from the Robinson/Fisher tract), when a number of surveys were aligned with the bottom of Robert Way's 1709 survey. If the alignment had been with the top of the Benjamin Chambers tract (see map), it would agree with the original Wallis survey and the Fisher tract would have remained 300 acres rather than 200.

A copy of the 1701 land warrant and a collection of land ownership maps are shown on the pages following.

The various search studies regarding the origins of Thomas Fisher are summarized at the end of this chapter.

Selected Study Summaries

* The Derbyshire Fishers*

A Fisher family of Dronfield in Derbyshire is the only one that has been found with several children (Elizabeth, James, Samuel, Susannah, Thomas) with namesake matches for the children of Thomas Fisher and Elizabeth Huntley in Chester County. Thomas Fisher of Chester County could have been Thomas, youngest of twelve children of Thomas Fisher and his wife Helen (Raworth) Fisher of Dronfield near Chesterfield, in Derbyshire. Several of the Chester County children would then be named for Fisher uncles and aunts in Dronfield. The remaining Chester County children were named for Elizabeth's parents and brother (William and Mary (Standfield) Huntley and Francis Huntley). The Thomas Fisher who applied for Chester County land in 1701 would then have been Thomas (Sr. or Jr.) of Dronfield. The descent in Dronfield was Thomas (1575), Robert (1613), Thomas (1642), Thomas (1685).

One Quaker Fisher family lived in and near Chesterfield and Dronfield. Jonathan Fisher, son of Lancelot, and his wife Dorothy (Bentley) Fisher, of Darley Dale southwest of Chesterfield, became Quakers after their marriage in 1671. By 1687 they lived at Bradway on the northwest edge of Dronfield, where they registered their house as a nonconformist meeting place. They belonged to Chesterfield Monthly Meeting. Thomas and Helen Fisher of Dronfield may have joined that meeting, since they disappeared from the parish records after 1685. No relationship between Thomas of Dronfield and Jonathan of Bradway has been found. However, Elizabeth Huntley's grandparents, Francis Standfield and his wife Grace (Achele) Standfield, were at Cutthorpe, Chesterfield in 1670. In that year, Chesterfield Monthly Meeting records report the arrest of Francis Standfield in a raid on the Cutthorpe (Cartop) meeting, and the birth of his daughter Elizabeth.

Thomas Robinson, son of Isaac, was born in Eckington near Dronfield. He may have been the one who joined with Thomas Fisher in the 1701 land application in Chester County.

The emigration from England was most likely from Liverpool or Bristol. Those coming from Derbyshire almost always departed from Liverpool, about 60 miles from Chesterfield and Dronfield. If the departure was from Bristol, twice as far from Derbyshire, there would have been some separate reason for going there before the departure.

For Derbyshire and Gloucestershire parish records and nonconformist records, see the LDS pilot search site.

For information about Jonathan and Dorothy Fisher's house being registered as a Quaker meeting place at Bradway near Dronfield, see "Three Centuries of Derbyshire Annals Vol. I."

Francis Standfield's arrest near Chesterfield is recorded in Besse, "Sufferings of the People Called Quakers."

* The Fishers and Robinsons of Bristol/Gloucestershire ****

Thomas Robinson, co-warrantee of the Fisher land in Pennsylvania, may be the one who went to Bristol from Eckington near Dronfield. In Bristol, the families of Francis and George Fisher were mostly Quakers, while the families of James and Thomas Fisher were mostly Church of England. Robert Robinson's land in Pennsylvania descended to John Fallowfield, whose daughter Abigail married George Fisher in Bristol in 1700. Possible relatives were Thomas and Martha Fisher of Bristol, who had a son Thomas born in 1688, or Thomas and Sara Fisher of Bath near Bristol, who owned the ship "Constant Martha" and had a son Thomas born in 1691, or Francis Fisher, mariner of Bristol and his wife Sarah, who had a son Thomas born in the parish of St. Katherine by the Tower in London in 1670, or Thomas Fisher of Bristol, born in Derbyshire. Thomas Fisher and/or Thomas Robinson of Kennett in Chester County, Pennsylvania may be connected to the Bristol and London merchants in the following way:

James Wallis of Bristol, who submitted a Pennsylvania land application at almost the same time as Thomas Fisher, was one of a group of Bristol traders called the Bristol Company, who had close ties with the Penn family in Bristol. Wallis obtained, through an agent, a large tract adjacent to and partially wrapping around the Fisher/Robinson land. The Bristol traders were members of the Quaker meeting in Bristol where William Penn and his second wife were members. They were Charles Jones Jr., James Wallis, Richard Crosley and Thomas Taylor. James Wallis was married to Mary Gouldney, whose family raised money to rescue William Penn from a large debt. Crosley and Jones were brothers-in-law. Francis and Sarah Fisher of St. Katherine by the Tower in London had a son Thomas, born in 1670. Their presumed son Francis and his wife, also named Sarah, were with the Quakers of Ratcliffe Monthly Meeting near the Tower before moving to Bristol Monthly Meeting. In 1678, Francis Fisher of Redcliffe, a Bristol mariner, married Sarah Jones, daughter of Charles Jones of Bristol. (William Penn Jr. married a daughter of Charles Jones Jr.) A daughter Sarah was born at Bristol in 1681. When Sarah (Jr.) was about to be married at Bristol, in 1702, a letter from the Ratcliffe Quakers in London referred to her parents Francis and Sarah as "formerly from these parts" and affirmed that the daughter Sarah was free from a brief engagement to Roger Wallis. Francis Fisher, Thomas Robinson and James Wallis are found in shipping records of voyages to Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania. On one occasion Francis Fisher and James Wallis shipped together on the "Alexander" from Bristol. The Bristol traders all died together at the end of 1717, which suggests a shipwreck. James Fisher of Bristol also died at the same time. Further research might clarify what actually happened. It may be relevant that when Thomas and Elizabeth Fisher sold part of the Kennett land grant in 1741, they sold it to William Webb, whose family had come from Gloucester, embarking from Bristol.

Thomas Robinson was at anchor aboard the "Tryall" at Chester (Pennsylvania) in 1688, and sued John Neil in 1700, but may not have been resident. He may have been Thomas, son of Robert Robinson, born in 1665 at Cartmel near Ulverston in north Lancashire. A Thomas Fisher, son of Thomas, was also born at Cartmel, in 1667. Robert Robinson was in Morland Parish, Westmorland in 1683 when he bought land in Pennsylvania. Later, his Pennsylvania land was inherited by John Fallowfield. John and Sarah Fallowfield, formerly of northern England, came to Bristol with their daughter Abigail, who married George Fisher of Bristol in July of 1700. Thomas Robinson of Bristol, gentleman, married Joane Vaughn in 1686.

* The Fishers and Robinsons of Dublin County ****

Our Thomas Fisher (the elder) may have been Thomas Fisher of southeast Dublin County in Ireland, where a Thomas Robinson married an Elizabeth Fisher on May 4, 1672. In the 1670's several Fisher and Robinson families lived there, in close proximity. They were less than two miles from Stilorgan, where the Philadelphia immigrant Joseph Fisher had lived. Thomas Fisher of Dunleary in Monkstown married Rosamond Coaker May 4, 1679. Joseph Fisher was a Quaker, but the other Fishers and the Robinsons of Dublin County are found in the Church of Ireland parish registers. Elizabeth (Fisher) Robinson died at Carrickmaine in Dublin County in September of 1679, and their newborn son Benjamin died at the same time. Thomas Robinson then disappeared from the Dublin County records. By 1688, he could have been the one who began to appear in the court and land records of Chester County, Pennsylvania:

- 1688 Thomas Robinson was involved in an altercation with the Irish ship's mate Samuel Harrison aboard the "Tryall" in port at Chester, and served on a Chester County jury in the same year.
- 1691 In June of 1691 Thomas Roberson (Robinson) witnessed a sale of land on Ridley Creek, by Joshua Hastings of Nether Providence, to John Sharples. Joshua Hastings was among 12 buyers of a small lot in Chester in 1688, and among those buyers were Richard Few and Mordacai Maddock. The Few family became connected to Thomas Fisher's in-laws in Chester County. Mordacai Maddox (or a son of that name) later married into the John Fisher family of Bucks County.
- 1700 In June of 1700 Thomas Robinson sued John Neald at a court of quarter sessions at Chester. John Neild had come on the "Endeavor" in 1683 as a servant to Thomas Janney (Janeway) of Cheshire, and was a fellow passenger with the Standfield family who would become in-laws to Thomas Fisher of Kennet. The Neild tract in Aston Township was a short distance from the Robert Robinson tract on Ridley Creek.
- 1727 In 1727, a Thomas Robinson died intestate at Ridley in Chester County. Catharine Robinson was named administrator of his estate. She may have been his wife but also may have been Catharine (Howell) Robinson, wife of James Robinson, which would make her a probable sister-in-law of this Thomas Robinson. This may have been Thomas Robinson, formerly of Dublin County and of Kennett in Pennsylvania.
- 1748 A Thomas Robinson purchased tracts in Chichester Township in 1748, 1750, 1751; and one in Bethel Township in 1752.

* The Lancashire Bakers and Servant Thomas Fisher ****

Our Thomas Fisher (the elder) may have been Thomas Fisher, born about 1667, who came on the "Vine" as a servant to the Baker family in 1684. The Bakers and their servants came from Walton-on-the-Hill and vicinity, near Liverpool in Lancashire, settling in Bucks County. Nathan Baker, youngest child of the Baker family, later settled in Concord Township, near the Quaker meeting house where our Thomas Fisher was married in 1713. Hester Baker, sister of Nathan, married William Brown, a possible relative of George Brown who married Mary Webb in a "double wedding" with our Thomas Fisher & Elizabeth Huntley. Nathan Baker also witnessed a land sale in Concord by Peter Taylor, who appeared together with Thomas Fisher and Thomas Robinson at the land office in 1701. The Webbs, who came from Gloucestershire around 1700, were close associates of the Fishers, and later bought part of the Fisher lands in Kennett/Pennsbury in Chester County. These and other records suggest that the Fishers may have sailed from Bristol or Liverpool. Some Wallis and Robinson notes:

In 1702, the Wallis tract adjoining Robinson and Fisher in Kennett was sold to John Smith, clock maker of Chester County. This John Smith may have been the same as the one who moved from Chester County to Cecil County, Maryland in 1706 with his father William Smith. William Smith was connected somehow to the Henry Baker family who brought a Thomas Fisher as one of his servants in 1684. William Smith was the owner of a tract in Concord which went to Nathan Baker, son of Henry Baker, immigrant on the "Vine" from Walton in Lancashire near Liverpool. William Smith and Nathan Baker both went to Cecil County, Maryland, where William died in 1708. James Robinson Jr. was an appraiser for the estate of William Smith. In 1708 John Smith, executor for his father, conveyed with Rachel (Baker) (Bunting) Cowgill, two tracts in the township of Concord to Nathan Baker, brother of Rachel, formerly of Lancashire. John Smith died soon after his father. The relationship between the Bakers and Fishers of Lancashire (Liverpool area) and Pennsylvania is still not clear. The Wallis and Robinson/Fisher tracts were both surveyed at about the same time by Henry Hollingsworth, the Irish surveyor of Chester County who at that time was also surveying the new Nottingham township and tracts extending into Cecil County, Maryland.

Descendants and Ancestors of Cephas Fisher Jr.

II. Thomas Fisher and Elizabeth Huntley

Thomas Fisher, our earliest fully-proven ancestor, was a lifelong devout Quaker, believed to have been born about 1690, who lived in Chester County, Pennsylvania all his adult life. His friends, neighbors, and in-laws were all from the British Isles, many from English/Irish families. Some were from northern Ireland or the Dublin area; from Cheshire and Derbyshire; from Somerset and Gloucestershire around Bristol; and from the British West Indies including Barbados. In the years preceding his coming of age, Thomas apparently lived in a household not bearing the Fisher name, in or near the Township of Concord. His mother may have been remarried, or he may have been with relatives or family friends. He was a member of Concord Meeting when he married Elizabeth Huntley in 1713. There is no earlier Quaker evidence of any Fisher in Chester County. Thomas Fisher who obtained a land warrant in 1701, for the same tract that Thomas and Elizabeth settled on in 1714, was probably the father of Thomas who married Elizabeth Huntley.

The Fisher/Huntley marriage was at the Concord Friends Meeting House, in Chester County, Pennsylvania. The present meeting house sits on the same site on Concord Road, near its intersection with Highway 1 (Old Baltimore Pike). Her parents were William Huntley and Mary Standfield, who were married in 1692 as members of Chester/Concord Monthly Meeting. Elizabeth was born about 1692, the eldest of five William Huntley children. Thomas and Elizabeth first announced their intention to marry, before the Monthly Meeting at Concord, on a Thursday, “1st month 9 1712/13,” meaning March 9, 1713. They repeated their statement of intentions before the next monthly meeting, held at Chichester, on Thursday, the “2nd month 13 1713,” meaning April 13, 1713. At the next monthly meeting, held at Chichester on Saturday, the “3rd month 6 1713,” meaning May 6, 1713, the minutes say “two marriages accomplished.” This could mean the marriages were part of that day’s service or a service in the prior weeks. The marriage certificate has been lost.

The other couple who made announcements of intentions and accomplished their wedding along with Thomas Fisher and Elizabeth Huntley, was George Brown and Mary Webb. Mary was a daughter of Richard Webb, who came from Westbury-on-Trym on the north edge of Bristol in Gloucestershire, to Birmingham, Chester County about 1700, the same time that Thomas Fisher (the elder) obtained the land warrant for his tract in Kennett. Later, members of this Webb family lived near the Fishers in Kennett. Thomas Fisher eventually sold part of his Kennett land to William Webb Jr. Perhaps Thomas Fisher (the elder) and the Webbs were somehow connected in Gloucestershire. George Brown may have been George, son of George, christened October 16, 1693 at Westbury-on-Trym, on the north side of Bristol in Gloucestershire. Richard Webb married Elizabeth Iles at the same place in November of 1643.

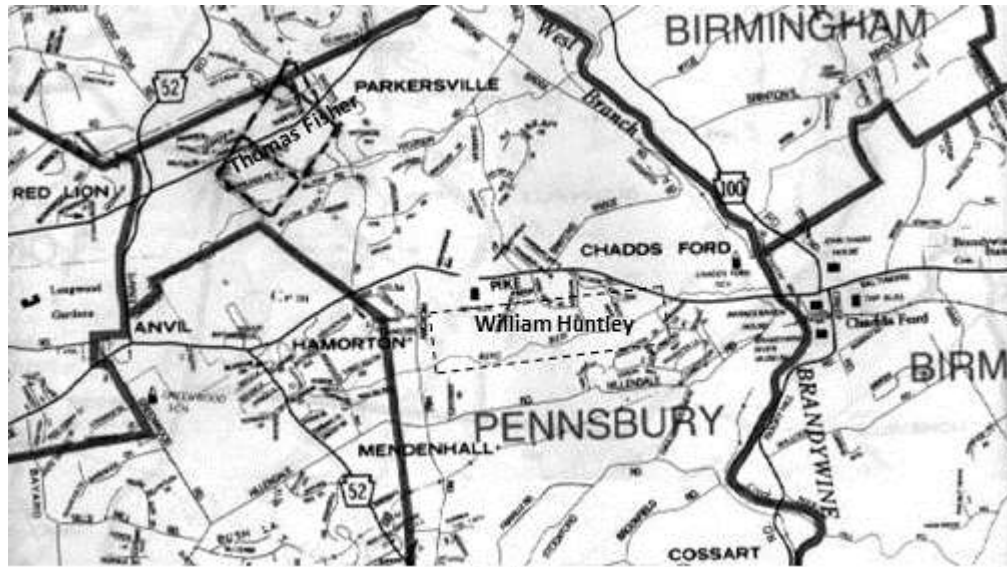

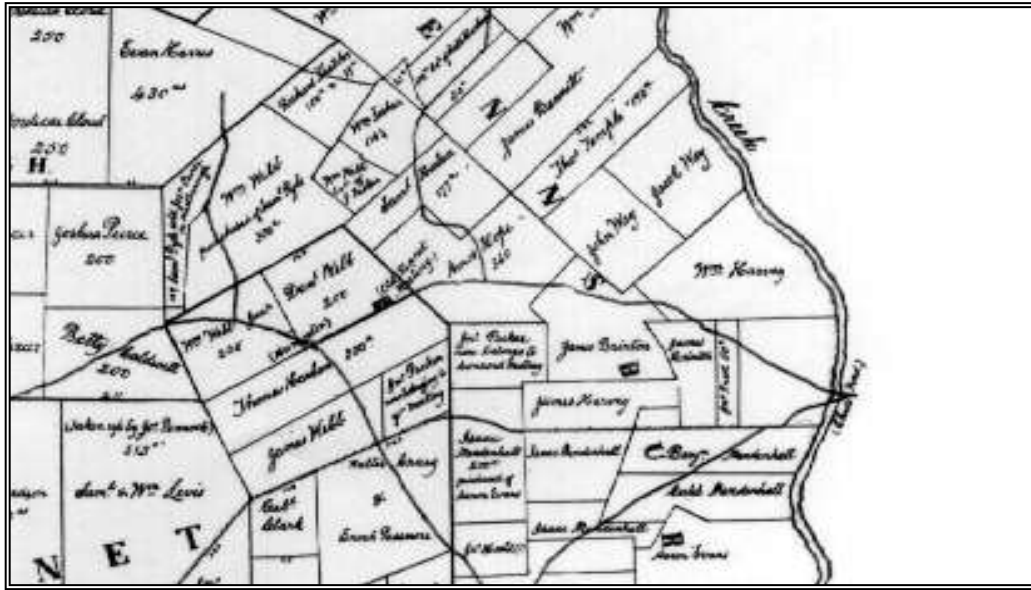

Note: This Thomas Fisher has often been confused with Thomas, son of the immigrant John Fisher of Sussex County who came in 1682. Thomas Fisher of Sussex County, who was some 20 years older than our Thomas, filed a will in 1713. No probate record exists, but court records show all his appointed duties ending abruptly in November of 1713. His widow (Margery Maud Fisher) remained in Sussex County and married Nicholas Green prior to 1717. Nicholas Green may have been the son of Thomas and Margaret Green, of Concord Township in Chester County. The many efforts to discover the origins of our own Thomas Fisher ancestor (of Chester County) might have fared better but for the coincidence of these names. There is a possibility that the two Thomas Fishers were related, but research so far does not support the idea. Thomas Fisher of Chester County, our ancestor, could have been a son of James and Katherine Fisher, of Sussex County, Province of Pennsylvania (now part of Delaware). James was the third son of the immigrant John Fisher, and brother to Thomas and John Fisher Jr. of Sussex County. Only one child of James and Katharine, Sarah, has been identified in record searches to date.

Thomas and Elizabeth moved a short distance, to the west side of Brandywine Creek, soon after their marriage. They transferred their Quaker membership from Concord to the Kennett meeting (called Newark Monthly Meeting) in 1714. All their children must have been born at Kennett, but the Fishers do not appear in the meeting minutes between 1714 and 1728. At Kennett, the Fishers were surrounded by Elizabeth's relatives. Her sisters Deborah, Mary and Sarah Huntley all married at Kennett, and her only brother, Frances Huntley, died there, unmarried, in 1723. A number of Elizabeth's Standfield relatives lived within a few miles of the Fisher farm. Living in eastern Kennett were Elizabeth (Standfield) Hope, Hannah (Standfield) Few, and several Few and Hope cousins. (Daniel Few lived at the north line of the Fisher property near the supposed Fisher homestead). Cousin John Chads lived a few miles to the east, at the Brandywine ford in Birmingham Township. Sarah (Standfield) Bennett and Deborah (Standfield) Woodward lived in Thornbury Township, just east of Birmingham.

When Thomas Fisher finally requested a patent for the Kennett tract in 1739, he had to pay a purchase consideration of 87 pounds 13 shillings plus 38 years of back quit-rent to the sons of William Penn. The quit-rent in arrears was paid to the receiver-general James Steel on January 17, 1739 at William Penn's "old purchase" rate of one shilling per hundred acres per year, amounting to 76 shillings (3 pounds 16 shillings).

Note: Susan Kimura of West Jordan, Utah provided a discovery in the Gilbert Cope Collection, LDS Film 0517034, and records of Worcester Monthly Meeting (LDS Film 0441397) regarding the Standfields. Francis Standfield married Grace Achele at Worcestershire Monthly Meeting. Her sister Mary married Francis Fincher of the City of Worcester. The descendants of Francis Standfield and Francis Fincher found in the Philadelphia and Chester County records were therefore cousins. Thomas Achelly of Burlington, New Jersey, was a relative. Susan also provided a description of the ancient Stansfield manor house in Stansfield, West Yorkshire, which still stands.

Upper map: Part of a composite land survey map made by Gilbert Cope in 1910, using old deeds. Many of the surveys represent owners during Thomas Fisher's time at Kennett. The upper part of the Fisher land is marked "William Fisher," the elder son who owned it after Thomas moved to East Caln. The lower part of the farm is marked "Wm Webb of Thomas Fisher," sold to the Webbs in 1739. The triangle on the northwest boundary is 15 acres bought from Ruth Harland prior to James Fisher's marriage in 1736. The William Huntley farm was partly above the one marked "James Harvey."

Lower Map: A modern map of the area, with approximate boundaries of the Fisher and Huntley tracts. The road running diagonally across the Fisher tract is Street Road. The highway running east-west through Anvil and Hamorton is Route 1, the old Baltimore Pike. The Fisher & Huntley tracts, once in Kennett Township, are now in Pennsbury (created from part of old Kennett.)

Our ancestors Thomas Fisher and Elizabeth Huntley Fisher settled about two miles northwest of this meeting house, in 1714. They attended meetings in this building every “first day” (Sunday) until 1741. Son James married Alice Standfield in this building on April 14, 1736.

Descendants and Ancestors of Cephas Fisher Jr.

When William Huntley died in 1708, the minor Huntley children were supposed to go to Thomas and Elizabeth Hope (of Kennett) and Edward and Sarah Bennett (of Thornbury), but unfortunately Thomas Hope also died only a few weeks after William Huntley. Mary Huntley and her children spent the next five years in the vicinity of Concord Monthly Meeting, probably living with one or more of the uncles in Birmingham (Francis Chads) or Thornbury (Edward Bennett and Richard Woodward). The older daughter Elizabeth married Thomas Fisher in the spring of 1713, and a few months later her mother remarried, to Richard Fletcher of Concord. The Fletchers bought a tract lying between the present Hillandale Road and the south line of the old Huntley tract in Kennett. The Fletchers and Fishers moved to Kennett in 1714. The Huntley and Fletcher tracts were eventually bought by the Harvey family. The widow Elizabeth (Standfield) Hope married William Horne in 1709 and also lived at Kennett.

Children mentioned in Thomas Fisher's will were William, James, Elizabeth, Samuel, Thomas, Francis and Mary.

1. William, b. 8 May 1714, mar. Deborah Roberts, 24 Oct 1739, at Kennett; d. 30 Mar. 1748 at Kennett.
2. James, b. [1715], mar. Alice Standfield of Lurgan, N. Ireland, 14 Apr 1736 at Kennett (14 of 2 mo 1736)
3. Elizabeth, b. [1716], mar. Joseph Wilkinson from Ballynacree, N. Ire. 31 Dec 1740 at Kennett. (31, 10 mo 1740)
-- (multi-year gap) --
4. Samuel, b. [1725], mar. Ann Lamborn, 22 Feb 1750 at New Garden. (22 of 12 mo 1749/50)
5. Thomas, b. [18 Aug 1727], mar. Elizabeth Lamborn, 26 Dec 1752 at New Garden. (26 of 10 mo 1752)
6. Francis, b. [1732], mar. Rachel Wickersham, 25 Mar 1753 at New Garden. (25 of 1 mo 1753)
7. Mary, b. [1734], mar. Abel Johns, 8 Oct (or 8 of 10 mo Dec?) 1755 at Uwchlan.

Susannah Fisher, who was at the weddings of the two oldest, was probably another of the older children, born about 1717. She seems to have died before 1740. Her name is of interest, since it suggests an aunt of that name. The most likely namesake may be Susannah of Dronfield in Derbyshire, who had siblings Thomas, James, and Samuel, all children of Thomas and Helen of Dronfield. Other namesake possibilities considered were Samuel Atkins and his wife Annie (Susannah?), and Susannah, granddaughter of Denis Fisher (of Salem, New Jersey). See also Susannah Fisher of Talbot County, Maryland.

The years from 1714 to 1728 were busy ones for the Fishers. The heavily forested land had to be cleared and broken for planting, the house and barns were built, and children arrived. Elizabeth suffered the loss of her only brother, Francis, in 1723. The Kennett Friends meeting had to be faithfully supported, and Thomas would have been called upon to help when the Kennett meeting house was remodeled in 1719. Elizabeth did find time to visit her home meeting of Concord in 1716 to attend the wedding of Samuel Painter and Elizabeth Buxcey, and Thomas accepted a civil appointment in 1725, as overseer of the poor in Kennett Township. The last Huntley sister was married off in 1727. The Fishers managed to avoid any controversy or transgression that would have brought them mention in the meeting records of this period. Most of the Fisher birth records are missing, but there is a record of the oldest son William's 1714 birth date, which was entered years later, after his death.

Thomas Fisher's tax rates for Kennett Township have been found for many of the years from 1715 until he moved to East Caln in 1742. (Colonial tax records for Chester County after 1740 are lost.)

1715	1S/10d	1722	7S/6d	1729	5S	1736
1716		1723		1730	7S/6d	1737	3S
1717		1724	8S	1731		1738
1718	4S	1725	6S	1732	3S	1739	1S
1719	5S/4d	1726	6S	1733		1740	1S
1720	7S/6d	1727		1734	3S
1721	6S/3d	1728		1735	3S

The tax numbers suggest that in 1715, Thomas Robinson owned a house on the Robinson/Fisher tract but Thomas Fisher did not. The Fisher tax rate was low in 1715 (1S 10d), while his partner Thomas

Robinson was taxed at a high rate (2S 9d). By 1718/19, Thomas Robinson had disappeared and the Fisher rate increased significantly. One idea is that Thomas Robinson may have been part of the "Bristol Company" of his neighbor James Wallis. The entire company died at the same time in early 1719, perhaps in a ship wreck. It is possible that the Fishers lived as tenants to Thomas Robinson, but it is also possible that they lived first on the old Huntley place (owned by Isaac Few), or on the Fletcher place abutting it on the south. Elizabeth Huntley Fisher's mother (Mary Standfield Huntley) had sold the Huntley tract to her brother-in-law Isaac Few in 1709, and the east end was subdivided for James Few, son of Isaac. Isaac lived on a different tract. It could be that the Fishers had no plan to buy into clearing the title to the 1701 Robinson/Fisher right of warrant, until Thomas Robinson suddenly left it. The Fishers did not pay the Penns to clear the title until 1739.

A Thomas Fisher was also on the tax list for Haverford Township in 1732 (2S6d). The reason for this is unknown.

Several small children of Thomas and Elizabeth must have died about 1727. There is a long gap in the apparent ages of the children, based upon the marriage dates. One would expect the grandparents and parents to be honored with the first four children's births. A child named for Thomas Fisher's mother may have been one of those that died, as well as early children named Thomas and Mary, whose names were used again later. Unfortunately, the Kennett birth records for most of Thomas Fisher's children are missing.

The 1701 farm had been originally surveyed for Thomas Robinson and Thomas Fisher (the elder?). It lies in what is now the Parkersville rural community in Pennsbury, a short distance north of the old Kennett Meeting House. In 1739, the land was bounded on the west by the Zarobabel Thatcher land, on the south by William Webb, on the East by the Harlan family, and on the north by the Parker, Few, Joseph Taylor, and Harlan families. James and Daniel Few were cousins of Elizabeth. A view of what may be the homesite can be found at the present intersection of Street Road and Graychalk Road. Deeds for the land were signed by both Thomas and Elizabeth by their marks, showing that neither were educated.

Note: There is a possibility that the Taylor neighbors were relatives of Thomas Fisher. Philadelphia Monthly Meeting records show the marriage of Joseph Taylor to Sarah Fisher, daughter of John, 30th of 1st month 1716. Sarah was a daughter of the John Fisher who came in 1700 from Pardshaw Crag meeting in Cumberland, northwest England, and settled in Philadelphia County. John's wife is believed to have been named Sarah. Children appearing in the Quaker records were Sarah, John (m. Mary Hodge 1728), Hannah (d. 1714), Love (d. 1706), and Mary (d. 1724). A Joseph Taylor (son of Joseph?) was a near neighbor of Thomas and Elizabeth Fisher in Kennett, his farm being adjacent at the northeast part of the Fisher farm. Accounts were due to Joseph Taylor, mentioned in his estate settlement of 1740, from James Fisher (1 shilling threepence) and Thomas Fisher (1 shilling). If this Joseph was a relative of Sarah Fisher Taylor, a connection of some sort might be implied with John Fisher of Pardshaw. However, a preliminary study of the Taylors has not borne this out. No Fisher connections have been discovered in the area during or prior to Thomas Fisher's residency.

In June of 1728, Thomas Fisher and his wife's cousin James Few were chastised by Kennett meeting, apparently for threatening to bring suits in a civil court. It is unclear if they were challenging each other or someone else. This may have concerned the old Huntley place below John Hope's tract, which Isaac Few had bought and where James Few had a partition at the east end. James may have lived in the former Huntley house, near where a corner of the property crossed the Pike (Hwy 1). After months of persuasion by the Quakers, Thomas read a statement to the congregation, which was accepted as giving satisfaction:

“1728 4th of 11th Mo. At our Monthly Meeting of Newark held at Center. The ffrnd appointed to read the Testimony given into Last meeting by Tho: ffisher report he hath done it which here under followeth.”

“To the Monthly Meeting of Newark held at Kennett ye 7th of ye 11th moth 1728. Inasmuch as I have been guilty of fetching a warent for one in Communion with me Contrary to the good order Established amongst us for which disorderly act I am sorrey and gives this as a testimony against the same as witness my hand. Thomas ffisher.”

In 1735 Thomas Fisher bought 15 acres on the northern boundary of his land from Ruth Harlan (see deed F-3). This was possibly meant to be a wedding gift for his son James, who would soon marry. The triangular tract filled in the space between the large farm and the road on the north (now Parkersville Road). Thomas was on the Kennett tax lists beginning in 1715, and finally obtained a Patent from the Penn brothers for the public land in 1739, for “two English Shillings per year quitrent.” This was the usual rate of one shilling per hundred acres per year. He had to pay 38 years of quitrents due to clear the title. Thomas farmed the land with his two oldest sons, William and James, until 1740.

The Fishers may have built a house near the intersection of Street Road and Parkersville Road. There is a stone house there now, on the south side of Street Road and west side of Parkersville Road. The land map of 1873 shows William House living there (apparently Wm. S. House, son of Amos House); the 1883 map shows William’s son Benjamin S. House living there. The Fishers were associated with the House family in several ways. In 1778, Robert Fisher’s widow (Martha Edwards Fisher) married Amos House. They had a son Benjamin, then Martha died. Amos remarried and had a son William S., father of Benjamin S. House. Census records show that Martha’s son Benjamin lived at the crossroads with his half-brother William S. House. Amos House’s father, James House, bought his land in Marlborough from James Fisher’s brother-in-law William Andrew, who came from Lurgan, Ireland. During the Revolution, Amos House lived in Birmingham Township with his aunt, Elizabeth (Richardson) Chads, widow of John Chads, who was a cousin of Elizabeth Huntley Fisher. (The Parker family, who got the land in 1811, were also related to the Richardsons).

Soon after William Fisher married in 1739, Thomas sold him the upper 118 acres of the large tract, plus the smaller triangle. In 1740 Thomas sold the lower part to William Webb for 140 pounds.

Deeds show that William Fisher’s part of the Pennsbury land (118+15 acres) remained with direct descendants until 1811, then went to the Parker and Webb families until 1870, when it went to the House family, descendants of Robert Fisher’s widow.

In 1811, the land was sold to John Parker Jr. via a series of transfers between Thomas Fisher Pim, his parents John Pim & Hannah Fisher Pim (daughter of Robert Fisher), and Jacob Baily as lease/release intermediary.

Land descent traced to date was: Thomas Fisher (1701), William Fisher (1741), Robert Fisher (1748), (Hannah Fisher/Thomas Fisher Pim/John Pim/Jacob Baily/ John Parker Jr.) (1811), William Webb Parker (1857), Alban Webb (1860), William S. House (1870), Benjamin S. House (1873). The village of Parkersville grew up around the property, and John Parker Jr. was the first postmaster of the Parkersville Post Office on Parkersville Road, near the intersection with Street Road.

All the Fishers except William moved 20 miles northward to East Caln. The Quaker meeting records are silent concerning the Fishers from 1714 until 1728. From 1728 onward, the meeting records of

The Standfield and Huntley Families

Mary Standfield, mother of Elizabeth Huntley Fisher, was the daughter of Francis and Grace (Achele) Standfield. Francis Standfield, a Quaker, was a “husbandman” (farmer) who brought his family to Pennsylvania from Cheshire, England in 1683. Francis had been subjected to religious persecution in England. The Standfields arrived at Philadelphia July 29, 1683, aboard the ketch “Endeavor” of Liverpool, George Thorpe, Master. The Endeavor was one of the ships that brought many of the original Quaker settlers to the Pennsylvania Province beginning in 1682. William Penn made at least one voyage on the Endeavor, when he returned to England in 1684. Francis and his wife, Grace, brought with them five children, James, Mary, Sarah, Elizabeth, Grace and Hannah; and eight servants, Daniel Browne, Thomas Massey (Marsey), Isa. Brookesby, Robert Sidbotham, John Smith, Robert Bryan, William Rudway and Thomas Sidbotham. A sixth child, Deborah, seems to have been born after the arrival in Pennsylvania.

Francis Standfield was arrested in 1670 at a Quaker meeting at “Cartop” (apparently meaning Cutthorpe, parish of Brampton at the edge of Chesterfield in Derbyshire). The birth of Elizabeth, daughter of Francis and Grace, was recorded in the same year by Chesterfield meeting. In 1673, Quaker records show that Grace, daughter of “Francis and Grace of Marthill” was born at Marple, on the boundary of a tip of Cheshire near Manchester. In August of 1682 James Standfield, son Francis and Grace, signed a certificate at Congleton (Cheshire) Monthly Meeting for a group of Quakers leaving for Bucks County, Pennsylvania. The Standfields left for Pennsylvania in the following year. In Pennsylvania, they were listed as being from “Garton in Cheshire,” which may have been a reference to Gorton, Manchester, near the Cheshire line. “Garton” could also be a mistake for Garston near Liverpool, the port of embarkation. Francis Standfield was probably from the West Yorkshire Stansfield family, who were early Quakers in and around Halifax Parish, in the West Riding of Yorkshire. The Standfields were among the earliest settlers of the township of Marple, just west of Philadelphia between Darby Creek and Crum Creek. Francis and son James had numerous land holdings and were active in the community. Francis was an assemblyman for Chester County in 1685, and son James gained wealth and prominence until his untimely death in the 1699 yellow fever epidemic. Grace died in 1691 and Francis followed a year later.

Business ties between the Standfields and the Fishers of Sussex County create an appearance of family ties with our Chester County Fishers, but no proof has been found of any relationship. A discussion of this is given in the appendix to this book.

William Huntley came to Pennsylvania prior to 1691, and lived in Birmingham Township, near the present Chadds Ford village on the Brandywine. William belonged to the Birmingham Friends Meeting, and went before the Concord Monthly Meeting in 1692 to propose marriage to Mary Standfield. Shortly after the marriage, Mary’s father, Francis Standfield died and left William a 25-acre tract from the Standfield estate in Marple, at the intersection of the present Sproul Road and Lawrence Road. William also had a tract in Falls Township, Bucks County which appears in the tax list for 1693. William Huntley, father of Elizabeth Huntley Fisher, may have been related to the Huntleys of Barbados. William Huntley and Elizabeth Cowe Huntley lived in St. Philips, Barbados. There was also a William Huntley near Burlington, New Jersey who was indentured to Walter Pumphrey.

Just across the Marple Road from the Huntley land was the estate of Ebeneazor Longshaw (Longford, Langford), who had come from Barbados, perhaps bringing William Huntley at the same time. The Standfields later bought out all the Longshaw estate. In 1696, William Huntley temporarily took in the “orphan of Thomas Longshaw” as an indentured servant, while the court awaited the arrival of an unnamed immigrant who was to take the orphan in service. A possibility is suggested that the Longshaws could have been relatives of Thomas Fisher's mother, or of the Huntleys or Standfields. Thomas Longshaw owned land in Wilmington, in the constabulary of Newcastle Town, on the north side of Christina Creek, as early as 1685. James Standfield, uncle of Elizabeth Huntley Fisher, also owned land at the same location, along with his friends and trading associates including John Collet, Thomas Pierson (surveyor), James Read, and the merchant brothers James and Hercules Couatts. Thomas Green, whose (supposed) son Nicholas would marry the widow of the Sussex County Thomas Fisher (son of the immigrant John and brother of James), also had property at the same place.

In 1700, William Huntley sold his land in Marple to Peter Worrall, and returned to Birmingham with his family. William obtained a survey in 1703 for 200 acres in Chester County, described in the "History of Chester County" as being in the part of Kennett that is now Pennsbury, near the Brandywine. The Huntleys sold their Birmingham house and plantation to Jonathan Hayes in 1705, and moved a few miles to the west, across the Brandywine. The west end of their tract (in Kennett/Pennsbury Township) was a little east of (now) Hickory Hill Road. The tract extended eastward so that Highway 1 (the Pike) just crossed the northeast corner. Jonathan Hayes was murdered at Birmingham in 1715.

The Huntleys had five children, Elizabeth, Francis, Deborah, Mary and Sarah.

1. Elizabeth, m. first Thomas Fisher, 1713. She married 2nd, John Cope, 1748.
2. Francis, d. June 1723, no known marriage.
3. Deborah, m. James Bruce, 1720. She married 2nd, Thomas Thornbury (Thornbrough), 1744 at Swede's Church, Wilmington.
4. Mary, m. Peter Whitaker, 1724.
5. Sarah, m. John Stanton, 1727. (Married out of meeting, by a magistrate. John Stanton later became a Quaker.)

William Huntley died at Kennett in 1708, stipulating in his will that his minor children be sent to his wife's married sisters in Thornbury and Birmingham. The widow Mary returned briefly to Marple and then to Birmingham in 1709, where she and daughter Elizabeth were members of Concord meeting until Thomas Fisher married Elizabeth there in 1713. Elizabeth's mother, the widow Mary Standfield Huntley, remarried in the fall of 1713, to Richard Fletcher and lived at least until 1736, when she attended the wedding of son James.

For more information concerning the Huntleys, see "The William Huntley Family of Colonial Pennsylvania" by this author.

The Francis Standfield estate house, a two-story log structure, may have survived inside a more modern restoration at a private residence, located on Crum Creek Road near Marple Road, in the village of Marple, Chester County, Pennsylvania. A brick house on McClarie Street nearby has also been studied as possibly sitting on the Standfield foundation.

Upper Picture: This brick house is on the site marked in 1683 maps as the location of Francis Standfield's house. The house is believed to include parts of the original structure. Francis was the maternal grandfather of Elizabeth Huntley Fisher, who married Thomas Fisher about fifteen miles southwest of this house, in 1713. The house is near Paxton Hollow Road and Sproul Road, on McClarie Street.

Lower Picture: This house, also on the original land grant from William Penn, is believed by some to be the Francis Standfield house. This is a log structure. The house has been extensively restored but the logs remain under the plaster. The house is on Crum Creek Road, near Sproul Road.

John Chads was a cousin of Elizabeth Huntley Fisher, wife of Thomas Fisher. The Fishers lived a few miles northwest of this house. They would have been frequent visitors, and would have used the Chads' ferry to cross the Brandywine River. The Chad family still lived here during the Revolutionary War, when the Battle of Brandywine was fought nearby.

The kitchen has a walk-in fireplace with a brick-lined beehive oven at the back, which protrudes outside the house like a small igloo.

Birmingham Township, Near Dillworthtown

When Thomas Fisher and Elizabeth Huntley announced their intention to marry in early 1713, William Brinton was one of those appointed by the Concord Quakers to look into the suitability of the marriage. Thomas and Elizabeth were probably frequent visitors to this house during the first year of their marriage, when they were living with nearby relatives. The following year they settled in Kennett Township, a few miles to the west of this house.

The Brinton house has been restored to its 1704 condition. The stonework and the interior walls, fireplaces, and cellar are all original.

The Fishers After Moving from Kennett/Pennsbury to East Caln

In 1740, Joseph Wilkinson of Caln, a few miles north of Kennett, came to Kennett to marry Elizabeth Jr., the oldest daughter. The Wilkinsons came from Ballynacree near Ballymony, in the north of Ireland. Joseph and Elizabeth went to Caln to live. The following year, Thomas Fisher's second son James, and wife Alice, moved to East Caln. In 1742, Thomas and Elizabeth followed, with their three younger children. The oldest son, William, stayed on the farm in Kennett. The teen-aged son Samuel stayed on with William and worked on the Kennett farm another season before joining the family in Caln. The Fishers settled north of Coatesville in East Caln, on a land purchase from the Penn family, of 250 acres. The site is now in West Brandywine, on the north side of Beaver Creek Road.

The Fishers were members of Bradford Monthly Meeting, which met alternately at the Caln meeting house (near Coatesville) and Bradford meeting house (near Marshallton). Thomas Sr. became a leader at Caln and was named overseer of Caln Meeting. After he died, his widow Elizabeth (Huntley) Fisher became overseer. Later, Thomas Jr. was overseer.

The Fishers moved here (then part of East Caln) from what is now Pennsbury Township (then part of Kennett). The center part is the oldest. Both ends have been extended, and an L-shaped wing was added (not visible here.) The original form of the house would have looked similar to the stone part of the 1704 Brinton House in Birmingham.

Near Coatesville, Pennsylvania

The Fishers lived west of this Friends Meeting House, in what is now West Brandywine, from 1741 until Thomas died in 1747. Thomas is buried in the cemetery on the grounds of the meeting house. Thomas, his wife Elizabeth Huntley Fisher, and son Thomas Jr. all served as overseers of the Caln meeting.

Thomas Fisher and his sons became successful farmers in the 1740s. William had the Kennett property; Thomas purchased 250 acres in East Caln, and James Fisher purchased a tract in 1743 to the south of Thomas. In addition to the original land at Kennett, records show a warrant for 200 additional acres to William in 1742, but it was never executed. Thomas and wife Elizabeth owned 250 acres of land when he died April 3, 1747. His will was proved August 27, 1747, and is filed in Will Book B. Page 228, Chester County, Pennsylvania. Thomas gave his third son, Samuel (the oldest unmarried son), 150 acres of land, 100 acres to the fourth son, Thomas Jr., and smaller bequests to the other children. Caln Meeting records contain a plea to settle a claim by the heirs of Samuel Pyle, deceased, against the estate of Thomas Fisher. The Quakers ruled that “the debt shall be paid,” which it was.

In 1748, the widower John Cope proposed marriage to the widow Elizabeth Fisher. Considerable hesitation followed, with delays attributed to various indispositions and floods. Elizabeth eventually consented, and may have had some regrets. She gained a stepson, who immediately disgraced himself with a woman.

Elizabeth Jr.’s in-laws, the Wilkinsons from Ballinacree near Ballymoney in the north of Ireland,, also proved to be somewhat of an embarrassment to the family. Joseph and his brother Evan both had a history of bad debts. Evan was the worst, with repeated bad debts and disorderly conduct.

The “good order” of the Quakers seems to have been more difficult to maintain during these years at Caln. Even Thomas Fisher Jr. was disciplined for drinking to excess on one occasion, and was questioned about debts on another. The records are filled with incidents (concerning other members) such as drinking too much, running a tavern, “shooting on the first day of the week,” joining a military training association, hiring a hand to plow while driving a team for the military, paying taxes (commonly done but contrary to the old discipline), and abusive language. There is also an entry concerning a document to be read at the meeting concerning how to cope with drowsiness. It was not easy being a Quaker.

Thomas Jr., Francis and Samuel all went briefly to New Garden Monthly Meeting to marry, but settled in East Caln. Francis moved back to New Garden in 1761 with his wife and three children. James and wife Alice, with five children, moved west of the Susquehanna in 1762, to Newberry township, just southwest of Harrisburg in York County, where they joined the Warrington Meeting. The youngest daughter, Mary, married at Uwchlan.

The following “Memoir of an Old House” by Anne S. Follweiler, was provided by Patrice and Jeff Grossman, resident owners in 2009 of the Thomas Fisher house in West Brandywine (formerly part of East Caln).

“We felt the old place had ‘promise’, and so we bought it. Our parents thought we were out of our minds.”

We fell in love with the windows in the living room, their sills almost three feet deep, lined with bookshelves, flanking the beautiful woodwork of the fireplace. The condition of the plumbing, electrical system, and the furnace - the things you are supposed to be concerned about when you are looking to buy a house - became only secondary considerations. We felt the old place had ‘promise’, and so we bought it. Our parents thought we were out of our minds.

The following is taken from “Between the Brandywines, 300 Years of Heritage”, 1984, by the West Brandywine Township Book Committee, 1984, Page 23. It is a description of the house built by Thomas Fisher and Elizabeth Huntley Fisher in East Caln (in the part which is now West Brandywine.)

For several years, my husband and I had looked at real estate as a fun thing to do on weekends. The result was a long list of fanciful criteria for our dream house, especially after we toured homes on several Chester County

Descendants and Ancestors of Cephas Fisher Jr.

Days. We thought we would have to move to Vermont or New Hampshire to have the kind of rural isolation about which we were fantasizing, but when we saw this house and the barns, right here in Chester County, we knew right away that “this was it.” The farm has eleven acres, a stucco over stone house dating from the 1740s, large barns, a springhouse, a pond, an orchard, pastures and wherever we look, views of rolling fields and woods.

Before moving to the farm, we spent many hours planning what should be done first to make the house into the home we had envisioned. At the top of our list was getting the shutters back on the house; at the time they piled in a corner of the barn. We had no idea how many “little projects” would take priority over those shutters in the course of the next twenty-one years. Last year, they finally made it to the top of our list.

We had hoped to be able to have some work done on the house before we moved in. No maintenance had been done inside or out for more than ten years. The grass had not been mowed and ivy had overgrown the outside walls and forced its way inside through broken window frames. The house was so dirty and had such a foul odor that a carpenter refused to work here until it smelled better.

The previous owner had promised to be moved out several weeks before we had planned to move in, but when the day arrived, our new home was the setting for a comic procession in which she was still taking some of her things out the front door, as we were moving ours in the back. So much for best laid plans; we were forced to begin work on the house after we moved in.

We first set up housekeeping using the kitchen as our main living area. The dining room was used as a living room, and the living room as a storage room. The bedroom, having the best bathroom of the three on the second floor, became the temporary bedroom.

We pulled the ivy off the house and cut back the surrounding overgrowth, and on one of the first days living at the house, we walked down to the springhouse. We had not been there since we saw the property before settlement. At that time, the springhouse had seemed to be in sound condition, but to our horror we found that the entire back half of the roof had collapsed, and there was a dead raccoon in the water. Since our drinking water comes from that spring, the springhouse had to be fixed before we did anything more to the house - FAST! Just get a new roof put on, right? Wrong.

A new spring had surfaced under the front wall. First, that wall had to be torn down, then a new wall rebuilt on solid footing. With this completed, the roof could be replaced. After that incident, the workmen discovered the large animal barn was twisting and would collapse if it was not supported with internal bracing. That became our next ‘project’ - and we were not without a ‘project for the next twenty years; each one inevitably seemed to take longer and be more complicated than we ever anticipated it would. That is the way it goes with an old property.

We have a hand written title search of the farm that was done in 1907. This record of the Twenty two families who had owned the property includes each purchase price, back to the first years when English pounds were still the currency. The original Penn Land Grant for 225 acres remained intact until the people from whom we bought the property sold off all the land except for the eleven acres of the present farm. The house had been built in three sections; the center part is the original, built in the 1740s. The living room end was added around 1840. In the 1950s, the kitchen end of the house was built by the owner who did major restorations on the rest of the house. The plumbing, electrical system, and the furnace were updated at that time, and were still in good condition when we bought the property. Working on one room at a time, we spackled, sanded, painted, redid floors, and replaced bathroom fixtures.

Our family has enjoyed being a part of the history of this property, and we feel a sense of connection to the people who lived here before. This is especially true every time an area of ground has been dug up for the various construction projects. We have found many pieces of objects, such as bottles, jugs, china and ironware, that were in daily use by previous owners, and have come to realize that rather than being simply the present owners, we also privileged custodians, preserving it for future generations to enjoy.

As our family grew, we realized that the design of the first floor of the house was very impractical for children. To remedy that, we decided in 1976 to put an addition on the house. We wanted the addition to appear to be the oldest part of the house, with a wide open view of the pond and surrounding country. Howard Okie, our architect, was Able to translate our vision into the resulting 'Great Room' on the first floor with additional rooms upstairs.

We constructed a makeshift walkway to the house from leftover floorboards from the construction. This walkway was still being used when we were asked for the first time to have the house open for Chester County Day. Immediately, it was apparent we would have to put in a permanent walk. We wanted to have the walk incorporated into a larger design to enhance the entrance area. Again Howard came up with solutions for turning our ideas into reality. The workmen were able to get all the various projects finished in time - even though it was 'just barely'.

On that Chester County Day in 1981, we realized that the result we had envisioned had really been achieved: many people commented, after walking through the old parts of the house and then looking into our five-year-old addition, "Now this is really old."

Four years ago, when we were in the midst of constructing a terrace off the back of the addition, we were again asked to open our house for Chester County Day. We'd hoped that the terrace would be completed in time, but on the Day, the foundation was the only part that was finished. Today the terrace is complete and perennial and herb gardens have been designed and planted. We are looking forward to welcoming this years Chester County Day visitors and sharing with them this wonderful house and its history."

"Wild Briar Farm, Beaver Creek Road", by Dr. and Mrs. Brent S. Follweiler.

"The original house, which was built shortly after 1740, has been expanded four times. The West extension was added approximately 1850; the East addition was built around 1950, and other major renovations to the main house were made then also; the final extension was made to the North in 1976.

Other buildings included a barn for animals which was built in the middle 1700's, with a wooden addition in 1863. Major renovations were made during the 1940s, and a garage was built in 1950. The springhouse is circa 1700, with major renovations made in the 1950s, and again in the 1970s.

Records show that, from the 1880's to about 1900, the owner was George Moses, a farmer and dairyman. From about 1900 to the mid 1930s, the farm was owned by Thomas Rettew, M.D., a general practitioner in Coatesville. From the 1930s to 1960, a farmer and businessman, Harry Cassels, was the owner. Mr. Cassels also ran a feed mill in Coatesville near Caln Bridge, in a building that is still standing and occupied. From 1960 to 1970, the owner of Wild Briar Farm was George Payne, a horse trainer.

The boundaries of the 225 acres were Route 82, Culbertson Run Road, Swinehart Road, and Beaver Creek Road. All the land, except for the 11 acres around the house and barns, was sold to the Archdiocese of Philadelphia in the late 1960s.

The original farm property was a land grant from the sons of William Penn to Samuel Fisher in approximately 1740 (sic the grant was to Samuel's father, Thomas Fisher).

The present farm is owned by Dr. and Mrs. Brent S. Follweiler. (1984)

Original Landowners in the Part of Old East Caln Which Is Now in West Brandywine
Chester County, Pennsylvania

Thomas Fisher and his brother-in-law Peter Whitaker divided the 500-acre tract (shaped like the state of Utah) which had been reserved for the Penn family.

The Thomas & Elizabeth (Huntley) Fisher farm in West Brandywine (formerly part of East Caln). The arrow in the shaded area at upper right points to the house, still standing but restored & enlarged, on the north side of Beaver Creek Road.

The farm of James Fisher & wife Alice (Stanfield) is shown in the shaded area a little to the south of Thomas Fisher, his father. The farm is mostly on the north side of Hurley Road. It was later the the Doane farm.

Descendants and Ancestors of Cephas Fisher Jr.

III. James Fisher Sr. and Alice Stanfield

James Fisher, son of Thomas Fisher and Elizabeth Huntley, was born February 13, 1715, to Quaker parents of Newark Monthly Meeting at Kennett, Chester County, Pennsylvania. James married Alice Stanfield at Kennett on April 14, 1736. Alice was a daughter of Samuel Stanfield and Jane Andrew, who were Quakers belonging to the monthly meeting at Lurgan in County Armagh, in the north of Ireland. James and Alice had children: Jane (1738), Samuel (1740), James (1744), Isaac (1746), Amos (1748), Merriam (1748), Elizabeth (1750), and Samuel (1752).

In 1741, James Fisher obtained a warrant for 200 acres of land in East Caln, north of Coatesville about 25 miles from Kennett. His sister, Elizabeth (Fisher) Wilkinson, had already moved to that area in 1740. Their parents (Thomas and Elizabeth (Huntley) followed in 1742 with their younger children, and their brother Samuel moved in 1743. The farm of James and Alice Fisher was located on the north side of what is now Hurley Road in Brandywine Township.

In 1762, James and Alice moved their family to Newberry in York County, where they were members of Warrington Monthly Meeting. James Fisher died at Monaghan, York County, Pennsylvania in 1775.

The home place built by James and Alice Fisher in West Brandywine, Chester County, is described below.

Fieldstone & Stucco House Built about 1740 by James Fisher, Son of Thomas Fisher

The photo, and sketch following, are taken from “Between the Brandywines, 300 Years of Heritage”, 1984, by the West Brandywine Township Book Committee, 1984. James Fisher & wife Alice Stanfield Fisher lived here until 1762, about 2 miles south of the house of his father (Thomas Fisher). The farm is located off the north side of Hurley Road in West Brandywine Township, Chester County, Pennsylvania. The place is listed as the “Doan Farm,” with reference to the original Fisher owners.

...(A sketch of some land records is given, beginning with James & Alice Fisher’s sale of 184 acres to William Wilson in 1762 and ownership some of it by the Doan family until 1937). Then:

“It is my understanding that the five acres with the house, barn and other buildings as well as the springhouse were purchased by Vince and Karen Gorman.

The farm except for the pasture along Hurley Road, was entirely surrounded by dry stone wall. In the northwest corner of this wall, Norman Ash, neighbor and surveyor, found a cairn set in place by some earlier surveyor. The wall was carefully replaced as it had been and may even at this time remain in position since it was in a wooded area.

William Dingee (farm to West) was the uncle of Marian Ash, who married Elmer Doan, brother of Walter R. Doan.

When Clara Nichols Holliday married Charles F. Doan, her children, Laura Holliday, Elmer Holliday, Frances Holliday, and Walter Holliday were adopted ...

There were three hand dug wells on the property. One at the barn, one at the house and one in the meadow. This latter one was referred to as an “indian well”, though there is no other information on it than that.

The house was built in two sections but did not appear so when looking at it from the outside. The older section (west side) had a corner fireplace and a small closet (eye-level high) on the west wall. All walls in both sections were approximately 15 to 18 inches thick. It was apparent that field stone had been used in the building. The door sill in the older part was well worn.

Through the years when the Walter R. Doan family occupied the property many flint (white) and granite (grey) arrowheads were turned up in cultivation of the fields.

Descendants and Ancestors of Cephas Fisher Jr.

Both the fireplace in the old section and the fireplace in the new had cranes in them. At one time both staircases were spiral.

Both sections had cellars (later tunneled through to connect them).

The barn was reported to have been struck by lightning and burned. If so, it was prior to 1911.

The attic contained a blanket chest which must have been built in the attic since it could in no way be removed except to remove part of the roof. There were also two spinning wheels and two muzzle-loader guns in the attic, as well as a brass school bell and hand hewn hickory pointer which had been used at Friendship School. Powder and shot pouches as well as powder were also in the attic.

A large chest of hand made carpenter tools, anvil and horse shoes were in an out-building called "the shop".

The wagon sheds, of which there were two (one with corn crib attached) contained a sleigh and a double-horse sled.

The barn had two large mows, with two separate areas for unloading wagons, etc.

In the early part of the century, Buffalo Bill wintered animals on a neighboring farm. Information about this can be obtained from Henry and Robert Guss, West Chester. They are relatives and I believe have a lot of information about that."

In 1762 James and Alice Fisher moved to Newberry Township, York County, where they were members of Warrington Meeting . James and Alice had seven children; Samuel (m. Sarah Wills, 1777), Jane (m. George Philips III of Bucks County, 1762), James (b. 18 Jul 1744 at East Caln, Chester Co. Pa., m. Jane Atkinson 15 Feb 1775 at Monaghan, York Co. Pa.; d. 30 Aug 1828, Highland County, Ohio), Isaac, Amos, Merriam (m. John McAdams), and Elizabeth (m. William Randel).

In 1768, James Fisher conveyed to his oldest son, Samuel, his tract of 200 acres in Newberry Township, for use of Samuel and in trust for the other heirs of James. James died in Monahan Township, York County, in 1771. He left two plantations in Newberry Township, of 200 acres each. Alice died at Monahan in 1788 or after. The will, which was dated June 7, 1788, was not examined. For some reason it may not have been probated until May 2, 1800.

The Stanfields

Samuel Standfield, a Quaker born about 1690, was a possible son of John Stansfield, born about 1665, of Shore, West Yorkshire. Quaker records show that John Stanfield was at Ballyhagan near Lurgan in County Armagh, Ireland, by 1701, and Samuel was at Lurgan by 1709. Samuel married Jane Andrew at Lurgan, at the southern end of Lake Neagh near Belfast, in 1711. Jane was a daughter of William Andrew Sr. of Lurgan. In the Yorkshire parish records: William Andrew marr. Mary Stephenson, daughter of Robert, at Weighton-Market 9 Nov 1671. Mary b. 2 Nov 1651 at Howden. Samuel, Jane, and the Andrew family were members of the Lurgan Friends Monthly Meeting. On "3 Mo. 7 1729," Samuel and Jane requested a certificate to remove to Pennsylvania and were received at Nottingham, Chester County, early in 1730. They were accompanied by Jane's brother William Jr. When John, son of Samuel and Jane, married Hannah Dixon at Kennett in 1742, William Andrew was one of the family in attendance. William Andrew Jr. had married Miriam Bullock of Lurgan meeting at Lurgan, County Armagh in 1717. George, son of William and Miriam, was born 1719 at Lurgan. Detailed Lurgan records for the Stanfields and relatives are given in "The Samuel Standfield Family of Colonial Pennsylvania (Revised edition 2009) by J.L. Fisher.

Upon arrival in Pennsylvania, Samuel and Jane Standfield seem to have settled first in East Nottingham, Chester County. Samuel and Jane moved closer in on the Pike, to Kennett, about 30 miles from Philadelphia, in the spring of 1731. They seem to have been at East Nottingham only a short time, since their names are not mentioned in the Nottingham meeting records prior to their request to relocate. The following entries concerning their "certificate of removal" from Nottingham have been preserved.

"At Our Meeting of E. Nottingham held the 20th of ye 1st Mo 1730, Samll Stanfield hath requested of this meeting a certificate on behalf of himself & his wife to ye mo'ly meeting of Kennett. Arthur Barret & John Churchman are therefore appointed to make Enquiry in to his conversation & Prepare a Certificate accordingly & bring to ye next Mo'ly meeting. At our mtg of E. Nottingham held ye 17th of ye 2nd mo 1731, The Friends appointed to make Enquirey into ye Conversation & Circumstances of Samll Stanfield have given this meeting an acct yt they find nothing to obstruct him of having a Certificate & have Brought one wch was read, approved & signed at our mtg of E. Nottingham."

Samuel and Jane Standfield had six children, Alice, John, Jane, William, Samuel and Mary. The three oldest children (Alice, John, and Jane) were probably born in the north of Ireland before the immigration. Samuel and Jane were both at the marriage of daughter Alice to James Fisher on second month 14 (April 14), 1736. The birth of their youngest child Mary was recorded in 1738. Jane was at the wedding of son John at Kennett in 1742. Samuel Sr. had apparently died by that time.

IV. James Fisher Jr. and Jane Atkinson

James Fisher Jr., a Quaker, was born July 18, 1744 in East Caln, Chester County, Pennsylvania, a son of James Fisher and Alice Standfield. In 1762, the family moved to Newberry, York County, where they were members of Warrington Monthly Meeting. James Jr. married Jane Atkinson February 15, 1775 at Newberry. Jane was born in Bucks County in 1753 to Cephas Atkinson and Hannah Naylor. James and Jane settled in nearby Monaghan.

James Fisher Jr. of Monaghan, York County is listed as a veteran of the Revolutionary War. However, the records show that he must have struggled severely with his Quaker principles, and it is not clear to what extent he ever met the roll calls. In 1777, he was fined L3.10.0 for "failure to meet and exercise in order to learn the art military." He was listed as a Private, Fourth Class with the York County Militia, under Captain Daniel Williams, Second Company, First Battalion, in 1778. He remained a member of this unit when, in 1780, it became the Fourth Company, under Captain Andrew Wilson, Sixth Battalion, in which capacity he paid a fine of L3 after an appeal in 1781, which lists him as "infirm." After failing to "provide one able-bodied Recruit for the Continental Army, to serve during the War," under penalty of a fine of L15.0.0 specie, he was found delinquent.

The 1783 tax record for James and Jane shows: James Fisher, of Monaghan Township, 50 acres, 1 house, 1 barn, 2 horned cattle, 2 horses, 1 sheep, 7 inhabitants; valuation L91, tax L1.17.11. Taxables 1783 Monaghan.

James and Jane (Atkinson) Fisher had children: Hannah (1776), Alice (1777), Cephas (1778), Thomas (1782), James (1785), John (1787), Hiram (1788), Elizabeth (1794), Mary (1808), Jane (1810).

James and Alice Fisher moved their family from Pennsylvania in 1789, to Hopewell, Virginia, then in 1792 to Westfield, North Carolina, and on to Greene County, Tennessee. In the spring of 1806, James bought 197 acres in Highland County, Ohio, from Philip Huff of Ohio County, Virginia. Huff had received the land as a set-aside in the "Virginia Reserve" for revolutionary war veterans. The Fishers settled on the land, in East Monroe Township, Highland County.

James Fisher died August 30, 1828. His wife Alice died September 12, 1829. Both are buried at Walnut Creek Quaker Cemetery at Martinsburg, a few miles north of their home place in East Monroe.

Seven of the ten children of James and Alice were born at Warrington. After the war, Quaker records show that James obtained a certificate from the Warrington, Pennsylvania monthly meeting, dated October 10, 1789, to relocate to the monthly meeting in Hopewell, Virginia with wife Jane and children Hannah, Alice, Cephas, Mary, Thomas, James and John. The certificate was received at Hopewell on April 4, 1791. On December 3, 1792, Hopewell records show a request to relocate, with additional children Hiram and Jane, to the Westfield, North Carolina Monthly Meeting. Receipt of the certificate was recorded upon their arrival at Westfield on October 25, 1793. The family then moved to the New Hope monthly meeting in Greene County, Tennessee.

Court records of Greene County, Tennessee contain this account concerning James Fisher and his horse:

“On the Oath of Thomas Doan it appears to the Court now here that James Fisher by the hand of James Galbraith has paid to George Conway former Sheriff of Greene County $5.82, two thirds the appraised Value of a Stray Horse beast wherewith the Said James Fisher appeared to be charged on the Stray list of Said County for the year 1797.” Note: For many years after James Fisher left Pennsylvania, the Doan family owned his former farm near Coatesville, Pennsylvania.

From Goodbody's History of Greene County:

Green County is the fourth county in size in East Tennessee, having an area of 530 square miles. It lies between the Unaka Mountains on the south and Bays Mountains on the north, and is traversed by a series of valleys and ridges. The principal stream is the Nolachucky River, which receives as tributaries Lick Creek, Little Nolachucky, Horse Creek and Camp Creek. The soil of the county is generally fertile, with the exception of the extreme southern part, and even in this section the lands are found to be well adapted to tobacco culture. The richest farming lands occupy the northern portion of the county and the bottom of the "Chucky River." ...

The settlement of what is now Greene County was begun about 1788. One of the first settlers was Anthony Moore, who in that year located not far from Henderson's Station, and whose daughter is said to have been the first white child born in the county. Other settlers followed soon after, and during the next two years, the greater part of the land, along Lick Creek and the Nolachucky River had been occupied.

Daniel Kennedy came in 1779, and located on the river four miles east of Greenville, at the mouth of Holley Creek. He was one of the most prominent pioneers of the State, and deserves to rank with Sevier, Shelby and Cocke. He was chosen clerk of the county court upon the organization of the county, and continued to hold it under four successive changes of government, a sufficient proof of his integrity and worth. He was an ardent support of the State of Franklin, and was an active participant in the convention which founded it. He was also elected a brigadier-general of the Franklin militia.

Among the other early settlers of the county were James English, on the headwaters of Lick Creek; Joseph Hardin, on the Roaring Fork of Lick Creek; George, William and Henry Conway, at the mouth of Lick Creek; Amos Bird, on the Chucky River; Alexander Galbraith, on Sinking Creek; James Delaney, on Holley Creek; Lewis Brayles, on Horse Creek; James Houston, in what is known as the Cove; Lanty Armstrong, on the sight of Rheatown; Robert Carr and Robert Hood, on the sight of Greeneville; James Patterson, who had four sons -- James, Andrew, Nathaniel and William -- located on Lick Creek in 1783. The Moores, Rankins and David Rice also settled in the same vicinity. A station was erected by the Carters about eight miles northwest of Greeneville. Tephaniah [sic] Woolsey lived south of the river.

About 1790 a large number of Friends or Quakers began to come into the county from Pennsylvania and North Carolina, although a number of persons of that faith had come several years before. Among the pioneers were William Reese, Garrett and Peter Dillion, William and Abraham Smith, Solomon, David and John B. Beales, Samuel and Mordecai Ellis, Abraham Marshall, Samuel Pearson, Samuel Stanfield and George Hayworth. The first religious services were held on the eleventh day of the ninth month, 1791. Other meetings were held from time to time, and on the twenty-eighth day of the second month, 1795, New Hope monthly meeting was organized about one mile west of Rheatown where a house of worship was erected. A church house was also erected on Lick Creek at an early day.

While some of these friends were slave-holders the great majority was opposed to the institution of slavery, and it was among those earnest, simple and God-fearing people, that the first society for the abolition of negro slavery in America originated. The first branch of the Tennessee Manumission

Society was organized at Lost Creek Meeting-house in Jefferson County on February 25, 1815. On that day eight persons met for the purpose of forming themselves into a society, under the style of the Tennessee Society for promoting the Manumission of Slaves. These persons were Charles Osborne, John Canady, John Swan, John Underwood, Jesse Willis, David Maulsby, Elihu Swan and Thomas Morgan. The constitution for this society was as follows:

ARTICLE I.

Each member is to have an advertisement in the most conspicuous part of his house, in the following words, viz.: "Freedom is the natural right of all men. I therefore acknowledge myself a member of the Tennessee Society for promoting the manumission of slaves." ARTICLE II. That no member vote for a governor or legislator unless he believes him to be in favor of emancipation. ARTICLE III. That we convene twelve times at Lost Creek Meeting-house. The first on the 11th of the third month next  shall proceed to appoint a president, clerk and treasurer, who shall continue in office twelve months. ARTICLE IV. The required qualification of our members are true Republican principles * and in form of  and that no immoral character be admitted into the society as a member.

Soon after societies were formed in Greene, Sullivan, Washington and Cocke Counties and in Knoxville, and on the 21st of November, 1815, the first general convention was held at Lick Creek Meeting-house of Friends, in Greene County. The second annual convention was held on the 19th and 20th of November, 1816, at Greeneville. Unfortunately the first minutes of this society have been lost, and but little is known of the original members of other branch societies. The first secretary was John Marshall. How long this society existed could not be ascertained, but the following facts are learned from the minutes of the eighth annual convention, held at the Friends' Meeting-house at Lick Creek, in Jefferson County, on August 12 and 13, 1822.

The delegates present were as follows: Green [sic] Branch -- John Marshall, Samuel McNees and David Stanfield; Maryville Branch -- David Delzel, Isaiah Harrison, Aaron Hackney and Andrew Cowan; Hickory Valley Branch -- Isaiah Harrison and John Coulson; Nolachucky Branch -- Lawrence Earnest; Turkey Creek Branch -- William Milliken; Washington Branch -- Joseph Tucker; French Broad Branch -- William Snoddy and John McCroskey; Holston Branch -- Jesse Lockhart; Jefferson Branch -- John and James Caldwell and Elisha Hammer; Middle Creek Branch -- John Kerr. Beaver Creek, Sullivan, Powell's Valley, Knoxville and Newport Branches were not represented. James Jones was chosen president; Thomas Doan, clerk, and Asa Gray, treasurer. The whole number of members in the various branches was reported at 474. Robert M. Anderson and Jesse Lockhart were appointed to draw up a memorial to Congress, and Stephen Brooks, Thomas Doan, Wesley Earnest, Abraham Marshall and James Jones were appointed the committee of inspection for the ensuing year. As had been the custom at each preceding convention an address advocating the abolition of slavery, to be distributed to the various branch societies, was prepared. Since it inaugurated the anti-slavery agitation, which culminated in the civil war, the organization of this society must be regarded as one of the most important events in the history of the country. Note: Abraham Marshall is a name appearing in early records of land next to the Fishers in Kennett, Pennsylvania.)

On December 13, 1804, records of Miami monthly meeting, Highland County Ohio, show the arrival of James Fisher and family (with additional child Elizabeth) from Tennessee. The family settled near East Monroe, where James and Jane remained. Fairfield monthly meeting records show that Jane died at age 71 on September 18, 1824, and James died at age 84 on August 30, 1828. Both were buried in the Walnut Creek Friends Cemetery, Fayette County Ohio, near Martinsburg.

V. Cephas Fisher Sr. and Rachel Stanfield

Cephas Fisher Sr. was a Quaker, born April 13, 1778 at Monahan, York County, Pennsylvania, the son of James Fisher and Jane Atkinson, who were members of the Warrington Monthly Meeting. Cephas Sr. was taken from Pennsylvania in 1789, with his parents and family, to Hopewell, Virginia, then in 1792 to Westfield, North Carolina, and on to Greene County, Tennessee. Cephas Sr. was married August 24, 1803 in the New Hope meeting house, Greene County, Tennessee, to Rachel Stanfield (probably his third cousin).

Rachel Stanfield, born in 1785, was the daughter of Thomas Stanfield and Hannah Vernon. Thomas Stanfield was probably a grandson of John Stanfield, who had come to Pennsylvania from Lurgan, Ireland with parents Samuel Stanfield and Jane Andrew Stanfield. John Stanfield married Hannah Dixon (nee Hadley) at Kennett meeting, in 1742. He moved to Hockessin (now Delaware), and then to Cane Creek, North Carolina in 1753. He died in Orange County in 1755. One of his sons apparently moved to Greene County, Tennessee. Thomas Stanfield was on a Greene County jury in 1802, and other members of the Stanfield family also appear in Greene County court records.

Cephas Fisher Sr.'s grandmother, Alice Stanfield, was also one of the Samuel Stanfield children. Our family tradition, repeated by Grandfather Florance C. Fisher Sr., includes an Irish ancestry which was probably remembered due to history told by both Cephas and Rachel. Cephas and Rachel, and Cephas' parents, moved from Tennessee to Highland County, Ohio in 1804, where they were members of the Miami Monthly Meeting. Cephas and Rachel lived first near East Monroe in Highland County, then moved near Lees Creek and New Vienna, in Clinton County, where they remained. Rachel died May 5, 1840 at age 55 (Fairfield Monthly Meeting).

Cephas and Rachel (Stanfield) Fisher had 8 children: Rebecca, Hannah, James, Thomas, Samuel, Rachel (Jane), Hannah, Cephas A., John.

Cephas Fisher Sr. remarried after the death of Rachel, to Jane Leech Atkinson, the widow of John Atkinson, who had been robbed and thrown overboard from the "Dutch Boy" during a trip to St. Louis in 1839. Cephas became the guardian of Jane's minor children. One child, Eli, was born to Cephas and Jane.

Cephas Sr. died at age 84, December 31, 1863. Cephas and Rachel are buried at Lees Creek Friends cemetery. Thelma Lucille Fisher, in her book "Atkinson - Fisher Quaker Immigrants with William Penn," 1978, Cox Printing Company, describes Cephas Sr.'s funeral: "Cephas died 30 December 1862, in the Fairview Friends' Church neighborhood, Clinton County, was taken on a sled, on a cold, snowy New Years Day, to be buried in the Lees Creek Quaker Cemetery, on Highland Road, where mourners were warmed by a huge bonfire. He was 84 years, 8 months, and 17 days old. Both he and Rachel are buried in the back of this cemetery, on the right side." (The cemetery appears on maps about 1 1/4 miles northwest of Highland, on the left side of the road leaving Highland. It is the site of the old Lees Creek Quaker Meeting House.)

This family farmed in Clinton County, Ohio throughout the 19th century. There are Fisher descendants still living on "Fisher Road" leading out of Lees Creek toward New Vienna, which was Cephas Sr.'s post office address.

Cephas Fisher Sr. & Jr. in Ohio

With the expanded set of records I now have, the family history in Ohio is much clearer than it was when I produced the 1996 version of this book. The earliest evidence in the Ohio records is the purchase in the spring of 1806 of 197 acres in Highland County by James Fisher (father of Cephas Sr.), from Philip Huff of Ohio County, Virginia. Huff had received the land as a set-aside in the "Virginia Reserve" for revolutionary war veterans. The land was deeded in 1824 from James Fisher to Cephas Fisher Sr. By 1811 their brother Thomas had settled a little to the north in the part of Highland County that became Fayette County. Cephas Jr. was born in Madison Township, Highland County near East Monroe in 1812, and stayed on his father's farm there until age 25.

In 1837, Cephas Sr. moved a few miles northwest into Clinton County and built a large log house just south of Lees Creek, in Greene Township. The log house stood until 1905, when one of the Fishers (Henry) was killed by a falling beam in the process of taking it down. John Fisher, brother of Cephas Jr., inherited the property and built a large brick house there which can still be seen just off highway 729 about 3 miles south of Lees Creek.

Walnut Creek Quaker Site

Madison Township, Highland County, Ohio

Fisher – Littler Lands

400 – Acre Survey Bought From Philip Hupp, 1806

SW 150A = Samuel Littler, NE 250A = James & Cephas Fisher

Site of the land in Highland County, Ohio where James Fisher settled in 1806 with his family upon arrival from Greene County, Tennessee. The land right was bought from Philip Hupp (or Huff), a revolutionary war veteran from Virginia who had received it as a soldier's right for his service. Samuel Littler was a brother-in-law of Cephas Fisher Sr.

VI. Cephas A. Fisher Jr. and Mary Hoskins

Cephas A. Fisher Jr., a Quaker, was born May 18, 1812 in Highland County, Ohio, the son of Cephas Fisher Sr. and Rachel Stanfield. Cephas Jr. married Mary Hoskins 31 August 1837, in the Miami meeting house in Clinton County, Ohio. Mary Hoskins was born about 1822, in Clinton County, Ohio. They moved from Clinton County, Ohio, along with children George M., Josephus, Eli, John W., Benjamin F., Lewis and Rachel, to Sugar Creek Township, Clinton County Indiana (near Frankfort), about 1851. One son, Samuel, was born after the move. Cephas and family moved to Henry County, Iowa in 1867. On October 16, 1867, Cephas Fisher Jr. purchased 65 acres of farm land in Salem Township, Henry County, Iowa, for $1700.

Mary Hoskins Fisher died between 1873 and 1880, according to the Iowa land and census records. Her grandson Florance (in 1966) remembered his father Samuel saying he was "about 11" when his mother died. (He would actually have been at least 16.) Cephas A. Fisher Jr. died March 6, 1895 and was buried in the Salem Friends Cemetery on March 8. The attending physician was Dr. J. M Evans, M. D., of Salem.

According to grandson Florance Fisher in 1966, Cephas Fisher Jr. had the same general appearance of Cephas' son, Samuel, with dark, thick, wavy hair. He trimmed his whiskers close with scissors, but never used a razor. In the 1880 census, Cephas was living in Tippecanoe Township, Henry County, Iowa. Living with him were son George and family, and son John and family. Information given by Florance C. Fisher, 1966 about Cephas' family: "George (Bud) died at Jewel County, Kansas; Josephus died of measles and is buried in a Confederate grave at Memphisburg, Tenn.; Eli married Amanda, had a son Joe and died at Jet, Oklahoma; John W. died at Ottumwa, Iowa; Benjamin F. died about 1861; Lewis married Lizzie and died in California. Eight sons were born to Mary and Cephas, the last being twins, one of whom died of an illness in childhood; Mary spun the yarn and wove the material for her family's clothes; Mary died when her youngest son, Samuel, was about 11 years old." From Grace Long Fisher in 1970: "Cephas Fisher wore long shirts down to the heels with no trousers, as was the custom for farm work."

From talks with Florance Clinton Fisher Sr. while he was hospitalized at age 82, Feb. 11, 1968: "The old home place, 1/4 mile north of Hillsboro (Iowa) was about 4 blocks from a limestone quarry and burned down. The place that was built of brick later was several miles away. George, John, and Cephas lived in the brick house. Samuel and family lived nearby, as did Josephus. I (Florance), Eli, and Samuel once found a slab of limestone with animal tracks in it and cut it and took it to the old place that burned. It should still be on the site. The land, 20 acres, was Eli's and had a sawmill on a creek. The sawmill had a furnace and boiler. The place was 10 miles from Denova. Levi Frazier had land there and son Hubert was 18-19 around 1892."

On August 31, 1837, Cephas Jr. married Mary Hoskins, daughter of George and Mary Hoskins. They were married by a Justice of the Peace in a civil ceremony, which would have caused trouble among their Quaker families. Cephas Jr. and Mary appear in no land records for a number of years, and may have settled on his father's farm near Lees Creek or that of his uncle Thomas nearby in Fayette County. Eleven years later, in 1848, Cephas Jr. and Mary bought their own farm a few miles to the east, in Fayette County, Concord Township, and settled there.

Cephas Fisher Jr.'s deed, from Columbus Mountjoy and Bathsheba his wife of Highland County to Cephas A. Fisher, describes the land as being 50 acres on the intersection of Sabina Road and old Charleston Road, in the northwest side of the intersection. I could find no connection between Bathsheba Mountjoy and the Fishers and do not know if this land had anything to do with Cephas Jr.'s uncle Thomas who also lived in Fayette County. Christopher Columbus Mountjoy was born in Kentucky about 1813. He and his wife Bathsheba went to Keokuk in southeastern Iowa and operated a hotel there by 1860. Cephas Fisher Jr. and his wife Mary went to Clinton

Descendants and Ancestors of Cephas Fisher Jr.

County, Indiana about 1851 but by 1867 they had also moved to southeast Iowa in Henry County, not far from Keokuk.

I now have the missing 1850 census for Cephas Fisher Jr. The census-taker had mistakenly written "Stephan Fisher" for Cephas Jr., but the family is correctly enumerated. Cephas ("Stephan") and wife Mary are listed with children Rachel, George M., Josephus, Eli, John W., Benjamin F., Lewis, and Samuel. The place was Concord Township, Fayette County, Ohio, Berlin Post Office. (This Berlin no longer exists & I have not found where it was exactly.)

In 1837, Cephas Fisher Jr. (1812-1895) married Mary Hoskins (1822-1867) of Clinton County, Ohio. They settled on Sabina Road in Concord Township, Fayette County, a few miles NE of his father's log house in Clinton County, and bought the place in 1848. They sold it to Jobe McKay in November of 1854 and moved to Clinton County, Indiana. Location of the Fayette County, Ohio farm in Concord Township:

The ancestry for Cephas' wife, Mary Hoskins, has been extensively studied. One study, "The Hoskins, Haskins Family Tree," by Larry and Elaine Pfaffendorf, concluded that the Hoskins lineage went back to Beaminster in Dorset in 1585, and possibly Monmouthshire in Wales before that. Other researchers say the Pennsylvania family came from Cheshire.

The following Hoskins history is taken from "Clinton County, Indiana History and Genealogical Sketches," compiled by Joan C. Bohm, Evangel Press, 1989.

The Joan C. Bohm sketches say this John was born in "Clyshire, England" (researchers think this was a typo for Cheshire), and "came about 1683." They belonged to the Society of Friends. This John Hoskins was one of the original purchasers of land under William Penn, and owned 250 acres at Middletown. He built a home on his lot in Chester and kept a tavern. Their son John Jr. married Ruth Atkinson in 1698. He became Sheriff of Chester County in 1700, and was a member of the provincial assembly. He died in 1716. John and Ruth had a son John who married three times; his second wife being Hannah Evans. John Hoskins was among the earliest settlers in Guilford Co., NC, arriving there ca 1773. John and Hannah had one son, Moses, born 1763, Chester Co., Pennsylvania. Moses married Ruth Hodgson (Hodgson), daughter of John Hodgson and Mary Mills, in 1784 in Guilford County, North Carolina. (A note about the Hodgsons: Cora Keagle, in her 1945 book "The Hoskins Family," says the Hodgsons were descended from George Hodgson, whose family moved from England to Ireland and a few years later took a ship to America. The entire family died in passage except George. Friends on the ship took George to Philadelphia with them in 1710.) Moses Hoskins and wife Ruth moved their family to Ohio in 1810, settling in Clinton County. Moses Hoskins died in 1839, at Tazewell County, Illinois. A son of Moses and Ruth Hoskins, George, married Mary Hodgson (d/o Solomon Hodgson & Chloe Dear), March 3, 1817, at Clinton County, Ohio. They were the parents of Mary Hoskins Fisher, who married Cephas Fisher Jr. Cora Keagle and the Pfaffendorfs both tell about Jonathan Hoskins, an uncle of Mary Hoskins, who distributed seeds to pioneer Ohio families for a variety of apple, which came to be known as the "Jonathan" apple.

Cephas A. & Mary (Hoskins) Fisher had three sons who served in the Civil War. George M. & Josphas Fisher served in Company G, 86th Indiana Infantry. Eli enlisted in Company B, 17th Regiment Indiana Mounted Infantry while he was just 17 years old. In order not to lie about his age, he put a paper with the number 18 on it in his shoe, and then avowed that he was "over 18." His enlistment papers show that he had blue eyes, light hair, and was 5' 3" tall.

Eli Fisher was born 29 September 1846, Clinton Co., Ohio. He married Amanda Jane Alexander (d/o John & Betsy Alexander) in Frankfort, Indiana, 14 March 1867. Eli and Amanda, Cephas A. and Mary, and at least two other sons, George M. (m. Rachel Meese) and Lewis (m. Elizabeth Henderson), moved to Henry Co., Iowa, ca 1868. Cephas A. Fisher had a farm in Salem Twp (Henry County) Iowa. Eli and Amanda lived in Henry County, then for a few years in Jewell Co., Kansas. They were the parents of ten children, but only one lived to adulthood. Several children succumbed to diphtheria epidemics raging during those years.

Their son, Joseph C. Fisher, was born 2 January 1872, at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. His first wife, Ellen Woods, was the mother of Lilie M., William S., Grace, and Ray Fisher. Ellen died after the birth of Ray in 1902. The family had moved to Woods Co., Oklahoma Territory, ca 1897. Eli and Amanda and Eli's brother, Lewis, and family were also there in 1900. Joseph C. Fisher married Linnie May Alcorn in 1905. Their daughter, Coralie, was born at Jet (Alfalfa County) Oklahoma, 25 July 1906. Joseph & Linnie were divorced ca 1908, and Joseph later married Mrs. Pearl Hung, who had two small daughters. Joe & Pearl were the parents of Joseph S. (killed in a tornado while a child), Herberet, Harry, & Joseph Fisher Jr. (d. in Battle of St. Lo, WW II). Joe & Pearl moved their family to southern California during the 1930's. His daughters from his first & second marriages grew up and married in Oklahoma. His son, Ray, was reared by his Woods grandparents in Iowa. Joseph's son, William, preceded his mother, Ellen, in death. This Cephas A. Fisher information was taken from the submittal in Joan Bohm's book by Patricia Meyer Franks, Rt. 1, Box 35, Wawaka, IN 46794; Granddaughter of Jos. C. Fisher & d/o Coralie Fisher Meyer Stalcup.

VII. Samuel Fisher and Effie Van Tassell

Samuel Fisher, the last of our line to belong to a Quaker family, was born January 30, 1857, near Frankfort, Clinton County, Indiana, the youngest son of Cephas A. Fisher and Mary Hoskins. Their son Florance said (in 1966) that Samuel had a twin, Jimmie, who died in childhood after falling into an icy stream. The twin does not appear on the 1860 census. Samuel's family moved from Indiana to Henry County, Iowa, north of Hillsboro and near Salem, in 1868. Samuel married Effie Van Tassell on May 13, 1880 at Mankato, Kansas. Effie Van Tassel was born October 25, 1863, in Tipton, Indiana according to Grace Long Fisher, a daughter-in-law. Effie was the daughter of Royal Park (Rufus) Van Tassell and Nancy Conner. Samuel and Effie lived first in Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, then moved to Jewel Co., Kansas and back to Mt. Pleasant about 1888, then to Woods County and Helena, Oklahoma about 1897. They moved to Arkansas about 1898 and moved back to Helena in 1909. They moved to Beaver County about 1910 and to Haskell, Oklahoma in 1911. Samuel died in Okmulgee and was buried at Haskell. Samuel was a good violinist, according to his daughter, Mary. His Quaker family, however, told him there was a "devil in it" and made him dispose of it. One of his granddaughters, Edith Fisher Green, tells of Samuel's stories of watching his mother spinning yarn, weaving cloth, and sewing jeans for him to wear. Samuel's son, Florance, tells of Samuel travelling by covered wagon throughout his lifetime. In his eighties, Florance told of still remembering the trip by covered wagon from Iowa to Oklahoma.

In the 1911 land run, Samuel C. Fisher received from the land office at Woodward, Oklahoma: SE quarter of section 22 in Township One North, Range 25 East, of the Cimarron Meridian, Oklahoma, containing one hundred sixty acres. Signed April 17, 1911, by President William Howard Taft.

Samuel Fisher died August 15, 1930, at Okmulgee, Oklahoma. Effie Van Tassell Fisher died June 25, 1912, at Haskell, Oklahoma. Samuel and Effie are buried at Haskell, but not side by side, as there was an error in the purchase of the cemetery lots which resulted in separated graves.

Samuel and Effie had 12 children: Minnie Myrtle, Georgia Lula, Samuel Channing, Florance Clinton, Rufus Clyde, Royal Park, Lillie Evalette, Mary Elizabeth, Ora Paul, Floyd Oran, Loyd Loren (died in infancy), and Mabel Pearl. The youngest, Mabel Pearl, resides in August 1995 at Wichita, Kansas and is an excellent pianist, playing ragtime and popular music. Pearl and her sister Mary played at barn dances and other functions in their youth. The following family information was sent by Effie Van Tassel Fisher to son Clyde about 1912.

1. Minnie Myrtle, b. July 23, 1881, mar. Sam Billings, d. 28 Aug 1909
2. Georgia Lula, b. 13 Dec 1882, mar. George Rogers, d. 13 Jan 1928
3. Samuel Channing, b. 2 Nov 1884, mar. Ruby Coplen, d. Nov 1939
4. Florance Clinton, b. 8 Aug 1886, mar. Grace Minett Long, d. 9 Jan 1969
5. Rufus Clyde, b. 27 Sep 1888, mar. Anna Maude Lash, d. 22 Oct 1918

The Van Tassell ancestry is not known beyond Effie Van Tassell Fisher's parents. Florance Clinton Fisher Sr. in 1966 recalled his grandfather Van Tassel being named "Royal Parkinson," but did not seem certain of the middle name. Daughter Lillie referred to her father as "Rufus" in her statement on the 1930 death certificate. According to one census, Rufus' father was born in New York and his mother was born in Virginia. According to grandson F. C. Fisher Sr. and wife Grace Long Fisher, Rufus was short and stocky, with dark red, curly hair; had a jolly nature and sang folk songs, often accompanying them with music on the bandsaw; was from Indiana, in the Terre Haute area, and lived at Tipton, Indiana, where their daughter, Effie, was born. They thought that after "Grandpa" Van Tassel died, he went to live with Samuel Fisher and family near Hillsboro and Salem, Iowa until his death about 1892. Mary Fisher Holmes believed he died elsewhere.

1880 Census: Jewell County, Kansas, Holmwood Township, June 16, 1880, Pg. 21, Spvrs's District 3, Enumeration District 122, J. Fellows, Enumerator, House 50, Line 21

The following is a combination of information from F. C. and Grace Fisher, 1967; the death certificate; and census records. Children:

Park Atkinson(?) Van Tassel - Born July 25, ca. 1853, Indiana, d. Oct. 24, 1930, Oakland Cal., moved to California about 1900, wife Bessie.

Lillie Van Tassel Hart - b. ca 1866. Lived at 9423 "B" Street, Oakland Cal. in 1930.

Effie Van Tassel Fisher - b. about 1863

Lorinda was apparently Rufus' second wife. A half-sister to Park was remembered as Mrs. Minnie Crew.

All that is presently known about Rufus' first wife, Nancy Connor, is that she preceded her husband in death by several years (according to grandson F. C. Fisher), and that she was born in Indiana (according to daughter Lillie on Rufus Van Tassel's death certificate in 1930, also according to the Jewell County, Kansas 1880 census). She must have died between 1869 and 1877 according to births of Rufus' stepchildren and later children.

Effie Van Tassell Fisher's brother, Park Van Tassell, & wife became renowned in the late 19th century for balloon ascensions in the U. S. and China. His wife accompanied him and pioneered in parachute jumping. (See articles following.) Park Van Tassel is buried at Oakland, California. At the time of his death, he was living on Market Street, operating the "Captain P. A. Van Tassel Toy Balloon Mfg. Co.," a maker of miniature balloon ascension toys.

Los Angeles Sunday Times, June 27, 1886, Page 1, Column 3, "The Monitor":

"The enormous balloon Monitor continues to draw big crowds. Prof. Van Tassel's wife went up in the first ascent yesterday. Ascents have hardly become popular yet, but probably will, as people become accustomed to the idea. The amusement is a most novel one, and probably no more dangerous than baseball. The morning is the best time to go up, as the air is stiller. About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, there being a stiff breeze, the aerial monster had quite a rustle to light properly. She came down first in Morgan Lane, then on ex-Mayor Thom's house, then in his backyard, then on the house No. 240 South Main - there demolishing a chimney and a summer kitchen - then on the vacant lot outside the enclosure, and at last back to its proper nest. The experience of an ascent and the view gained are well worth taking." From the Okmulgee, Oklahoma Daily Times: "Mrs. Parks Van Tassel is believed to be the first person to make a parachute jump, having made a successful landing after leaping from a balloon over Los Angeles on July 4, 1882."

Newspapers in Oakland, California covered several events concerning Park Van Tassel's balloon ascensions. Some examples, available at ancestry.com:

WILL SOAR OVER CITY IN BALLOON

Captain Van Tassel Is Ready With New Airship to Run Aerial Rapid Transit.

Captain P. A. Van Tassel, the aeronaut and aerial engineer, now sixty-two years of age, has just completed a mammoth balloon fifty-three feet in diameter. This balloon will hold sixty thousand feet of hydrogen gas and has a lifting capacity of thirty-six hundred pounds. It took twelve hundred yards of heavy para fabric to construct the immense bag. Night costs of oil were used.

Connected with the balloon is a basket three and one-half feet square, which contains an anchor weighing seventy pounds. Ninety days, with five people working steadily, were consumed in the construction. The entire upper floor space of the Grace Manufacturing Company at the Adams street was occupied while it was being built.

Captain Van Tassel is assisted by Edward Lombard, an old partner of his who at East Lake City in 1883

Ready for Trip

On the third trip the gas will be furnished by the Oakland Gas Light and Heat Company. The first trip will be made as soon as the weather settles. Captain Van Tassel is going to make ascensions for the purpose of taking photographs of Oakland and vicinity, also conducting tourist parties on sight-seeing trips.

In 1881 F. K. Dunlap, a reporter, made an ascension with the captain, rising to an altitude of about five thousand feet. When they descended they dropped into Russian Straits near Angel Island, in the San Francisco bay.

They were picked up by the old Larkins, Sea Lion, and landed safely on Angel Island.

Captain Van Tassel made an ascension in 1882 at Salt Lake City, when he rose 15,000 feet.

His last ascension was made in Oakland twenty-five years ago, May 26, 1885, at Bowers Park in East Oakland. On this occasion Johnny Massey was married to a Miss Greene in the basket at the park. The bridal couple sailed above Oakland, then descended at the grounds of Miss D. Hoag.

Since this time Captain Van Tassel has been recasting the globe, giving exhibitions for the emperors of China, shah of Persia, king of Italy, and the Sultan of Turkey. He also holds personal lectures from many of the world's rulers.

BALLOON MAKES RECORD FLIGHT

Van Tassel, With Two Passengers, Sails From Oakland to Sunol

Captain A. P. Van Tassel made a successful ascension yesterday in the big experimental balloon Berkeley, belonging to the San Francisco Aero Club. Accompanying the well-known aeronaut were Knox Maddox, a San Francisco attorney, and J. H. Maston, of the Crocker National Bank of this city. Both men pronounced it one of the most successful balloon ascensions ever made in California.

The balloon started at 1 o'clock yesterday morning from its moorings at the corner of College and Adams avenues, Berkeley, and at 2 o'clock landed successfully at a point four miles from Sunol, Contra Costa county, under absolute guidance and control of the aeronaut.

The original intention of Captain Van Tassel to land at Mount Hamilton, in Santa Clara county, but the wind currents changed its course, and it was blown in a westerly direction.

Knox Maddox makes the following statement concerning the balloon's flight:

"We left Berkeley at 11 o'clock and after reaching an altitude of 1,000 feet encountered favorable wind breezes which carried us on the course we had planned to sail.

"Before I entered the basket the atmospheric conditions were prevailing, and under the guidance of Captain Van Tassel we had no trouble in ascending."

"We were caught by a gentle wind as soon as we had risen and drifted over the fields without any difficulty. Twice we reached an altitude of 1,000 feet. The atmosphere was not cold, on the contrary we frequently felt warm currents."

"We had planned to sail over the Santa Clara valley and land at Mt. Hamilton, but the atmospheric were altered."

"At 2 o'clock we landed four miles from Sunol and experienced no difficulty in descending. My purpose in accompanying Van Tassel was more for observation than for anything else. At all times the balloon was steady—just as steady as a rock. The trip was delightful."

This is the second successful flight made by the Berkeley. February 23 the balloon made a preliminary ascension with Captain Van Tassel in charge. It was accompanied by C. C. Bradley.

BALLOON RACE TO BE HELD SUNDAY

Argument Over Cup Results in Arrangements for Third Flight

Owing to a complaint registered by the officials of the San Francisco Aero club, the balloon race for the silver trophy cup which was won by the balloon "City of Oakland," on Sunday last, will again be run on Sunday next.

Miss Margaret Miller and Miss Genevieve Schaffer, the young women who sailed in the last race, will not, it is said, take part in the coming contest which will definitely settle the winner.

The victory of the local balloon in the race two weeks ago was disputed, although Captain Van Tassel who piloted it made the greatest distance from the starting point.

BOTH COLLAPSED.

His balloon was towed to the shores of South City, where it collapsed, while Captain Baldwin in the Queen of the Pacific, although not sailing his craft so far as his rival, collapsed in the bay. The contention of the Pacific Aero Club that the spot where the balloon collapsed marked the end of the race, has been conceded.

Captain J. C. Mars, manager, and Robert W. Martland, president of the Oakland Aero Club are planning a campaign in the interest of the local organization with a view of affiliating with the Aero Club of America. Two hundred or more members must be secured before this can be effected. Mars and Van Tassel will soon inaugurate a campaign to secure that number.

The local organization plans the construction of an aerodrome for the housing of balloons, and the installation of a field for which aviation contests can be held.

NEW BALLOON WILL SOAR TO SKY WITH PIONEER AERONAUT

CAPTAIN PARK A. VAN TASSEL, AERIAL PILOT, WHO WILL MAKE ASCENSION JULY 4 IN NEW BALLOON

Interesting and hair-raising episode, it seems as though the captain has been gifted with a charmed life. The new balloon in which he will make the ascension on July 4 was made here and is capable of holding an unusual quantity of gas and sustaining a great weight.

The balloon ascension will be part of the program at Lakeside park planned for the Fourth of July celebration.

Van Tassel is a keen aviator of the air. He has been for many decades a close student of the science of aeronautics, and has been making balloon ascensions since his boyhood. He has traveled extensively, making ascensions through Australia, New Zealand, Java, China, Japan; stood for 11 hours in Afghanistan, roiled in Persia, and has made balloon ascensions for kings and princes all over the world.

VIII. Florance Clinton Fisher and Grace Minette Long

Florance Clinton Fisher was born August 8, 1886, in Jewel City, Kansas, the son of Samuel Fisher and Effie Van Tassell. He married Grace Minett Long on November 2, 1907 at Enid, Oklahoma. Grace, born March 14, 1890 at Harper, Kansas was the daughter of Woodford Trennel Long and Susan Kate Harp. Florance and Grace raised their six children at various locations in Oklahoma, first at Sunset, then near Helena, then Haskell, and then at Morris, where the three youngest were born. The marriage record for Florance Clinton Fisher Sr. is Record 7, Book 327. Florance worked in oil fields, and later in semi-retirement managed pumping schedules for wells. After the children were grown, Florance and Grace lived near Henderson in east Texas, at Mexia in Texas, at Junction City near El Dorado in Arkansas, and at Barnhart near Ozona in Texas.

6. Georgia Marie, b. 18 May 1924 at Morris, Oklahoma, mar. 19 Dec 1941 James Porter Gann.

Grace Long Fisher's father, Woodford Trennel Long, was born 1855 at Darlington, Montgomery County, Indiana. Grace's mother, Susan Kate Harp, was born in 1863 at Crawfordsville, Indiana. Woodford and Susan Kate both died at Cleo Springs, Major County, Oklahoma. The Long and Harp direct ancestry has been researched through several generations, by C. V. (Tug) Bailey of Tulsa, Oklahoma. Woodford Trennel Long was the son of Hughett E. Long, born 1832 at Darlington, Indiana, and Clementine Taylor, born in Ohio in 1831. Hughett was the son of Oath Long, born 1794 in Pennsylvania, and Sarah Titus, born in Virginia in 1701. Sarah was the daughter of Samuel and Polly Titus, who came from Virginia to Ohio, then to Indiana. Oath was the son of Gideon Long, of Queen Ann County, Maryland, and Elizabeth (Surname Unknown), both born in England. Gideon was the son of John Long, Jr. and Ann Harrington, from Williamsville, Baltimore Hundred, Sussex county, Delaware and later Greene County, Washington County, and Fayette County, Pennsylvania, then in Queen Anne County, Maryland where they died. John and Ann had eight children: John III, David, James, Eliel, Mannoah (Noah), Ann, Gideon, and Jeremiah. The seven sons were all in the Revolutionary War. John Jr.'s father, John Sr., lived in Queen Anne County and died there in 1746. Grace Long Fisher in 1970 says "Hughie" Long was Welsh and Irish and had at least three sons; Woodford Trennel, Paul, and Will. (See the biography of Oath Long later in this section.) According to Grace Long Fisher in 1970, Woodford Trennel Long married a second wife, Hattie Boyd, who had a daughter Blanch Boyd; and Fred Long had 6 children, including son Wayne Eugene. Fred Long died in 1929 at Rankin, Oklahoma.

Woodford Trennel Long died at Ringwood, Oklahoma and was buried in the Square Cedar Cemetery about 10 miles from Helena, Oklahoma.

The Harp ancestry is known through Susan Kate Harp's grandfather, Adam Harp. Susan Kate was the daughter of Washington Harp, born 1823 near Mammoth Cave, Kentucky, and Susan M. Smith, born in Kentucky in 1832. Susan Smith was the daughter of Phillip Smith formerly of Frederick County, Monacacy, Maryland, born 1782, and Susan Black, born 1792. The place where the Smiths settled in Kentucky came to be known as "Smith's Grove" and later a nearby town was called Smithville. Their genealogy is described in the local history collection of the Smithville library. Susan Kate Harp was born about 20 miles from Mammoth Cave, Kentucky. She died at age 32 after having been attended by Dr. Windebager for an abdominal tumor. Her daughter, Grace Long Fisher, who was only five years old at the time, remembered the trauma of her mother's death throughout her lifetime, and said in 1970 that the family had been reluctant to allow an operation.

This sketch is found in the "History of Kentucky", page 292, found in the town library at Smithville, Kentucky:

James Breckenridge Smith, while a native of Indiana, lived practically all his life in Kentucky and is the grandson of a pioneer who came to this state before the close of the eighteenth century. The big interests of his life have been centered on the farm where he grew up as a boy. He has prospered in his business affairs, has provided and enjoyed for many years an attractive country home, and those who know him best speak without reserve of his good and substantial citizenship.

His grandfather was Philip Smith, one of ten children. He was born at Hagerstown, Maryland, and as a young man he and his brother William came to Kentucky, walking the entire distance and arriving in this frontier region about 1793. Philip Smith settled and spent the rest of his life on a small farm on Lemon's Mill Pike at South Elkhorn, and died there at the age of 56. His wife was Susan Bellows, of Scott County, who survived him ten years and died at the age of sixty. Philip Smith was a pioneer distiller. He and his wife had ten children: James, who died in Shelby County at the age of eighty; Harry, who died in Scott County at the age of sixty-eight;

Samuel, who lived at Newtown in Scott County, where he died at the age of seventy-one, having at one time having been the wealthiest man in the county and his son William still lives on the old farm; William, the next in age, was the father of James Breckenridge Smith; Philip died unmarried; DeWitt Clinton died in Shelby County; Mary married Stephen Lowrey and both died in Shelby County when well along in years; Sally became the wife of Jacob Winters and both died in Hickman, Kentucky; Susan was married to Washington Harp, and after the war they removed to Kokomo, Indiana, and she died in Harper County, Kansas; Andrew Jackson died in middle age and his widow and three children survive him and live near Louisville.

(This was followed by more about Philip's son William's descendants...)

See also US Census, shows Philip Smith's parents came first to Warren Co near Mammoth Cave, then Scott Co. This fits family tradition told by Susan Smith Harp's descendants.

In the 1880 census for Montgomery County, Indiana, Union Township, near Crawfordsville, we find Woodford Long, 25, and Kate, 17, married in the year 1880 before the June 5-7 census taking, Kate had attended school in spring. Washington Harp, father of Susan Kate Harp, owned slaves in Kentucky before the Civil War. The family moved to Indiana when Susan Kate was a baby, around 1863.

Children of Washington Harp and Susan Smith were "Babe," Tom, Bud - Married Laura Byrd, Betty Harp Epperson, Annie Harp Watkins, and Susan Kate Harp Long.

The 1870 Census for Montgomery County, Indiana, Union Township, Crawfordsville Post Office shows these children of Washington and Susan Harp, all born in Kentucky: Thomas b. 1842; William b. 1845; Robert b. 1847; Mary b. 1859; Anna b. 1861; Kate b. 1863; also, two unmarried sisters of Washington Harp: Elizabeth b. 1807, b. Pennsylvania; Ann, b. 1816 Kentucky (Would be 1811 according to 1880 census.) The 1880 census for the same place shows Susan Harp, 47, widow; Robert, 22; Annie, 19; Betsy, 73, and Ann, 69, sisters-in-law.

Susan Smith, mother of Susan Kate Harp, was a daughter of Philip Smith from Maryland, an early settler of Smithville, Kentucky. She was probably born and raised in Kentucky. She married Washington Harp in 1849 and lived first near Mammoth Cave, Kentucky, where at least one of six children was born. The family had slaves until the Civil War, at which time they moved to Indiana. Susan Smith Harp lived with a son-in-law, Albert Watkins, after the death of her husband, near Harper, Kansas. She died at age 81 at Harper, Pilot Knob Township, Harper County, Kansas, and was buried at Danville, Kansas. She was attended by Dr. C. W. Winleigter of Harper. The informant for her death certificate said her mother's maiden name was Black, but the biography says she was Susan Bellows.

The following biography of Oath Long is taken from the "History of Montgomery County, Indiana," A. W. Bowen & Co., Indianapolis:

"No pioneer who braved the wilds of Montgomery county three quarters of a century ago is deserving of remembrance by his descendants and those who came after to share the fruits of the strenuous labors of these self-denying and self-sacrificing men more than Oath Long, who, although long a sleeper in 'death's garden where we all shall meet,' yet has an milnence for good and whose life of industry and honesty is worthy of mutation by the youth who would succeed at his chosen life task and at the same time do some good while passing through this so-called "mundane sphere."

Mr. Long was born in Pennsylvania on December 13, 1794, and was a son of Gideon and Elizabeth Long, both natives of England, and as all records were long ago lost no data can be had of them, except that they emigrated to America in colonial days and spent some time in Pennsylvania, later invading the wilderness of Indiana and establishing the family home in Union Township, Montgomery County, where they spent the rest of their lives and died here. Oath Long grew to manhood in Pennsylvania, and when thirty-six years old, in the year 1830, he came to Montgomery County, Indiana, and here determined to cast his lot permanently, for although the country was wild, he had the sagacity to foresee for it a great future and he set to work with a will clearing and improving his one hundred and sixty acres of land which he entered from the government near Crawfordsville. He was twice married, first to Martha Vail, in Butler County, Ohio, where he lived for some time after he left Pennsylvania, before coming to Indiana, and in that county she died in early life, leaving two children, Louisa and Abram, both of whom have long since passed away. On June 17, 1823, while still living in Ohio, he married Sarah Titus, who was a native of Virginia, born there on August 29, 1801. She was a daughter of Samuel and Polly Titus, who left Virginia for Ohio in an early day, later coming on to Montgomery county, Indiana, where they established their home and died here. The death of Mr. Long's second wife occurred on January 6, 1879. Six children were born to this last union, namely: Wilson, born April 24, 1889; his wife died May 16, 1907. Lydia, born January 24, 1823, married W. T. McCoy in 1849, and they are both deceased; Samuel T., born November 23, 1838, died December 8, 1911, HUETT, born November 25, 1832, is now living in Darlington, Montgomery County, William, born October 16, 1835, lives on a farm east of Crawfordsville; Benjamin lives in Crawfordsville, Indiana." In the "Centennial History of Butler County, Ohio," B.F. Bowen & Co., 1905, we

IX. Woodford Pascal Fisher and Dorothy Berneice Kelly

Woodford Pascal (Bill) Fisher was born June 20, 1911 in Alfalfa County, Oklahoma, near Helena, the son of Florance Clinton Fisher and Grace Long. Woodford married Dorothy Berneice Kelly on November 30, 1931, at Medicine Lodge, Kansas. Dorothy, born October 29, 1915, was the daughter of James A. Kelly and Gladys Dell Hartman. Woodford worked as a carpenter, then for a number of years as a dragline operator on construction projects in Missouri, Louisiana, Beaumont, and elsewhere. He worked as an auto mechanic, first at Henderson, Texas and then for many years after moving the family to Mexia, Texas. He ran a gas station in Mexia and then owned an auto repair business. Seven children of W. P. Fisher (Sr.) and Dorothy Kelly Fisher survived infancy: James Clinton, Jackie Lynn, Gladys Grace, Karan Kay, Billie Louise, Woodford Pascal Jr., and Dorothy Berneice. Woodford Pascal Fisher died April 1, 1990. Dorothy Kelly Fisher died November 2, 2003. Both died at Mexia and were buried in the Forest Glade Cemetery. Details of children:

1. Billie Eugene, b. 17 Aug 1934, Helena, Oklahoma, died same day.
2. James Clinton (Jimmie), b. 11 Jan 1937, Helena, Okla., mar. 13 Feb 1958 Patricia Ann McKenzie at Mexia, Texas. Died 18 Feb 1995 at Mexia.

8. Dorothy Berneice, b. 11 Dec 1952 at Mexia, Tx. (Pt. Enterprise), mar. 10 Mar 1979 Jose Antonio Ordieres Jr. at Dallas, Tx.

James A. Garfield Kelly, born at Greencastle, Indiana in 1880, was the son of Samuel H. Kelly, born 1846, and Elizabeth Davis, born 1847, both from Yadkinville, North Carolina. James A. married Gladys Dell Hartman in 1906, at Woodward County, Oklahoma. Both are buried in the Good Hope Cemetery near Enid, Oklahoma. Samuel Kelly's parents were Henry Kelly, born 1804, from Yadkin County (then Surrey County), North Carolina (Five Mile Fork Post Office), and Sarah (Reamer?), born 1815. Henry was a son of Joseph Kelly who is believed to be from the Kelly immigrants of Maryland. Family tradition says that our Kellys came from Ireland. The eleven children of James Kelly and Elizabeth Davis were Mary Jane, Sarah, Jessie, Lillian, Rose, Charlie, James (Jim), Mattie, Chester, Samantha, and Allie.

Gladys Dell Hartman was the daughter of David Ellsworth Hartman and Eliza Jane Green. The Hartmans came from Germany. The Green branch of this family has been traced back to Yorkshire and Brighton, England. David Ellsworth Hartman was the son of Henry H. Hartman, born 1825, and Sarah Jane Gerber, born 1832, who were married in 1851 near Cicero, Indiana. David Ellsworth's parents were both born in Cicero, Indiana, both were of German descent and spoke German. They had 12 children: Frederick G., James Osro, Mary Elen, Joseph Allen, George Granvil, Lydia Ann, Elmira M. (Ella), David Ellsworth, Isaac F., Rosa B., William H., and Eddie W. David Ellsworth moved to Iowa and then went to Wichita, Kansas to take a job with Wilfred and Becky Green. David married the Green's daughter Eliza Jane at the County Courthouse. They were married by S. E. Barrett. David's brother Joe, who had come to Kansas with him, also married and both couples settled at Mt.

Hope, Kansas. David and Eliza lived there on a farm until the opening of the Cherokee Strip. He ran for land in the Strip opening, and became a rural mail carrier at May, Oklahoma. He operated the first hack that carried passengers and mail from May to Gage, Oklahoma. He did construction work in later years. David was buried in the Enid, Oklahoma Memorial Park Cemetery. Official date of death for David Ellsworth Hartman was given as May 1, 1952 by the attending physician as he estimated the time of death to be before midnight.

Eliza Jane Green was born in Illinois, although she was raised at Wichita, Kansas. She was married to David Ellsworth Hartman at Wichita, Kansas, in the Courthouse, by S. E. Barrett. Eliza Jane Green Hartman died in a house fire at Covington, Oklahoma and was buried in the Memorial Park Cemetery at Enid, Oklahoma. Eliza was the daughter of Wilfred Green Jr., born 1840 at Leeds in Yorkshire, England, and Rebecca Jane (surname unknown), who had two known children: Eliza Jane, and Freddie (died in infancy). Wilfred Green Sr. came to America with a daughter, Hannah, and two sons, John and Wilfred. Isaac Newton Phillips, who later married Hannah, also came with the Greens. Wilfred Jr. and his father both served in the Civil War. Wilfred Jr. is known to have drawn a Civil War Veterans pension. Wilfred Green Jr. married Rebecca Jane ---- and settled at Mount Hope, Kansas, eventually in Sedgewick County. Wilfred Sr., Wilfred Jr., Rebecca Jane, Hannah, Isaac Newton Phillips, John, and other relatives are all buried in the Mount Hope Cemetery in Sedgewick County. All the graves are well marked.

Wilfred Green Sr. emigrated from Brighton, Sussex County in England, but was born at Strensell in Yorkshire, north of the city of York. His wife, Mary Ann, was born in 1810 at Dunnington in Yorkshire. Descendents say Wilfred Green Sr. came to America about 1843 (but he was still in the Brighton census in 1851) with a daughter, Hannah, two sons, John and Wilfred Jr., and Dr. Isaac Newton Phillips. Other children in 1851 were William, Elizabeth and Mary. Dr. Phillips later married Hannah. According to Hannah's gravestone, she was born in 1847 (the census says 1851). According to the gravestone of Wilfred Green Sr., he served in the 25th New Jersey Infantry in the Civil War. Wilfred Jr., also served in the Civil War, most likely in New Jersey also.

Information concerning the children of Wilfred Green, Sr.:

Hannah Jane Green Phillips was born in Brighton, England on December 23, 1847 and died on December 5, 1921 at Mount Hope, Kansas. She married Dr. Isaac Newton Phillips, who was born on May 1, 1820 in England. Dr. Phillips died at Mount Hope on December 27, 1901. A son was born to them, Jehu "Duge" Phillips, on October 4, 1888. Jehu Phillips died on March 17, 1965 at Mount Hope. He married Mary Opal ---- on August 23, 1919. Mary Opal ---- Phillips was born on November 26, 1889.

John Green married Emily ----. Both are buried at Mount Hope, Kansas. Two children, George and Vesta died unmarried at Mount Hope. George was born on October 4, 1886, and died on May 21, 1963. Vesta was born August 24, 1884 and died December 8, 1954.

Elizabeth Davis was the daughter of Jonathan Davis and Rachel Fleming of Yadkinville, North Carolina. This account of Elizabeth Davis Kelly is given in "Our Alfalfa County Heritage," Alfalfa County (Oklahoma) Historical Society, 1976:

“Elizabeth Davis Kelly, a widow, came to Oklahoma from Turon, Kansas, soon after the Strip opened -- with six of her 11 children. She settled on a claim staked by her oldest son, Jessie. He had come ahead on horseback to get the claim, and Elizabeth then filed on it. She and five children came in a covered wagon, bringing all their possessions. A son-in-law,

Pete Levens, of Turon, drove the cattle and helped her make the move. He then returned to Kansas.

Four of the Kelly girls were already married and living in Kansas. They were Lillian Hohl, Mary Jane Durham, Sarah Levens, and Rose McNickle. The five children who came in the covered wagon were Jim, Mattie, Chester, Samantha, and Allie.

Elizabeth Davis was born in Yadkin County, N. Carolina, July 31, 1847. When she was in her teens, the family moved to Putnam County near Greencastle, Indiana. Samuel H. Kelly made the move with the Davis family from N. Carolina where he was born June 8, 1846. Elizabeth's brother, Sampson, was drafted into the Confederate Army and being unsympathetic with the South, tried to escape to the North. He was shot in the foot and put in Andersonville Prison. The war between the States was the reason for the Davis family moving to Indiana. Samuel and Elizabeth were married in Indiana and 10 of their children were born there. They moved by covered wagon to Turon, in 1884. In 1886 when Samuel was 40 years old, he died before their 11th child, Allie, was born.

For some time after Mrs. Kelly and her family came to Oklahoma, they lived in their covered wagon and in an outdoors campsite. The older girls and boys worked for neighbors to help their mother.

Jim married Gladys Hartman from Carrier. They are buried in the Good Hope cemetery.

Mattie married George Elliott and lived near Aline all her life. Chester went to Medicine Lodge, where he and his wife, Lennis, lived until moving to Colorado where both are buried. Allie married Wiley Wells and he died in a few short years and is buried near Aline. She then married a Mr. Bartholomew and moved to Medicine Lodge, where she is buried. Samantha married Arthur Marlow whose parents staked a claim in the Carmen area. After living in this area for a time, they moved to Enid. She is the only survivor of the 11 children. A widow, she is 91 years old and lives alone. (Note: Samantha lived well over 100 years and died in Enid.) After some years the farm was sold to a daughter and son-in-law, Rose and George McNickle. It remained in the McNickle name until three years ago when Cecil McNickle was killed in an accident and the land was sold to Terry Ryel.

In relating this story, Samantha Marlow says she remembers the first evening they were on the claim. A cupboard was set outside the wagon, and wanting something out of it, she climbed up and caused it to upset. Her words were 'And I got a good whipping.'" By Samantha Marlow, at age 91.

This account was supplied by Mrs. Ruby Durham Guthrie:

"The Davis famiy moved to Putnam County, Indiana, near Greencastle, during or just after the Civil War (perhaps 1865), when Elizabeth was in her teens. Samuel H. Kelly made the move to Indiana with the Davis family, and married one of the Davis girls, Elizabeth, in Indiana. Most of their children were born near Greencastle. They moved to Turon, Kansas in the spring of 1884. In 1887, when Samuel was 40 years old, he and all the children had the measles. Samuel died of complications several months before his last child was born. He was buried in the Neola Cemetery near Turon. Elizabeth's brother, Sampson was also buried at Neola. Elizabeth moved to Oklahoma in the land rush of 1890."

Elizabeth's son James once said that his mother was related to the Jefferson Davis family. This has not been verified.

Jonathan Davis, Elizabeth Davis' father, was the son of William Davis and Ann Hutchens. Jonathan was married to Rachel Fleming November 13, 1833 in Surrey County, by Joel Hutchens (a brother of Ann Hutchins). Mrs. Reba Lotten of Salinas, California, a descendant of Sampson Davis, reports in 1990 of finding Quaker records of Morgan County, Indiana showing Jonathan's parents to be William Davis and Ann Hutchins Davis, married in 1810. According to the same source, Ann Hutchens Davis was the daughter of Jonathan Hutchens and Elizabeth Beaver Hutchens. According to Reba Lotten, "The man who sent the info about William and Ann Hutchens, is related on the Hutchens side of the family, and knew that Ann had a brother Joel, who was bondsman for Jonathan and Rachel. Jonathan died in 1896 and was buried in Morgan County, Indiana at West Union Cemetery (Quaker Monthly Meeting record)."

Two census records for Jonathan Davis and family have been located as follows:

1850, October 9, Surrey County, North Carolina, house 1143:

Jonathan Davis, 37, farmer, born N. C.; Rachel, 39, b. N. C.
Jesse, 15, b. N. C.; Daniel, 13, b. N. C.; Susannah, 11, b. N. C.; Sampson, ?; b. N. C.; (age faded - perhaps 8); Elisabeth 3, b. N. C.

1860, Yadkin County, North Carolina, Yadkinville Post Office:

Jonathan Davis, 50, farmer, born N. C.; Rachel, 50, b. N. C.
Jesse W., 26, b. N. C.; Elizabeth, 13, b. N. C.; Sampson, 13, b. N. C. (age probably 18, but looks like 13 on this record); Mary M., 7, b. N. C.; Lission 22, (Domestic)

Rachel could read and write, but Jonathan could not. Jonathan's personal estate in 1860 was valued at $385.

Bryan Jessup, a grandson of Sampson, gives this information about Sampson Davis:

Descendents of Sampson Davis (Jonathan's brother) have reported an affidavit signed by Sampson upon entering the Reno, Kansas County Home which gives his birth year as 1842. The Reno County, Kansas Welfare Department has the affidavit signed by Sampson Davis giving his date of birth as March 18, 1842. The Turon Funeral Home records show his birth date as December 12, 1845. The affidavit is assumed to be correct. Sampson Davis married Margeret Jane Johnson and lived in Iowa until she died in 1907. He then moved to Missouri, Arkansas, and Kansas. He married Bessie Stanley of Moberly, Missouri at Gravette, Arkansas. They lived a few years at Marshalltown, Iowa and moved to Turon, Kansas about 1925. Sampson had worked in the carpenter trade while in Iowa. He took a job as a janitor at the Turon school until he was unable to work. Bessie drew a pension from her son, a World War I veteran, after his death. Mary Kelly Durham, Sampson's neice, looked after Sampson and Bessie as long as she could, after which they both went to the Reno County Home. Bessie died on January 11, 1934; Sampson on June 20, 1936. Sampson is buried in the Neola Cemetery near Turon, Kansas.

Children of Sampson Davis and Margaret Jane Johnson:

Sarah Jane Davis White, Rosa A. Davis Jessup, Mary Etta Davis Brown

Sarah Jane Davis White had three children - Calvin, Vera, and Cassie. Calvin was Sampson Davis' oldest grandson.

Rosa A. Davis Jessup had 12 children - Lois (Sampson's oldest granddtr), Inez (d. 1922), Stephan M., Bryan, Amy, Frances, Corwin, Reba, Josephine, May, Harriett, and Rose.

Mary Davis Brown had two children - Carleton and Paul.

X. Jackie Lynn Fisher and Janice Gayle Thornton

Jackie Lynn Fisher, son of Woodford Pascal (Bill) Fisher Sr. and Dorothy Berneice Kelly, was born in a farmhouse near Jet, Oklahoma, in 1939. His father's job as a dragline operator took the family to various places in Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Texas and Louisiana. About 1943, Woodford moved the family to Henderson, Texas and began work as an auto mechanic, in order to avoid the frequent relocations. Jackie Lynn started school at Henderson and was briefly in the country school of New Salem, between Henderson and Jacksonville. The family moved to Mexia, Texas, in Limestone County, in 1946.

Jackie Lynn Fisher married Janice Gayle Thornton, daughter of Macon Ellington Thornton and Emma Lucille Blackmon of Pt. Enterprise, near Mexia, in 1959. Jackie received degrees in mathematics and physics at Arlington State College in 1961. Janice attended Draughns Business College in Dallas, and worked for the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Janice and Jackie moved, in the summer of 1961, to Port Hueneme, California, in Ventura County, where Jackie worked as a computer programmer at the Pacific Missile Range, for the Department of the Navy. Daughter Laura Lynn was born in Ventura. The family moved back to Texas in the fall of 1962, to Houston, where Jackie worked for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, in the area of computing and information systems, for more than 30 years. The family moved to Seabrook, near the space center, in 1964. As of the first edition of this book in 1995, Janice and Jackie lived in Seabrook. Janice was a staff writer and administrative assistant at the University of Houston-Clear Lake. In 2009, they are retired and live in Wimberley, Texas.

The Thornton/Blackmon Family

The appendix to this book includes relationships and data about the following individuals and many others of the Thornton/Blackmon family lines. These few notes were made in the 1960's from family interviews. Also see the Preface.

Willis Robert Blackmon

He came to Texas at age 8 when his family moved to Houston County near Hagerville. His family moved to Barry in Navarro County in 1895. He was a Primitive Baptist preacher. The inscription on his tombstone reads "He lived what he preached, A Workman not ashamed."

Robert Nathaniel Hodge

Died while visiting in Stamford, Jones county, Texas.

Wife of Robert Nathaniel Hodge

Had red hair and died two or three years after daughter Phoebe Caroline was born at Brownsboro, Texas, in Henderson County in 1889.

Thomas Thornton

There were born to them seven children - four boys and three girls. Moved to Georgia in 1819 with family and lived there until his death in 1875.

Josiah B. Thornton

Born in Virginia, Louisa County, he was the grandfather of Isaac Thornton and lived to be 105 years old. He died in 1849 after raising twelve children - six boys and six girls.

Janice Gayle Thornton

Descendants and Ancestors of Cephas Fisher Jr.

Janice Gayle Thornton Fisher was born at New Hope, Freestone County, Texas, December 10, 1938. Married Jackie L. Fisher at the Thornton home in Pt. Enterprise, near Mexia, Texas, in Limestone County, August 14, 1959. They were married by Janice's maternal grandfather, Primitive Baptist Elder W. R. Blackmon.

XI. Children of Jackie and Janice Fisher

Laura Lynn Fisher was born November 3, 1961 at Ventura, California. She attended Clear Lake High School in Houston, Texas, and received degrees from Sam Houston State University at Huntsville, Texas, in Computer Science and Spanish. She earned graduate degrees at the University of Houston-Clear Lake and the University of North Texas. She has worked in the aerospace industry, did language tutoring, opened a school for home-school students, and opened a school for home-school students with her husband. She has done multimedia computing work, library science and information systems work, and online university teaching. She married Barry Leroy Armer of Baytown, Texas May 21, 1983, at Baytown. They have one son, Justin Lee, born April 24, 1985 at Webster, Texas; and one daughter, Emma Kathleen, born January 30, 1996 at Nassau Bay (Houston), Texas. In 2010, the Armers live in Clear Lake City (Houston). Barry received a degree in accounting at Sam Houston State University and is a petrochemical accountant.

Kevin Shawn Fisher was born July 28, 1964 in Houston, Texas. He attended Clear Lake High School, and obtained degrees in Chemistry and Chemical Engineering from Sam Houston State University and Texas A & M University, and a masters degree from the University of Texas in chemical engineering. He married Doreen Marie Schmelter of Houston, June 11, 1988 at Houston. Doreen received a degree in Industrial Engineering at Texas A&M University. They have two daughters, Kirby Leigh and Lindsey Nicole, and one son, Kyle Ellington. In 2010, Kevin lives with his family in New Braunfels, Texas and is a vice president and senior engineer of Trimeric Corporation at Buda, Texas.

Jonathan Davis Fisher, named for an ancestor in the family tree, was born April 8, 1969, at Texas City, Texas. He attended Clear Lake High School, and received a degree in music composition at North Texas State University. He attended the University of Surrey in Guildford, England, and received Master and Doctorate degrees in Music Composition from Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois. Jonathan married Alisa Diane Mayfield of Clear Lake City (Houston), August 15, 1992, at Nassau Bay, Texas. Alisa received a degree in English at Baylor University. Jonathan married second, on January 2, 2003, Mikiko Kudo in Chicago, Illinois. Mikiko (Miki) was born at Yamagata, Japan, August 10, 1965. She studied at Columbia College of Chicago and Iwate University in Japan. They are the parents of Sophia Anne Fisher and Adrian Takumi Fisher. In 2010, the family lives in Dripping Springs, Texas.

Descendants and Ancestors of Cephas Fisher Jr.

Proof of the Lineage

Our Fisher ancestry is proven in the following way:

1. My grandfather, F. C. Fisher Sr. (1886) gave us first-hand remembrances of his father Samuel Fisher (1857) and his grandfather Cephas A. Fisher (1812) of Henry County, Iowa. Census records (and Cephas' death certificate) clearly verify that Cephas was Samuel's father and F. C. Sr.'s grandfather. Additional confirmation is in Joan C. Boem's "Clinton County, Indiana History and Genealogical Sketches," Evangel Press, 1989.
2. A "History of Clinton County, Ohio", published in 1882 by W. H. Beers & Co. (Chicago), establishes Cephas Fisher of Henry County, Iowa as the son of Cephas Fisher Sr. (1780, b. Pennsylvania), and grandson of James Fisher Jr. (1744, b. Pennsylvania). The old home places for these Fishers and their families lie around Lees Creek, near New Vienna, Ohio. Tax records of 1840 list the father and son as Cephas Sr. and Cephas Jr. We have found vital statistics on these families in the Quaker Monthly Meeting records and county cemetery records of Highland and Clinton Counties, Ohio. Pauline Leslie first discovered this descendancy and documented it during a long illness in her 1960 book, "Families of Fisher, Durnell, Littler, and Zimmerman ." Thelma Lucille Fisher's book, "Atkinson - Fisher English Quaker Emigrants with William Penn", Cox Printing Company, 1978, also includes this genealogy, and adds results of further research. We have independently checked the Quaker records, which prove the lineage back to Thomas Fisher, who married Elizabeth Huntley in 1713. (See other sources, in "References.")
3. The LDS "Familysearch" databases contain many submittals related to the Fishers. Some are in error, especially those that equate Thomas Fisher, husband of Elizabeth Huntley, with Thomas, the son of the well-known John Fisher and Margaret Hindle who emigrated in 1682. The file lists Elizabeth as the second wife of Thomas, after Margery Maud. This is now known to be in error. The Thelma Fisher book includes the same error. We have obtained the detailed family histories of William Logan Fisher (published 1839) and Anna Wharton Smith (published 1896), who were descendants of John and Margaret Fisher, of Sussex County (Now part of Delaware.) It is clear from these sources (note Smith, Appendix), and the court records of Sussex County, that our ancestor, Thomas Fisher of Chester County, was not Thomas, son of John and Margaret. The existing records do contain some indirect evidence to support the possibility of some kind of relationship to John and Margaret Fisher. Research partially supports several circumstantial theories as to the origins of Thomas Fisher, but none of them have been proven.
4. Notes about some of these Fishers are found in "The Fisher Family", American Genealogical Research Institute, Arlington Va., Library of Congress 72-87488, including a record of James Fisher (1744) being enlisted in a militia company serving in the American Revolution, confirming his date of birth and death and his marriage to Jane Atkinson; and the emigration of John Fisher in 1682.

Notes for Isaac THORNTON:

Isaac Thornton, son of Thomas Thornton, moved with his father to Georgia in 1819. He married twice, first to Miss Clarinda Nuckles. They had 11 children, ten born in Georgia and one in Texas. Clarinda died in Whitfield County, Georgia, about 5 miles from Dalton in the Nuckells family cemetery. The brick vault in 1957 was crumbling so badly that the graves were not distinguishable one from the other. According to a courthouse record, Isaac Thornton volunteered his services to the Confederate Army in 1864, joining at Hall County, Georgia. He was in the Cavalry, taking with him his own horse, saddle, and bridle, and one shotgun which was described in good condition.

Generation 4 (con't)

Three of his sons also served in the Confederate Army. He was in the seige of Atlanta with son Burris and A.S.C. In 1865 Isaac married again, to Miss Mary Jane Otwell. There were born to them six children, 3 boys and 3 girls. Mrs Floyd Williams of Winnsboro, Texas gives the following account of the Thorntons coming to Texas. Her source is Mary Louisiana Dobson Moore, a sister to U.S. Dobson who was the second husband of Harriett E. Thornton, daughter of Isaac and Clarinda Nuckles Thornton: "A wagon train of 6 horse drawn wagons and one ox wagon (driven by Isaac Thornton) left Tunnel Hill, Georgia, on September 12, 1867 bringing 36 people. They traveled through Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana, crossing the Mississippi River at Rodney, Mississippi by steam ferry. Thirty-two of the 36 people contracted swamp fever and were delayed one week, but all recovered. One child was born on the way, but wasn't named. The wagon train stopped in Collin County, Texas where they lived three years and returned to Georgia. They returned to Texas 7 years later and U.S. Dobson settled in Wise County, Texas." Isaac Thornton remained in Texas after the first movement to Collin County. He bought land in Freestone County in 1869. The child born on the way was Isaac and Mary Jane's daughter, Louisiana Catahula. She was born in the parish of Catahula, Louisiana. (She gave the same name to her own daughter.) Isaac Thornton went to Austin, Texas on horseback to buy the Family Bible in which most of this information for Isaac's family is recorded; then rode back with it to his home in Llano, Texas. The date of the purchase is not known. The Bible was owned in 1968 by Rebecca Thornton of Tehuacana, Texas, the widow of Joseph Thornton. Oba Red, daughter of Macon Thornton and Isaac's granddaughter, recorded the following information as told her by her father: "He worked in a gold mine in the years 1840-1844 when Andrew Jackson was President. He paid $11 per acre in gold for his farm in South Carolina and just before the war was offered $1,000 each for 15 or 20 slaves and didn't sell. When the war was over his slaves were free and his money no good. He was never content after that and moved his family from place to place until Papa (Macon Thornton) was thoroughly disgusted and wished to settle down and stay in one place. Papa said they never had biscuits when he was a child. (The price of flour went to $1,000 per barrel."

98. Some Notes About The Atkinson Family Connections

The Fisher and Atkinson families were closely allied for many generations, and there are several intermarriages which have given some of our Fisher branches recurrent connections to the Atkinsons. A confusing example is Cephas Fisher Sr., whose mother was Jane Atkinson, daughter of Cephas Atkinson and Hannah Naylor. When Cephas Fisher's first wife Rachel died, he married Jane Leech Atkinson, the widow of his great-uncle John Atkinson (Cephas Atkinson's brother). The Fisher family name "Cephas" came from Cephas Atkinson, the father of Jane Atkinson. (Cephas Atkinson had many ancestors named Cephas. This name can be traced back to Cephas Child, a maternal Atkinson ancestor.) Cephas Fisher Sr.'s son John married his cousin Hannah Atkinson, daughter of John Atkinson and Jane Leech Atkinson. Rebecca, a daughter of Cephas Fisher Sr., married Isaac Atkinson, a cousin. Mary Hoskins, wife of Cephas Fisher Jr., was descended from John Hoskins of Cheshire in England, and his wife Ruth Atkinson. Cephas Sr. became the guardian of John and Jane Leech Atkinson's minor children when he married John's widow. An excellent genealogy of John Atkinson's descendants is included in Thelma Fisher's book, which contains this story about John Atkinson:

Descendants and Ancestors of Cephas Fisher Jr.

“John Atkinson, a stock buyer, made several trips into Pennsylvania, buying and selling horses. John met Jane Leech, who was born 19 December 1805, in Warrington Township, York County, Pennsylvania, the daughter of Thomas and Hannah Leech.

John Atkinson became engaged to Jane on one trip and married the next, probably in the spring of 1826. Jane came to Ohio, on horseback, over the mountains, with a covered wagon containing provisions for their journey and carefully made home-woven linens, ready for her new home in Highland County.

John Atkinson surprised Jane with a cabin home built the year before, in a clearing made for a yard and garden; a barrel of maple molasses, another of maple sugar and one of pork ready for her capable hands.

John Atkinson was robbed and thrown overboard, when the steamboat “Swiss Boy” docked at Cincinnati, on its return from St. Louis, 14 May 1838. The Captain and eight others on the boat signed the letter notifying Jane that her husband, John Atkinson, was missing. Later, when the boat was moved, his body was found underneath. Cephus Atkinson, John’s brother, claimed the body but his money and the gold watch he was carrying were missing. John Atkinson was buried in Potter’s Field, Cincinnati, and later a stone with his initials, chiseled by Jane Atkinson, was placed to mark his resting place.

Thelma Fisher gives this genealogy for the Atkinsons:

John Atkinson, son of William and Anne, born 1659, came from Scotford, England with his wife, Suzannah (Hynde) and three children - William born 7-31-1687; Mary born 7-25 1689, and John born 8-22-1695. Dying of smallpox on board the ship Brittanica (sic Britannia?) in 1699, John and Suzannah left no record of themselves except a certificate from the Lancaster Monthly Meeting, England, dated 3-2-1699. The Monthly Meeting gave them a favorable recommendation --- “To our friends of the Province of Pennsylvania.” This certificate was read at the Middletown Monthly Meeting of 9-26-1699.

It was the judgement of the Monthly Meeting at which the certificate was read “that all friends’ children that are left orphans must be taken care of by the Meeting in the most suitable manner according to their capacity.”

The three children arriving in Pennsylvania were brought up in the neighborhood of Newtown and were witnesses to the marriages of their friends. They were members of the Society of Friends where they themselves married under the care of the Monthly Meetings.

William married Phebe Taylor 3-3-1716, and fathered four daughters. Later, William removed his certificate from Middletown to Abington and subsequently married again. It is believed he lived at Upper Dublin Township, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania.

Mary married Cephas Child of Westminster 2-12-1716. From this marriage came four children, Henry born 1-22- 1717, Cephas born 10-30-1718, John born 6-10-1720, and Isaac born 3-1-1722. These four children perished when their home was destroyed by fire. Four other children were born later and given the same names. Henry born 1-1-1725, Cephas born 1-18-1727, John born 6-14-1730, and Isaac born 3-14-1734.

2. The family line, however, is carried through John, born 22 August 1695 in England, who espoused Mary Crossdale Smith on 30 June 1717, who was the daughter of William and Mary Crossdale Smith of Wrightstown. John and Mary bought 200 acres in Wakefield of Tobias Collette County in 8-20-1718 (a part of the London County Trust). John Atkinson died in 1752. Eight children were born to John and Mary - John, William, Thomas, Christopher, Mary, Ezekial, Cephas, and Elizabeth.

3. Cephas, born 8-20-1730 in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, married Hannah Nailor (Naylor) of Guy Meads in 1752. They moved from Wrightstown in 1774. Five children were born of this marriage - John, Thomas, Joseph, Mary and William. (Editor’s note: The LDS file shows Jane b. 1753, married to James Fisher, as one of these children.)

Descendants and Ancestors of Cephas Fisher Jr.

4. Thomas, the second of the five children, married Alice Phillips who gave him Suzannah, Rebecca, John, Cephas Phillips, Charles and Abigail.

5. Cephas P., born August 10, 1793, was married to Rebecca Dial in Clermont County, Ohio on October 31, 1819. Cephas purchased land and began farming and brick making.

Five of his nine children were born here. John D. born 5-26-1821, Martha born 2-13-1823, David born 1-19-1825, Joseph born 3-3-1827, and Jane born 4-30-1829.

In 1830, Cephas Atkinson and his family moved to Clinton County, Ohio where four more children were born - Cephas born 8-16-1831, Shadrach born 1-9-1834, Rebecca E. born 9-11-1836, and Deborah born 11-9-1839.

In the spring of 1853, the family moved again - this time to Indiana and Grant County. Cephas Atkinson remained there in Monroe township until his death May 1, 1862.

99. Additional Notes Regarding Thomas Fisher of Chester County, Pennsylvania

Concerning Some Possible Fisher Connections in Chester County

Thomas Fisher may have been related to John Fisher and wife Barbara, of Chichester Township. This John Fisher was a hatter who was in the area as early as 1685, when he was in a court case with John Calvert at Chester. In 1698, he served on a coronor's jury in Chester. The jury investigated the drowning of John Barnstill of Newcastle, who was blown overboard from a ferry going from Chester to Philadelphia. Other jurors were Phillip Roman, James Browne, William Clayton, Nathaniel(l) Lampleigh (Lamplugh), Robert Carter, John Kinsman, Thomas Varnon, James Hendrixson, William Hewes, John Hendrixs, and James Baylis. Most of these jurors were Quakers. At least one, Nathaniel Lampleigh came from Barbados. John Fisher died intestate in Chichester Township in 1701. His widow, Barbara Fisher, was named administrator of his estate on March 10, 1701. An abstract of the record is listed among Philadelphia administrations in "Book A," but the record cannot be found at Philadelphia city hall. John and Barbara Fisher, and a George Fisher of Chester, were the only Fishers in Chester County prior to Thomas. They lived in the jurisdiction of Concord Monthly Meeting, where Thomas was married, but were not mentioned in the Quaker records. Denis Fisher (a ship's carpenter from Portsmouth, England) and wife Susannah lived at Salem (across the river in New Jersey), could have been related to them. They may have been related to the Fishers of Sussex County in Delaware. In 1683, Susannah Fisher, wife of Denis, was a midwife at the birth of Robert Claypoole in Sussex County, where John and Margaret Fisher from Lancashire had settled. William Fisher (Esquire) of Sussex County, joint owner of land with Thomas Fisher (son of John and Margaret) was a "cousin to Henry Fisher," assumed to be Henry, a known son of Denis Fisher.

A corner of Upper Chichester Township lies only half a mile from the Concord boundary, and half a mile from "Fisher's Corner" in Aston. Chichester also includes Marcus Hook, where Peter Boss was living in 1700 when he sold land in Burlington (New Jersey) town bounds to William Fisher of Burlington. (Peter Boss Jr. witnessed the will of Elizabeth Huntley's uncle, James Standfield, in 1699. The Standfields were once associated with the "Christian Quaker" separation of George Keith which had involved a sensational heresy trial including Peter Boss Senior.) Elizabeth Huntley's father (William) and uncle (James Standfield) once had a partnership with Caleb Pusey of Upland. Francis Chads, another uncle of Elizabeth, lived at Chichester at that time.

Note: If John and Barbara Fisher were Quakers, they would have belonged to Chichester Monthly Meeting, which was originally set up to serve the early Quakers of Marcus Hook and Upland (as Chester Monthly Meeting). Later, Chichester became part of Concord Monthly Meeting, whose members alternated their meetings between the Chichester and Concord meeting houses. No meeting records mentioning John and Barbara have been found. Although "Barbara" was not a common name of the time, there are two records of Quaker women of that name.

Barbara Baguley, who married Henry Janney, was the mother-in-law of William Fisher Jr. of Philadelphia, who came with his father in 1684 from Ross, in Herfordshire. There is also a Quaker account of "The Travels, Sufferings and Persecutions of Barbara Blaugdone (1609?-1704)," in the Swarthmore Friends Library.

If John and Barbara were parents of Thomas Fisher, there is the question of why Thomas did not name any of his known children either John or Barbara. (Several children, names unknown, apparently did die in childhood.) The death of John Fisher, of Chichester, occurred at about the time our Thomas Fisher would have been ready to begin his Quaker schooling, at the customary age of 12. This interruption could be the reason Thomas missed his education and always signed with a mark (X).

100. Concerning ties between the Standfields and the Fishers of Sussex County, Delaware.

The Standfield (Stansfield) family seat in Halifax Parish, West Yorkshire, was only a few miles from Clitheroe in Lancashire, where the Fishers and Hindles lived before their emigration. The Standfields brought a crate of window glass when they came, which would have been needed by the glazier John Fisher. The Standfields had an active trading company, in which the Fishers of Sussex and Kent County had major dealings.

When James Standfield, son of Francis, died in 1699, a bond of 150 pounds (a very large amount for the time) was due from William and Thomas Fisher of Sussex County. The ship-building supplies and artisans mentioned in the John Fisher family tradition could have been associated with the two-masted ship, the brigantine "Betsy," owned by the trading company. James Standfield owned a large tract of land next to the Fishers in Sussex County, where a "carpenter's shipyard" was located.

When the Standfield estates and trading company were liquidated in 1699, one of the assets was a part interest in the house of Samuel Atkins, son-in-law to the immigrant John Fisher. This was probably the house and lot in Philadelphia which had been deeded to Samuel by John Fisher in 1683, possibly on the occasion of Samuel's marriage to Annie Fisher.

Samuel Atkins took James Standfield as an apprentice to learn the shipping trade, and bought land on or near the original Standfield estate in Marple. Samuel divided his time between Sussex County and Philadelphia, and arranged leases of whaling vessels for companies such as that of John McGiver. James Standfield and Samuel Atkins had houses and property near one another on the Philadelphia waterfront. Samuel's business sometimes took him on return trips to England. In 1699, Samuel Atkins sold his land in Marple to John Worrall, who was the Standfield's neighbor to the north, where the present-day "Worrall Estates" are located.

Samuel Atkins may have died at the same time as James Standfield, since no records of Samuel can be found after 1699. Both apparently succumbed to the yellow fever epidemic of 1699. In the James Standfield estate settlement, there is a payment to the "surgeon in Samuel Atkins' house." For further details concerning the Standfields, see "The Francis Standfield Family of Colonial Pennsylvania" by this author, and "Marple Township, the First 100 Years."

The possibility of our relationship to the Sussex County Fishers is based solely upon circumstantial indications. Firstly, the Standfield in-laws of our Thomas Fisher had many connections with the Sussex County Fishers. Secondly, the best Fisher namesake candidate for James, an older son of our ancestor Thomas Fisher, seems to be James Fisher of Sussex County. In the settlement of the 1699 will of Elizabeth (Huntley) Fisher's uncle, James Standfield, there is an expense for a 7-day trip "to Broadkilm (Sussex County) to meet the Fishers to settle with them."

101. John Fisher and Margaret Hindle

The first Fisher family to arrive in Pennsylvania came from Lancashire, in the north of England. In 1682, the Quaker John Fisher and his wife Margaret decided to move their family from Clitheroe or thereabout, to William Penn's new province of Pennsylvania. They came in order to escape religious persecution, which had been suffered by the Quakers (including Penn) since the movement was begun by George Fox in the mid-1600's. Although extensive study has not provided proof of our genealogical connection, there seems to be a relationship between our Pennsylvania ancestors and the Lancashire Fishers. The family of John and Margaret Fisher is of interest to us due to their association with the Standfield in-laws of our ancestors, discovered in the research for this book.

Curiously, the records of Clitheroe refer to this family as "Fish," and John's first land warrant in Pennsylvania was recorded as "Fish." Afterwards, the Pennsylvania records refer to him as "Fisher, formerly Fish," or just "Fisher." This may have been an anomaly in transcribing old records, or it could mean that the ancestors actually had the surname "Fish." See the following:

On 21 October 1680, John "Fish" of Clitheroe, Quaker, and Margaret his wife, Anne his daughter, and the widow Margaret Dugdale were among those arrested for tithes. John was fined as a second offender, and all were fined 5 shillings each. ("Early Staages of the Quaker Movement in Lancashire, B. Nightingale, London 1921.) The family had been previous members of St. Mary's, Church of England, in Clitheroe. Christenings of children of John and Margaret, recorded at St. Mary's were Michael (1 May 1664), Thomas (4 Nov 1666), John (13 Jun 1669), and James (18 Sep 1670).

From "A Collection of the Sufferings of the People Called Quakers", V. 1, Joseph Besse 1751, Pg 325:
A Copy of a Warrant for Distress on Isaac Ashton and others.
Burg, de Clitheroe in Com. Lancaster.

FORASMUCH as we have this Day received a Certificate under the Hands and Seals of Nicholas Townly and Thomas Braddyle Efqires, two of his Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the County Palatine of Lancaster. That whereas Isaac Ashton, of Clitheroe aforefaid, Distiller of Strong- Waters, stands convicted before them the said Justices, for that he, upon Sunday the 1 6th Day of October now last past, did take upon him to teach and preach in a Conventicle holden at the Houfe of George Hargreaves, in the Forest or Chase of Pendle and County aforesaid, Clothier, contrary to the late Act of Parliament intituled. An Act to prevent seditious Conventicles, for which he hath forfeited the Sum of 20L/. it being the first Offence of this Nature by him committed, for what appears before the said Justices, And whereas John Fish, of the same Town and County, Glazier, stands convicted before the said Justices for being present at the said Conventicle, whereby he hath forfeited the Sum of 10L/ it being the second Time of his Conviction for an Offence of this Nature. And whereas also John Spencer of the same Town and County, Labourer, stands convicted before the said Justices only 5s. it being the first Offence of that Nature that hath appeared before the said Justices. And therefore they do impose the several Fines abovementioned, viz. upon Isaac Ashton 20L/. upon John Fish 10s. and upon John Spencer 5s. according to the said Act of Parliament. These are therefore in his Majesty's Name to will and require you, and every of you, immediately upon Receipt hereof to demand of them the said Isaac Ashton, John Fish, and John Spencer, these several Sums imposed upon them : And if they or any of them shall refuse to pay the same, that then you levy the said several Sums by Distress and Sale of the Goods of him or them so refusing, returning the Overplus if any shall remain, and you are to give an Account of your Proceedings herein to us, whereof fail not at your Peril. Given under our Hands and Seal of the Borough this 21st Day of November, Anno Dom. 1681.

To the Constables of Clitheroe etc. William Appleton, Edward Robinson, Bailiffs of the said Borough.

The Fishers were among the original purchasers of proprietary land from William Penn. Part of the family came in 1682 or 1683, in the first wave of ships which brought Quakers to settle in and around the new city of Philadelphia. John Fisher was a glazier (and possibly ship-builder) from Clitheroe, Lancashire, England. Old land surveys show two of John Fisher's town lots in the city of Philadelphia. John served on a Philadelphia jury in 1683 (which unfortunately convicted Margaret Matson as a witch). He appears in the Quaker records of Philadelphia. But he had some sort of falling-out with the Philadelphia Quakers, and soon moved about a hundred miles southward, to his land grant in Sussex County which he had obtained from William Penn in 1682. The estates were called "Fisher's Island" (actually a marshy area on the mainland). The Fishers were located on the south side of the mouth of Broad Creek, on the Atlantic coast. The family later had additional holdings in Kent County.

Six children of John and Margaret Fisher are mentioned in John's will, probated at Georgetown, Sussex County, in 1685. All the children were born in England, and most were at or near adulthood when the family arrived. Three of them were baptized in St. Mary's Church in Clitheroe: Thomas (4 Nov 1666), John (13 Jun 1669), and James (18 Sep 1670). An older son Michael was also baptized there, but either stayed behind or died young (1 May 1664). None of the daughters appear in that register, which records the family name as "Fish." The family apparently became Quakers soon after the birth of James in 1670. John Fish & wife Margaret & daughter Anne were all fined in Clitheroe in 1680/81 for attending Quaker meetings and being absent from Church of England worship. ("Early Stages of the Quaker Movement in Lancashire, B. Nightingale, 1921" and Besse, "Sufferings of the People Called Quakers, V. 1" In 1681, John "Fish," a glazier, is identified as being a Quaker of Clitheroe.

John Fisher's will names eldest son Thomas and other sons John and James; daughters Rachell, Sarah, Allis (youngest) and Annie Adkins (wife of Samuel). The will also mentions Thomas Scott. Executors were son Thomas and wife Margaret. Witnesses were William Emmott, Richard Coore and Anna Dougdull. Thomas was probably close to age 30 when he married Margery Maud in 1692. He could have been previously married, but this has never been suggested. Known children of Thomas are Jabez, Joshua, James, Margaret, Elizabeth, Margery and Esther. John married Elizabeth --; their known children are John, James, William, and Ann. James had a wife Katherine and only daughter Sarah, with , no known sons. Of the immigrant daughters, we know that Ann (Annie) married Samuel Adkins, a glover of Philadelphia who became active in arranging ships for whalers. We know nothing of the other daughters, except that they "died young."

Margaret's brother John Hindle may have come over with the Fishers. Thomas Fisher, son of John and Margaret, mentions in his will of 1713 some land which had been left to him by his "Uncle John Hindle, son of Bryan Hindle of Clitheroe." The Hindle land may have been on the south side of the mouth of Mispillion Creek at Milford, since Hindle plats can be seen there in the nineteenth-century Beers Atlas of Delaware.

There are many references discussing John Fisher's immigration from Lancashire and some of his descendants, the most informative being "New World Immigrants," Edited by Michael Tepper, Volume 1, Baltimore, Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc. 1979 (reprints from early articles); "An Account of the Fisher and Logan Families," by William Logan Fisher, Wakefield 1839); "Genealogy of the Fisher Family, 1682 to 1896," by Anna Wharton Smith, Philadelphia (1896), and "Passengers and Ships Prior to 1684," by Walter Lee Sheppard, Genealogical Publishing Company, Baltimore (1970).

There is a question in the references as to whether John Fisher and family arrived on the same ship (the "Welcome") with William Penn, or if he was instead on one of the other ships that arrived the same year carrying religious dissenters of various sects. The passenger list for the "Welcome" in 1682 was lost, but a reconstructed list was compiled by Edward Armstrong in 1851 which included the Fishers. The reconstructed list can be found in "New World Immigrants." Both William Logan Fisher and Anna Wharton Smith say that John Fisher came with Penn. Marion Balderston ("New World Immigrants") argues that the ship would not have been large enough for the 97 passengers listed, and that Lancashire residents would have left from Liverpool and not from the Port of London as did the "Welcome." In any case, John Fisher's family were closely associated with William Penn and Penn's sons in the administration of the Pennsylvania Colony. John's son Thomas was a member of the Assembly at Newcastle in 1704, and was agent for the Proprietary in Sussex County.

Clitheroe is an ancient borough in Lancashire, England, situated on the end of Pendle Hill with an overlooking castle. The founder of the Quaker movement, George Fox, said that he was inspired with the idea which became Quakerism, while gazing upon Pendle Hill. Also, this was the site of notorious witch trials in the early 1600's. But by the time of John Fisher's departure from Clitheroe, the trials were long ended and the reason for leaving was the religious persecution of the Quakers. The witch trial era is well described in "Lancashire Witch Country, In and Around Pendle Hill" by W. R. Mitchell, Dalesman Publishing Co. Ltd. Clapham, Yorkshire (1974).

James and Katharine Fisher

James Fisher, a Quaker, was the third and youngest son of John Fisher and Margaret Hindle, who came to Philadelphia from Lancashire in 1682. This study of his history (apparently the first ever done) was compiled during the search for the father of our ancestor, Thomas Fisher of Chester County. It is included here even though the probability of Thomas being the son of James does not seem high (check for later editions of this book for possible clarification).

James Fisher (Fish in the records) was baptized in Clitheroe in north Lancashire, on 18 Sep 1670. (St. Mary's parish registers, LDS Film 93711). The Fishers immigrated in 1682/3 to Pennsylvania. The Fishers lived first in Philadelphia, then moved after a short time to Sussex County, near Lewes (now in Delaware). James was mentioned in the will of his father in 1685, and appears on the 1693 Sussex County tax list, along with his brothers Thomas and John Jr. Many years later, memoirs of Joshua Fisher (son of Thomas and grandson of the immigrant John Fisher) included only a statement that James "died young." By that time, James had been all but forgotten by that branch of the family. Even sister Annie's marriage to Samuel Adkins had been forgotten. James Fisher married Katherine -- , about 1690. The marriage would have been a Quaker ceremony in the home of one of the Sussex County Quakers, but unfortunately no Quaker records of that group have survived.

Due to the extreme remoteness of "Fisher's Island," there were few settlers in the area. The Lewes Quaker group, which met at Broadkill (Cool Spring), had limited interaction with other Pennsylvania meetings at the time. Thomas Fisher, son of the immigrant John, was a meeting overseer. The group was apparently not motivated to follow the strict discipline of record-keeping which was normally expected of Quakers. In 1712, Duck Creek meeting asked if the meeting at Lewes was settled by order of any quarterly meeting, and sent an inquiry to Thomas Fisher. It was determined that the Lewes meeting was not being kept up. Thomas and his brother-in-law Cornelius Wiltebank (husband of Jane Maud), proposed that the Lewes Quakers join Duck Creek. But another inquiry, in the following year, demanded a reason for discontinuance of the Lewes meetings. There are no surviving records of the Lewes (Motherkilm or Cold/Cool Spring) meeting prior to 1742.

James is mentioned several times in the court records of Sussex County, beginning in 1696 and ending in 1703.

In June of 1696, James Fisher was summoned to serve on a Petty Jury but was struck from the list, probably because one of the cases involved Elisabeth Wynne, stepmother of Thomas Fisher's wife Margery (Maud).

On August 27, 1697, the town of Lewes was plundered by French pirates, and a public subscription had to be mounted the following year to help in the "Relief and Assistance" of the townspeople. The Fishers would almost certainly have suffered losses to the pirates.

In the fall of 1698, James served on a Grand Jury at Lewes. In the same sessions he brought suit against William Orr, Administrator of John Jennins, deceased, in an attempt to gain payment for "L3:4s in Good merchantable Indian Corne Or Pork Due by note under the said John Jennins hand bearing date the 26th January 1697."

In 1699, James was co-purchaser, with Jacob Waring, of "A certain Plantation And Tract of Land and Marsh quantity One hundred Acres scituate, Lying and being On the South side of the Broad Creek in This County and West side of a Creek Called Cornelius Johnsons Creek According to Law and Contents of A deed of sale for the Same of date the 6th of February 1699."

Also in 1699, Thomas Fisher was foreman of a Grand Jury which appointed Thomas's brother James as an "Overseer of The Highways & bridges for the Town and Broad Kill Dividend."

In February of 1702, James recorded a deed from William Clark for 100 acres on Broad Creek, which must have been an addition to the 100 acres he had purchased three years earlier.

In September of 1702, James Fisher and land co-owner Jacob Waring filed an agreement that no advantage would be given to the heirs of the survivor if one of them died while they still owned the land. The land is described as "a Certain Tract or Tracts of Land & Marsh Scituate Lyeing and being in Part of the Neck in Sussex County, annexed to Pennsylvania, and Called The Point, Containing One hundred Acres of Land & Marsh, with the Plantation Thereto belonging by us, Jacob Warring and James Fisher, both of Sussex County AforeSd." The signature of James Fisher on this document attests to his literacy. James was undoubtedly already ill and died, intestate, a few months later.

We learn of James Fisher's death in a 1703 record, when he was not much over age 30, in an action whereby Thomas and John, brothers of James, describe the terms and disposition of their father's will. This record, on LDS microfilm 006625, is handwritten and is difficult to locate due to a lack of page numbers and poor quality of the documents. The record has been previously overlooked, except for abstracts which omit some important information. Since this is the nearest thing to a will which exists for James Fisher, a complete transcription is included here. The record identifies Sarah Fisher as the only daughter of James; James as youngest son of John; intestate passing of James; and widow's rights of Margaret Fisher and Catherine Fisher. No reference to (or denial of) any son of James Fisher is made.

Of the seven hundred acres due to James from his father's will, only 500 are assigned here to the daughter Sarah. Wife Catherine gets only the widow's rights in her lifetime. It is unclear what happened to the remaining 200 acres of the legacy. Sussex County deed H-8, Pgs 294-5 gives the history of James Fisher's land. It passed from Roger Gum, to John Fisher the immigrant, to his sons Thomas and John, to their brother James with 1/3 right to his wife Catharine, to Sarah daughter of James & Catharine, to William Spencer husband of Sarah Fisher, to William Pettyjohn, to William Russell, and to Marnix Virden in 1750.
